

Babe Ruth All-Stars Whip Joplin 3-1; Face Tulsa Tonight

By JERRY WAGGONER
Herald and News Sports Editor

FARMINGTON, N.M. — "Bul-let" Bob Moore combined a brilliant three-hit pitching performance with a two-run double by the team's youngest player, Greg Brosthouse, to lead the Klamath Basin Babe Ruth All-Stars to a 3-1 win in the opening round over Missouri's team from Joplin here Tuesday afternoon.

The Oregon team will meet Tulsa, Okla., tonight at 6 o'clock. Tulsa is one of the repeating teams from last year's tournament and is figured as one of the better teams.

Oregon's opening win was an impressive one over the Missouri team. Moore went the distance and did a fine job in allowing only three hits, one run which was unearned and struck out nine in the process.

The one big hit of the game came off the bat of Greg Brosthouse. His double was the telling blow as the Klamath crew managed only four hits off Joplin's Stan Hunter and relief hurler Ron Novanty. Novanty gave the Klamath nine only one hit in his four innings of relief work.

There wasn't anything spectacular about the way the Oregonians won the game. It was a methodical victory and the boys were quietly confident from the beginning.

Moore got the side out in order in the first but the Nationals went down in order in their half also. Moore struck the side out in the second inning with an infield single by Ralph Rodgers sandwiched in between.

The Klamath team then went to work to get all their three runs in the bottom half of the frame. Dave Lyman, shortstop, laid into the first Hunter pitch and lashed it over the shortstop's head for a single. Catcher Bob Williams, his uniform already soaked in the humid heat of New Mexico, bloomed a Texas League single to right and Lyman held at second. Alan Mezger went down on strikes. But then came Greg Brosthouse's hit. He drove a 1-1 pitch between center and left field on the line to the wall. Lyman and Williams were off at the crack of the bat and raced home. Brosthouse pulled up at third after the right fielder made a bad relay throw from the fence.

Big Kim Badley was at bat next and he laid down a perfect squeeze bunt on the first pitch and Brosthouse was crossing the plate before Joplin could make a play on the ball. It rolled down on the line about six feet from the plate. Joplin catcher Steve Cox got the slow-moving Badley at first, but his hunt scored the third run.

Moore got the side out in order again in the third and the Oregon group threatened in the third until some unaltered base running stopped the threat. Mike McNary led off with a walk and Moore sacrificed him to second with a bunt. The third baseman threw the ball away on the play and Moore was safe. Novanty came on in relief at this point and got Lyman on a pop up and Williams hit into a double play. The play was to Kermit Lebbner and he threw to first. McNary tried to score after the throw to first and was out a mile.

Joplin got its lone run in the fourth. Moore was beginning to tire a little in the humid weather. He whiffed leadoff man Hunter and then walked second sacker Larry Trimble. Ralph Rodgers then lined the first pitch by Moore off the left-center wall. Only a great carom play by centerfielder Alan Mezger saved a run. Rodgers held at second and Trimble at third. Moore walked Hunter to load the bases and Cox's grounder scored Trimble. Lebbner tried to lay down a squeeze bunt but Moore was off the mound quickly to field the ball. He tossed gently to Williams then threw to first to complete the double killing and the Missouri threat.

Moore had them in his hip pocket for the remainder of the game. He walked leadoff man Hunter in the seventh and let him steal second. But he died there as Moore struck out the next batter and got two pinchhitters to ground out for the final outs of the game.

Williams scared the Missouri bunch from much base thievery in the first inning. Second batter Gary Cook reached first on a hit to right and tried to steal. He had a very good jump on Moore's windup and looked like the base was stolen until Williams rifled the ball to Rick Brosthouse covering to nail the runner dead to rights.

Farmington pulled a mild upset in downing the Germany team in the first game Monday night and Atlanta topped the Illinois team in the second game with a big rally, 10-3.

Fine Hospitality Overwhelms Fans

By JERRY WAGGONER

FARMINGTON, N.M. — Hospitality is an 11 letter word in this little community of 24,000 which stretches the word hospitality to its full length and then some when it comes to doing things up in a big red ribbon.

And for any city, town or metropolitan area which is planning on throwing an affair like this, we suggest that they come and take a few notes from this 12th Annual Babe Ruth World Series Tournament on how it should be done.

We've been here less than 24 hours at the time of this writing and hospitality is all we've heard and seen. Klamath Falls has several fans here following its ball club and they have nothing but raves about the way they've been treated.

Coach Bob Moore, Harold Howard and the Oregon team have been raving about the hospitality, the service and the totally unselfish manner in which the town has turned out to make this tournament a complete success. Babe Ruth officials from the national offices already are talking about this tournament being perhaps the first to finish financially in the black.

