LAKEVIEW—With livestock to be included in the open class exhibits this year, the Lake County Fair is expected to be bigger and better than ever, says Dr. Vic Hill, president of the Lake County Fair Association.

For the first time in a number of years, there will be divisions for horses, beef and dairy cattle, and sheep and hogs, as well as for poultry and rabbits.

Lake Roundup Attracts Top Cowboys And Stock

LAKEVIEW—The combination of top cowboys and top rodeo stock will insure a fast moving, action-packed rodeo in Lakeview over the Labor Day weekend.

A veteran rodeo announcer, L. E. "Chub" Bronson of Mineral, Calif., will be behind the mike at the 1963 Lake County Roundup. Bronson has been announcing rodeos and equestrian events throughout California, Oregon and Nevada since 1956. This year will mark his third appearance in Lakeview.

To furnish top competition for the record entry of Western rodeo cowboys, the Lake County Roundup Association has contracted the Dick Hemsted rodeo stock from Anderson, Calif. Riders will include the all-around champion of the Northwest Rodeo Association, Oregon's Buzz Seely, and the Northern California all-around champion, Kenny Holloway, formerly of Cottonwood, Calif., and now a Klamath Falls resident.

In addition to the purses offered by the Roundup Association and the special cash award offered by Hemsted, there are a number of prizes offered by Lakeview merchants for winners in the various rodeo events.

In bronc riding, a belt buckle will be presented by Thornton's Rexall Drugs for the winner of average money. The Lakeview Building Material Company offers a belt buckle for the highest two-day average in bareback riding. The champion bull rider will receive a buckle donated by the Lakeview Branch, First National Bank of Oregon, and the champion bulldogging buckle is offered by the Lakeview Bowl.

The champion calf roping will receive a silver belt buckle donated by Anthony and Flynn Insurance, and the buckles for the team roping are donated by Van's Cafe and Amos Jewelry. A trophy is also donated by the First National Bank to the winner in the NCHA open cutting horse contest.

A belt buckle will go to the boys' calf riding winner from Fetich's Men's Wear, and the winner of the best two-day average in the girls' barrel race will get a buckle from Ogle's Indian Village. Moty and Van Dyke donate the buckle for the Lake County girls' barrel race.

Calm Program Belies Frantic Start

SALEM (UPI)—Gov. Mark Hatfield and newsmen Charles Collingwood will appear calm and relaxed at 10:30 p.m. Friday when "Portrait" is broadcast over CBS-TV.

Their apparent calm belies the electric air of frantic activity which surrounded the taping of the program at Hatfield's home here Monday.

Scores of cameramen, directors, producers, technicians, and truckloads of equipment converged on the northwest corner of High and Kearney streets early Monday.

Lights were installed, furniture moved, cameras placed, microphones set up.

Crowd Gathers

The Hatfields, who were away for the weekend, met Collingwood in Portland in the morning. They arrived in Salem shortly before noon. Streets were blocked off while pictures were taken of their house. Crowds of onlookers gathered.

Mrs. Hatfield had left instructions to prepare lunch for 14. She ordered a quick change, and 40 were fed.

After lunch the taping of the interview began.

A sound recorder went out, and they had to start over. Then a grass fire threatened a nearby television relay, and fire trucks roared past the house while Hatfield chatted unconcernedly inside.

Wife Watches in Truck

Mrs. Hatfield, still wearing an apron from lunch, sat in one of the television trucks and watched the program on a monitor.

The Hatfield living room became oven-like from the heat of television lights.

When it was over, a director commented on Hatfield's relaxed air.

"I don't feel relaxed," the governor smiled as he wiped perspiration from his brow.

A director, after reviewing the taped interview, commented, "that's the best interview we've ever done. The governor is charming, and he's so articulate."

Folder Offered On Backpacking

"Family Backpacking in the National Forest Wilderness," a brochure published and circulated by the U.S. Forest Service, is available free to the public at the headquarters of the Winema National Forest, 4th Main Street, Alex Smith, supervisor of the Winema Forest, said.

The 32-page publication was prepared to aid inexperienced backpackers in planning vacations into wilderness areas. It describes equipment needed and procedures families should follow to insure successful backpacking trips into the wilds.

The supply will be available while it lasts.

Evangelist Urges New Youth Fad

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Evangelist Billy Graham Monday night called on the youth of Southern California to start a "new fad" of religious devotion.

"This could bring about a youth revolution which is needed desperately in our country," Graham told 42,000 persons attending the 10th meeting of his current crusade, which ends Sept. 8.

"As a group of young revolutionaries, you could turn your world upside down," he said. "You could play a part in the history of our times."

Noting an increase in teen-age crime, Graham said there were "thousands of 16-year-old failures in American life" whose problems were "basically spiritual."

"If ever the church needed to make the Gospel relevant to the teen-ager, it is today," he said. "These young people are looking for something to believe in, something to which they can commit themselves."

Airplane Crash Kills Brothers

PUYALLUP, Wash. (UPI)—Two brothers were killed when their light plane crashed into trees at the south end of the runway at Thurn Field early today.

They were Al and Wayne Wiles, both of Puyallup, Al, 35, was piloting the Stinson four-placer when it crashed.

Pierce County sheriff's deputies said the plane either hit a fog bank and then went into the trees or the plane's motor stalled as the craft went into a turn.

Sen. Engle Serious In Hospital

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., was reported in serious condition today with a brain ailment. He underwent an apparently successful operation for the condition last weekend, an aide said.

The 53-year-old senator's administrative assistant, Charles E. Bosley, said Engle's condition "must necessarily be considered serious" because of the delicacy of the operation. But Bosley said Engle appeared to be making a good recovery.

Bosley said physicians reported Engle was suffering from a "congenital condition" of the brain, indicating he was born with it. Engle entered Doctors Hospital here Thursday for extensive tests following some preliminary tests after experiencing some pain during a recent visit to California, Bosley said.

The condition was said to have had some effect on blood circulation in Engle's right arm and leg, Bosley said.

Surgery was performed Saturday to remove "a small amount of tissue" from the brain, Bosley said. "The operation was to all appearances successful."
