36 Calves And Lambs Judged In Malin Event

MALIN—The Little International Livestock Show held Aug. 17 in Malin drew 24 calves from the Malin Beef Club and 12 lambs from the Malin Woolies. The affair was sponsored by the chamber of commerce.

Tom Harris, herdsman for the Lost River Ranch, served as the beef showmanship judge. Winners in the advanced class were Tom Tofell, first; Jill Johnson, second; and Riley Wilson, third. First in the beginners class went to Scott Conroy, with Kelly Wilson, second, and Steven Paygr, third.

Irene Tice of Klamath Falls acted as the showmanship judge in the lamb division. In the advanced class, Patty Walker received first; Jeanne Stastny, second; and Linda Stastny, third.

Philip McCulley took first in the beginners class, with Mike McCulley, second, and Margaret Ann Blohm, third. The Malin Chamber of Commerce presented cash prizes of $5, first; $3, second; and $2, third, to the top three advanced and beginner showmen in both the beef and lamb divisions. First place trophies in each beef and lamb class were donated by Ed and Nona Greene. The prizes and trophies were awarded by Cy McCulley, chamber president.

Opponents Think Alike

By OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When Rattlesnake Pete, the world's greatest rattlesnake hunter,

was asked his formula for success, he replied, "I just try to think like a rattlesnake."

Some declarers are just as dangerous as rattlesnakes when they start to operate the dummy, and an alert defender should learn to think like a declarer if he wants to handle defense successfully.

Now take a look at the West and North hands only. West opens the four of hearts against the three no trump contract. East produces the queen and South

gathers in the trick with the ace.

Then he leads the deuce of diamonds

and if West hasn't learned to think like a declarer, it will be all over. West will duck. Dummy's king will hold the trick and then South will gallop home with five clubs and two spades.

If West has learned to think

like a declarer he will realize that the play has been rather unusual. He will ask himself if South would have adopted that line of play if he had started with ace-jack-small of hearts. He will answer the question in the negative. Then he will ask himself what South would have done

if he held the ace of spades, the ace-jack doubleton of hearts, and the ace-queen of clubs.

It won't take him long to find the answer which is that he would have tried the same play that

South had made.

At this point rattlesnake West

will rise with the ace of diamonds

and lead the king of hearts.

South's jack will fall and West

will take three more heart tricks.

Safety Program At Altamont Given National Recognition

Altamont Junior High School's traffic safety program has been selected as one of the most effective in the nation.

The Fifth Annual National Student Traffic Safety Conference, which opened Sunday at Oklahoma State University, notified Altamont Principal Harvey Denham that his school was judged as having one of the best programs in the country.

The school will receive a certificate from the conference and

Staff Ready To Aid KU Newcomers

Students who will be entering Klamath Union High School for the first time this year were urged to report to the high school building prior to the opening of school Sept. 4.

Members of the counseling staff will be available each afternoon to assist transfer students in working out class schedules.

These students do not include those who attended junior high schools in Klamath Falls last year.

Freshmen and transfer students will attend the orientation program scheduled for Friday, Aug. 30, at 1 p.m. Buses will run on that day. A complete bus schedule will be announced later this week.

Honor Slated For Roundup

The Klamath Basin Roundup will be accorded signal recognition Friday, Aug. 30, at the California State Fair in Sacramento. Don Kirkpatrick, president of the Rodeo Committee, announced today that Harrison Cutler, chief in charge of the rodeo section at the California State Fair and Exposition, had notified him of the plan to honor the Klamath Basin Roundup that evening.

Cutler extended an invitation to members of the roundup committee to attend that special evening show.

Kirkpatrick indicated that most of the committee will probably attend. He said that those attending would probably include Dave Snow, Keith Rice, Hank Ring, Tom McGaughey, Roscoe Lilly, Charlie Read and Darlene Blackman. Kirkpatrick also plans to attend.

who teaches shop at the school. It consists of educating Altamont students about proper traffic techniques for walking and bicycle riding, through lectures, posters and other devices.

The National Student Traffic Safety Conference invited Altamont to send a delegation to the meeting, but no funds were available for the trip.

The conference is sponsored by the National Student Safety Association and the National Education Association.

Each April, participating schools, including Altamont, report their year's activities. These reports are evaluated by a committee of state educators and upon their recommendations, certificates and plaques are awarded schools with outstanding programs.

Nurses Honor National President

Catherine Garrity, Worcester, Mass., national president of the Licensed Practical Nurses Association, was honored here recently along with past presidents of the local association at a picnic meeting at Veterans Memorial Park.

A brief history of the group, which in a few years has grown to an important place in the hospitals of America, was given. The association was organized here in 1949 with Mrs. Gladys Samples as first president. There were six registered members. By the end of the first year, 12 women were included.

Through the efforts of doctors and registered nurses, a practical nursing class was organized at Oregon Technical Institute. Twenty four women signed for the first class. By 1954 the first capping ceremony was held at the First Methodist Church. Mrs. Dorothy Brown was then president for 45 active members.

There have been nine presidents scheduled for Sept. 17, 18, 19 in Medford.

It was announced that the 14th annual convention of the National Federation of LPNs will be held in Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26-Nov. 1. Convention theme is "Leadership—A Dimension in Practical Nursing."

seeking new gas reserves for your future comfort

These geologists at left, examining terrain near Shiprock in northern New Mexico, are part of a team of modern explorers searching for new gas reserves. They travel by jeep, helicopter and afoot in this continuing program to seek out new supplies for your future comfort. Natural gas, formed millions of years ago, is a resource which will serve the West far into the future. Each year new reserves are found, keeping well ahead of the growing demand for America's most modern fuel. Heating, cooking, water heating—and scores of payroll-building commercial and industrial uses—are among the benefits brought to the West today by natural gas. If you're now enjoying the benefits of natural gas it's partly because of the team of highly trained people who bring it to you. If you're not a user of natural gas, it is easy to become one.*
