

A MOTHER'S JOY — Mrs. George Brostherous is shown as she leaned over the railing to give son, Rick, a happy kiss after the Klamath Basin Babe Ruth All-Stars had turned back Joplin, Mo., in their opening game of the World Series playoff at Farmington, N.M. Both Rick and brother Gregg played in all the games at Farmington. Gregg took the mound for the second time this season in the final game for Klamath when they lost to Oakland on Thursday. Coming in on relief of Bob Moore, Gregg did a highly creditable job on the mound.

Basin All Stars Defeated By Oakland; Carry Babe Ruth Banner Long Distance

FARMINGTON, N. M. — The Klamath Falls Babe Ruth team's dreams of winning the Babe Ruth World Series tournament came crumbling down around the broad shoulders of 14-year-old Bob Moore here Thursday evening when he lost his control and the Klamath team was eliminated from the tournament by a rugged Oakland, Calif., nine, 10-2.

Coach Bob Moore said at the time that he did not know when the team would leave on its long journey back. "We don't know for sure. We would like for the kids to see all of this wonderful country while they have the chance, so we won't hurry back."

Moore and the team were naturally disappointed in the loss which eliminated them from any further chance of glory. "But we are real proud of the kids. Oregon can be proud of them. They played the best they knew how and they didn't quit. We had a few tough breaks and the breaks can make you or break you when you are in with such great teams as these. We certainly are proud of them and they did a good job. The best ever by a Klamath team in any tournament of this magnitude. They didn't quit," he related.

This was the second loss for Klamath. The Oregonians won the opening game by downing Joplin, Mo., 3-1 and then lost to Tulsa's hard hitting crew 9-2. The game Thursday was just a case of lost control and of a youngster trying too hard to hold his team up from defeat. Bobby Moore just struck a streak of wildness and that was that.

Moore had the Oakland crew eating out of his hand until his control suddenly vanished like one of the New Mexico breezes which come and go like ghosts. "Bullet" Bob allowed the first man to face him to hit a ground ball which was erroring on by third sacker Mike McNary. He struck the next two batters and Bob Williams, throw to third caught fleet Alvin Strane trying to steal third after he had already swiped second.

Moore whiffed the first two to face him in the second, gave up two walks and then got a ground out which forced the runner at third. He struck out the first man to face him in the third and then began the walking ceremonies.

Alvin Strane drew a walk and stole second again, his second of three steals. Moore whiffed Alvin's twin brother Albert and then walked four successive men to force in the first run. He then changed positions with Greg Brostherous at first, Greg, incidentally, was the youngest player in the tournament.

The first batter against Brostherous got an infield single. Alan Mezger made the stop and threw to second too late to get the runner there. Rick Brostherous fired the ball to third in an attempt got three runs in the sixth on a walk and five singles. The other three runs came in the seventh on four hits. The Klamath team had runners on base in every inning but just couldn't come up with the big hit to drive them home. They left 10 stranded.

Little Kenny Pound, the smallest player on the field in this game, gave the Oregonians something to shout about in the sixth. The 135 pounder laced into one of winning pitcher Tom Brown's pitches and sent it soaring far and high into left field and California's Steve Brye made one of the most spectacular outfield catches of the tournament by grabbing it with his back to the plate and on the run just before crashing into the left field fence. He was at the foot of the 320-foot sign.

Moore and Lyman each had a pair of hits and Moore's double was the only extra base hit of the game. He drove another one to deep center which was caught. So the cry went out, wait until next year. Six of these boys will be returning to action next season and hope to go to the next World Series.

ONLY IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Naturally, it would happen in Texas. A sign which its backers claim is the largest of its kind ever built in the United States has been put up in front of Dallas' Market Hall.

The double-face sign is 50-feet high, 81-feet long, uses more than 3,000 50-watt high-intensity light bulbs, and 24 miles of wire to flash as many as 10 different messages on either side. Market Hall is one of the nation's largest exhibition and convention halls with 213,400 square feet of space.

LINGUAL SIGNALS

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — When catcher Ron Wasinger of the Russell American Legion baseball team realized that players on the Wichita National Guard team were stealing his signals in a recent game, he used the language barrier to solve the problem.

"Achtung!" he called to his battery mate, pitcher Kenny Dinkel. Thereafter, the catcher and pitcher kept their signals private by shouting them to each other, in German.

Medo-Bels Eye Sweep In Nor-Cal Playoffs

"They're all set to go" is the way Manager "Hi" Hatfield described the Klamath Falls Medo-Bel squad as they polished off practice for defense of the President's Cup Sunday at 2 p.m. at Gem Stadium.

The Medo-Bels won the cup last year after losing the season play. This year they captured the season championship after opening slow and then settling into action that brought them the crown, and are hoping for a clean sweep. While Hatfield would not signal out any individual player for praise, he did note that Tony Sellari, the catcher, is playing his last game with the Medo-Bels on Sunday.

Sellari has a scholarship to play football at the University of Oklahoma, and will leave next week for pre-season activity with the Oklahoma squad.

Sellari joined the Medo-Bels after several games had gone by and filled the catcher's spot vacated by Dave Saks very well.

"We'll miss him," Hatfield commented, indicating that he hoped the Medo-Bels would polish off Scott Valley Sunday and make the job of defending the cup they won last year a little easier.

Hatfield again appealed for local fans to support the Medo-Bels, pointing out that it is composed of star baseball athletes of this area. The tentative starting lineup will feature Blake Griggs on the mound with Bill Mansfield ready for mound relief duty. Sellari will be behind the plate. The infield will feature Dean Dunson at first, Jim Keller, second; Ron Owing, third; Sherm Allen at short. In the outfield, Don Gredsel will patrol left field, John Bianchi in center and Ray Taylor in right.

Scott Valley finished the season in third place in the league, behind Weed. The other half of the

Three Hold 3-Shot Lead In Tourney

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Julius Boros, the 43-year-old U.S. Open champion who usually plays the tough courses the best, shared the first round lead in the $35,000 American Golf Classic today with two dark horses—Johnny Pott and Miller Barber.

They cut the long, exacting Firestone Country Club down to size Thursday when they shot three-under-par 67s, which was good enough to give them a three-shot lead over two pre-tourney favorites, defending champion Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

Between the three leaders and Palmer and Nicklaus came six others — Jay Hebert, Bruce Crampton, Dave Hill, Gay Brewer, Al Geiberger and Dave Marr. They all broke Firestone's 35-39—70 par with 69s.

At even par 70 along with Palmer and Nicklaus were former U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol, big George Bayer, Ted Kroll and Rex Baxter.

Boros' brilliant round, in which he had to overcome bad driving with superb putting, came as no surprise. For he is having the best year of his long career, with two tournament victories and a total of $70,956 in official prize money — behind only Palmer and Nicklaus.

But neither the 27-year-old Pott nor the 31-year-old Barber was given much of a chance over the back-breaking 7,163-yard Firestone course. However, they played the first round as though they owned the layout.

Both carded five birdies and two bogeys. The steady Boros had four birdies against a single bogey although he hit erring drives on seven holes, five times hitting the rough and twice winding up in the bunkers.
