Van Holds Radar Guide For Safety

In a darkened van parked near a runway at Kingsley Field, the weather-piercing eye of radar scans the sky ready to guide civilian or military aircraft to a safe landing during inclement weather.

Technicians manning the ground-controlled approach (GCA) facilities are in constant contact with the pilot of an airplane above Kingsley Field. During every tense second of the approach and until each plane is safely on the ground, the flight is under the positive control of the GCA technicians.

The GCA specialist literally "talks" the pilot down. He informs the pilot whether he is left or right of an imaginary line extended from the center of the runway, and whether he is above or below the glide path, which refers to the proper rate of descent for the aircraft to make a safe landing.

On the air around the clock and every day of the year, the GCA unit is always busy. Because of the intense concentration required, operators are permitted to work only six hours before being relieved.

Thousands of words of praise have been received by GCA operators during the 20 years the system has been in use. But the ones which mean the most to the GCA personnel are heard every day when a pilot indicates he has landed his aircraft successfully by saying: "Good run, GCA."

Storm Drain Plans Told

Plans are being drawn up for a new storm drainage pumping station at the foot of Owens Street—part of a program of storm drain improvements.

City Manager Robert Kyle said the whole program will cost about $10,000 and will help bring the drainage system up to date.

The new pumping station will replace a station already on the Owens Street site.

The present station was constructed in 1933 and Kyle said it is not adequate for the job. He said two of the three pumps in the station are antiquated.

Present plans call for the demolition of the present station and the construction of a new building on the spot. One of the three present pumps was placed in service about five years ago and will be used in the new station. It has a capacity of 2,000 gallons per minute.

Two new pumps, each with a capacity of 1,225 gallons per minute, will be installed.

Kyle said construction of the new station will begin in a few weeks. Plans also call for the rehabilitation of drains around the new station.

The station will pump water out of underground storm drains into surface ditches. The present installation has been found to be inadequate during peak storm seasons.

Reds Down 2 Copters

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—Two U.S. Army pilots, a captain and a lieutenant, were killed when their H21 helicopter was shot down by Communist ground fire about 30 miles north of Saigon, military sources said.

The sources said that three other Americans aboard the chopper were wounded.

The chopper, one of about 15 troop-carrying H21s escorted by five armed HU3B helicopters, was on its way to Tay Ninh town near the Cambodian border to pick up troops for an assault on Viet-Cong guerrillas.

Its rear rotor blade was hit by ground fire, and the big craft spun crazily out of control, nosing into the ground with terrific impact and killing both men, the sources said.

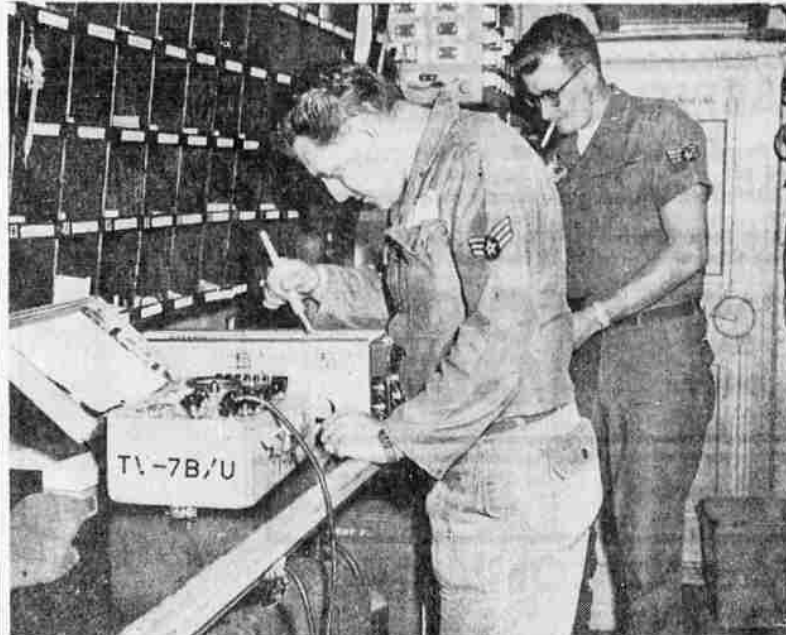

The men were the 107th and 108th U.S. servicemen to die in the grinding guerrilla war against the Communists since massive numbers of American military advisers began pouring into the country in January, 1961.

They were the 48th and 50th killed by hostile action, according to a United Press International tally. Of the dead, 82 have now died in combat, 32 of them by accident. The other 28 deaths have come from suicide, disease and training accidents.

Local Youth Attends Meet

Richard A. Seideman, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Seideman, 1834 LeRoy Street, left for New York and Nassau with his wife Friday to represent Willamette University's Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity at the fraternity's biennial national convention.

Seideman, a third year law student at Willamette, is the president of his chapter. He graduated from KU in 1957 and was valedictorian and senior class president. Both he and his wife Sharron graduated from Oregon State University in 1961. At Oregon State he was student body president, Memorial Union president, a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon and the recipient of the faculty award for the outstanding senior man in the School of Business and Technology.

After spending two days in New York City Seideman and his wife will fly to Nassau for the convention. They will visit Miami and Mexico City on their return flight, returning to Portland Sept. 8.

Shaken Up

LONDON (UPI)—Callie Christine Keeler was shaken up Friday night when a car in which she was riding collided with another automobile.

Alfred Bloomfield, 28, the driver of the car in which Miss Keeler was a passenger, was taken to West Middlesex Hospital and released after treatment for minor injuries.

Miss Keeler attracted the public eye earlier this year because her relationship with War Minister John Profumo led to his resignation and a scandal that nearly toppled the British government.

Name for a notorious prison, Sing Sing, was taken from the Sin Sing Indians, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Six Enter Fair Trials

MALIN—Six members of the Malin FFA are attending the state fair in Salem. Danny Duncan, Philip Petrasek and Larry Turner will show hogs, while Jim Fallhee, Richard Takacs and Bob Street vie for honors as a livestock judging team.

Members of the judging team were selected on the basis of total number of points earned through examinations at the county fair and the field day at Lost River Ranch on June 1.

Accompanied by James Lacy, FFA instructor, and Charles Duncan, all of the boys are slated to enter the state crops identification contest.

The Malin Woolies will be represented at the state fair by Patty Walker, who will show a lamb. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Irene Tice, 4-H leader of the Shasta Club, from Klamath Falls. Bobby Goding, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goding, will represent the Juniper Jumpers. Chosen the over-all grand champion in horsemanship at the 4-H horse show, he will attend the fair with his parents.

Joyce Mullanis, the 4-H flower queen who placed second to the champion flower arranger, will also participate in the fair activities. She and her sister, Joan, placed on the flower judging team, making them eligible to enter the state competition.