Coach Moore can't say enough about it. "This is the most fantastic reception we've ever received or even thought about. All the big affairs Sunday were something," he exclaimed.

But the kids aren't the only ones receiving the hospitality. Three Klamath families drove down to watch the tournament and camped out all the way. They planned the same when they got here.

Coach Al Keck, Klamath Union High School basketball mentor who has a son on the team, told us of his fortune and also the fortune of the Duke Badley and Bob Mezger families. Keck said, "We came in and went to the parks department to find out about setting up our tents in the city parks here when this man walks in, hears our plight and promptly invites us to set up housekeeping in his backyard."

The man who did this was Ken Reeves. His daughter is the Pacific Northwest Champions' princess in the queen contest. So the Kecks, Badleys and the Mezgers now are making their home away from home in the Reeves' back yard. "Rogue's Village," Keck and Duke Badley call it.

Not only these things, but people of Farmington as well as the automobile dealers in town lend their cars to those needing transportation.

This is an oil and gas community with those products their main source of income. This was a town of 3,500 in 1950. That oil and gas brought in a great number of people to make it a boom town, it grew so rapidly. But that oil and gas can't do all of the beckoning. This hospitality certainly must have had something to do with it. And if this tournament is any measuring stick, Farmington had better get ready for another population explosion.

Longer Hunt Season, Bigger Bag Limits Set

By JERRY WAGGONER

PORTLAND (UPI) — The State Game Commission gave waterfowl and upland game bird hunters a present Tuesday in the form of longer seasons and larger bag limits.

The commission announced the regulations after a public hearing. The season on ducks and geese will run for 90 days, opening at noon Oct. 8 and closing Jan. 5. The season was set within the limits established earlier by the Department of Interior and is 15 days longer than last year's.

Bag limits will be four ducks daily and eight in possession. Not more than two may be wood ducks and not more than one a hooded merganser. There will be no open season on redheads or canvasbacks.

More Mallards Allowed
As in 1962, two more mallards will be allowed in the daily limit and four more in possession in Baker, Malheur, Wallowa, Umatilla, Union, Gilliam, Sherman, Morrow and Wasco counties.

The bag limit on geese will be three daily and six in possession. It may be increased to six daily if three or more are snow geese. One Ross's goose will be allowed in the bag limit this year.

Black brant season will be Nov. 18-Jan. 31 with a bag limit of three daily and three in possession. The season on American and red-breasted merganser will be

Oct. 8-Jan. 25, with a bag limit of five daily and 10 in possession. Coot can be taken from Oct. 8 to Jan. 25 with a bag limit of 25.

For upland game birds, the season on cock pheasants and valley and mountain quail starts Oct. 12 and ends Nov. 24 except in Malheur County. The pheasant limit is three daily and 12 in possession. Limit on quail is 10 daily and 20 in possession. There will be no open season on bobwhite quail this year.

An extended mountain quail season also was set in Eastern Oregon, where the bird population has increased. It will run from Nov. 25 through Dec. 31 with the same bag limit.

In Malheur County, seasons will run from Oct. 26 through Nov. 24 with a pheasant bag limit of four daily and eight in possession. The quail limit will be the same as in other areas.

Pels Slate Gear Issue

Bob Williams, KURS football mentor, reports that physical exams for freshmen, javave and varsity football players will be given on Friday at 6 p.m. Football gear will be issued to football players on Thursday at 6 p.m., Williams said.

The Pelicans are slated to open their season on Friday, Sept. 13, in a home-stand exhibition clash with the Grants Pass Cavemen. The game does not count in the league standings and was necessary to round out the Pel schedule after they were unable to schedule an opener with outside opposition.

Weston Wins Medal Honor

PORTLAND (UPI) — C. Harold Weston of Portland shot a 75 Tuesday for a 143 total to capture medalist honors in the two-day qualifying round of the Oregon Junior-Seniors Golf Association tournament.

Weston's one-under-par total was seven strokes ahead of the second place finishers in the 36-hole qualifying test. Sid Milligan and Eugene and Jay Bloch of Lake Oswego had 150s.

John McBurney of Eugene took fourth spot with 151 and Bill Langley of Portland, George Beecher of Prineville and Walt Clive Jr. of Salem tied for fifth with 152s.

Tri-City came up with a run in the eighth to nick Eugene. A single, a passed ball and another single by Jack Hiatt drove in the marker.

Roseburg Wins Final Series Spot

ROSEBURG (UPI) — Roseburg will go to the American League junior baseball world series at Keene, N. H., Aug. 25-31.

