Poe Leaves State Prison

SALEM (UPI) — Dupree Poe, 61, convicted killer and one-time "bad boy" of the Oregon State Penitentiary, was released on parole last week, the State Parole and Probation Board confirmed today.

Poe was convicted of the 1931 slaying of City Marshal Hans Iversen during a robbery at Silverton. He entered the state prison in 1932.

Parole officials said Poe is now doing clerical work at a warehouse "somewhere in the Northwest."

"Poe has no family, and we had a problem finding a parole plan for him," the official said. During Poe's early years in prison he gained a reputation as a "bad boy" because he was constantly in trouble with officials. He once claimed to be a citizen of China and later demanded to be released because he could not attend a Jewish synagogue in prison.

Officials said he "calmed down" as he became older, and has been a model prisoner in recent years.

Woman Heads City's School

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UPI) — Dr. Marcella R. Kelly, of Holyoke, Mass., does not believe that the variable called sex has anything to do with progress of a woman in an educational career.

Dr. Kelly is the first woman superintendent of schools in the paper manufacturing city.

The newly appointed administrator of the Holyoke school system says ability, training and effort are the invariables which determine the success climb of man and woman—in education and other fields.

Miss Kelly has nearly 20 years of teaching, and another 15 of administrative experience supplementing her formal training.

The training includes a bachelor's at Fitchburg, Massachusetts State College, a master's from Columbia University, and a doctorate from Yale, plus study at Harvard, Brandeis and the Universities of Oslo and Rome.

Holyoke, a city of 56,000, is satisfied with its selection. The school committee also considered 40 male applicants.

OVERTIME GOLF

NEW YORK (UPI) — George Von Elm played in the longest "overtime" matches in the history of both the U.S. Open and U.S. Amateur golf championships — losing a 72-hole playoff for the 1931 Open and losing on the 10th extra hole in an early round of the 1930 Amateur.

Amusement Parks Ready New Cushion Car Ride

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Amusement park patrons will soon get a chance to literally ride the wind on a scaled-down version of tomorrow's automobile.

Tulsa promoters of the device, which floats on a cushion of air two or three inches off the ground say production will begin this fall.

The vehicle, dubbed the Scott-Air, consists of a bucket seat, a pair of handlebars and two two-cycle engines and fans which lift it off the ground and give it momentum.

"It will be a modern bumper car," says Al Conn, one of the promoters. "When it's installed in amusement parks it will have rubber bumpers and safety devices."

Conn says the craft operates on the same air-cushion principle that leading automobile manufacturers are predicting will be used in cars of the future.

"It will move along at seven miles per hour and will have to operate on a smooth, closed-in area," Conn explains.

He says 50 top amusement parks around the country, including Disneyland, have expressed interest in the device.

It has a fiberglass body, will carry one rider and sounds like a lawnmower, Conn says amusement park owners told him the

Fund Handling Wins Approval

PORTLAND (UPI) — Oregon employee welfare and pension administrators have been generally honest in their handling of welfare funds, a U.S. Department of Labor official said Monday.

Vincent J. Colan, an assistant chief of the division of technical assistance to welfare and pension plans, said the last Labor Department investigation revealed no cases of mishandling of funds in the state.

Colan was here with two other officials to advise some 300 Oregon administrators in reporting and bonding requirements of the Welfare and Pension Disclosure act, as amended last year.

He said the act is designed to put welfare administrators "into a goldfish bowl" to prevent abuses.

Employee welfare and pension plan assets in Oregon total about $60 million, Colan said, compared to $3 billion in New York and about half that figure in California.

Named To Post

SALEM (UPI) — Oregon Supreme Court Chief Justice William McAllister has been named vice president of the National Council of State Chief Justices.

The post places McAllister in line for the presidency next year. He was elected at last week's American Bar convention.

School Lunches

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department intends to purchase some surplus turkeys for use in the national school lunch program.

The department said Friday the ready-to-cook turkeys will be served in the hot lunch program to about 17.5 million children.