The Oregon team gained the trip by scoring a 4-1 victory over Billings, Mont., in the finals of the region seven tournament here Tuesday night.

Dick Williams fired a three-hitter to give Roseburg the championship in the six-day, double-elimination playoffs.

The host club posted a 4-1 record, beating Billings in two of three tries.

Williams, who struck out 14 and walked seven in the nine-inning game, was named the tourney's outstanding player.

Losing pitcher was Gary Coatsworth, who allowed eight hits. He also struck out 14.

Roseburg scored two runs in the first inning and tallied once each in the second and seventh frames. The losers' run came in the final inning.

Jim Beamer had three hits in four trips and Bob Manning had two saeties in four at bats for Roseburg. Each drove in a run. Manning was the top hitter in the tournament with 12 hits in 23 trips.

Roger Brautigan had two of Billings' three hits.
Shortstop Dale Scilley of the Montana team was given the tourney's sportsmanship award.

Title Talks Off Again

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A proposed 1964 title bout between Cassius Marcellus Clay of Louisville and heavyweight champion Sonny Liston was off today, following an announcement that negotiations between the two camps had "fallen apart."

Distillery executive William Faversham, a member of the Louisville businessmen's syndicate which manages Clay, said Tuesday night the group found Liston's terms for a 1964 bout "unacceptable."

At Philadelphia, Bill Cherry, attorney for Inter-Continental Sports, which had hoped to stage a Clay-Liston fight there, said, "We offered Clay the best deal any challenger ever received — 2½ per cent of everything."

He said that Liston and Jack Nolen, one of his advisers, will be in Sweden later this week attempting to interest Ingemar Johansson in a title fight.

Salem and Yakima continued in lockstep for the Northwest League lead Tuesday night this time both by losing.

Wenatchee clipped Salem 6-1 and Lewiston won over Yakima 10-7. Tri-City took Eugene 5-4 in the other game.

Bill Ballou got the job done for Wenatchee with a solid seven-hitter. Wenatchee won it in the sixth when Phil Borders hit a solo homer and two more runs of the unearned variety crossed.

Vic Pagel, Salem centerfielder, hit in his 17th consecutive game. Lewiston pushed over three in the seventh to top Yakima. Ted Kubiak drove in one of the markers with a single and Gordon MacKenzie plated the other two with a double. Tippy Johnson of the losers hit a grand-slam homer in the fifth.

Tri-City came up with a run in the eighth to nick Eugene. A single, a passed ball and another single by Jack Hiatt drove in the marker.

Whatta mess!
That's the only way to describe the entire American League situation.

A lopsided race is one thing, but who ever heard of the pitchers still being ahead of the hitters in late August?

It's different in spring training where the hitters can claim they're rusty from the long winter lay-off, but what excuse can they offer now after having five months to sharpen their batting eyes?

Oh well, maybe things will all even up by Thanksgiving Day. Tuesday night, however, it was strictly one-sided and the pitchers had a ball.

Moe Drabowsky of Kansas City, for example, beat Washington, 9-0, on a one-hitter in the first game of a two-night doubleheader and the A's also took the 14-inning nightcap, 7-5.

Southpaw Hank Aguirre hurled a two-hitter for Detroit in a 6-0 victory over Minnesota, while another left-hander, Juan Pizarro of the White Sox, retired 24 batters in order en route to a 10-2 triumph over the Red Sox.

Veteran Dick Donovan came up with some brilliant clutch pitching also in leading the Indians to a 2-1 win over the Yankees. Even with the loss the Yankees still lead the league by 9½ games.

The Baltimore-Los Angeles game was postponed because of rain with the Orioles ahead, 4-1, after four innings.

The Dodgers increased their lead to 6½ games in the National League with a 7-5 victory over the Cardinals while the Braves defeated the Giants, 6-1. The Reds shaded the Cubs, 5-3, and the Mets beat the Phillies, 4-0, but lost the 12-inning nightcap, 2-1.

Don Blasingame's bunt single in the fourth inning was the only hit given up by Drabowsky as he coasted to his fifth victory behind a 15-hit Kansas City attack. Jerry Lumpe gave the A's a sweep when he homered with one on off reliever Don Rudolph in the 14th inning of the nightcap.

Aguirre yielded a leadoff single to Lennie Green of the Twins in the first inning and didn't allow another hit until Harmon Killebrew singled in the seventh.

Pizarro's effort was similar to Aguirre's although the Red Sox nicked him for five hits. Felix Mantilla got Boston's first hit in the opening frame after which Pizarro retired 24 batters in order before the Red Sox put together four more singles for both their runs in the ninth. Pizarro drove in three runs with as many hits.
