Cuban Refugee Among Nine New U.S. Citizens

A 24-year-old Cuban woman who fled from her native country six years ago is one of Klamath Falls' most recent U.S. citizens but, as she told the Herald and News today, her joy will not be complete until her husband, too, shares in that citizenship. She is Mrs. Guilleromo Maria Ortiz, wife of a Kingsley Field airman, who was among nine persons who shed their allegiance to other lands and became U.S. citizens during a naturalization ceremony yesterday in the circuit court of Judge Donald A. W. Piper. Mrs. Ortiz said she anticipates that her husband, a native of Peru, may find it easier to become eligible for U.S. citizenship after he has completed his present three-year enlistment in the U.S. Air Force.

Trial Opens On Irrigation Water Costs

The trial of the Tulelake Irrigation District's $25,000 claim against the U.S. government for water transportation costs opened this morning in U.S. Court of Claims. Judge James R. Durfee of Washington, D.C., is presiding in the case. The trial is being held in the circuit courtroom at the courthouse. The irrigation district claims that it has paid the government $25,000 too much for transportation of water. The water in question is excess water not suitable for irrigation, which is used for wildlife purposes. The irrigation district says these costs should be borne by the government. The question hinges on the interpretation of a section of the contract between the irrigation district and the government in 1954.

Jury Acquits Beatty Youth

A jury of seven women and five men late Wednesday night voted 10-2 to acquit 19-year-old Clifford George Jr. of assault with a dangerous weapon. The split verdict was returned following four hours of deliberations. The jury had retired at 5:30 and announced its verdict at 11 o'clock. George was accused of beating a 16-year-old Beatty girl near Beatty last March 11. George, of Beatty, took the stand Wednesday in his own behalf and denied that the alleged attack had taken place. He was represented by David Vandenberg Jr. After George's testimony, Asst. Dist. Atty. Sam McKee recalled the alleged victim and her father as rebuttal witnesses. The girl repeated her story that George struck her when she resisted his advances. In his summation, Vandenberg dwelled on the point that the indictment had failed to mention the specific weapon used in the alleged attack and that the prosecution had not placed in evidence any weapon.

Slow Train Rams Truck

TULELAKE—A Southern Pacific freight train and a truck collided at a railroad crossing near Stronghold about 5:55 p.m. last night, resulting in minor damage to the truck but no injuries, the California Highway Patrol disclosed today. Henry Craft, operator of the truck, told the highway patrol that he stopped at the train crossing and continued across the tracks into the path of the train. Craft said he had not noticed that the train was approaching as he crossed the tracks. The principal reforestation project of the Winema staff has been the replanting of more than 600,000 evergreen seedlings on some 2,000 acres of timber and brush lands which were part of a larger area razed by fire and is now known as the Chiloquin Burn. In coming years the seedlings will grow into marketable trees, be harvested, and their remaining stumps may later be uprooted and crushed into pulp to produce valuable byproducts. Such an enterprise is now being initiated in the Winema, Deschutes, and Fremont national forests, Smith said. Earlier this year an eastern

Seat Belt Law Noted

Seat belt wholesalers and retailers should make certain all belts they purchase for Oregon distribution conform to the latest SAE standards. Vern L. Hill, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, said the agency has adopted the standards of the Society of Automotive Engineers as the official standard for Oregon. This standard, adopted by the SAE in April of this year, requires the belt assembly including webbing, buckle and anchors to have a minimum tensile strength of 5,000 pounds. The law, which took effect Sept. 2, permits the motor vehicle agency to adopt standards in conformity with current SAE specifications, Hill said.

Automobile Fire

City firemen at 12:42 this morning extinguished a car fire in the 600 block of Main Street. The auto is owned by J. E. Woods. Firemen said the motor and wiring were damaged by the blaze, which was started by a carburetor backfire.

Burglars Loot Schools Of Equipment And Cash

Burglars broke into two county schools on Crest Street last night and escaped with two typewriters and two radios valued at several hundred dollars and a safe containing $22, Oregon State Police reported today. The safe was stolen from Altamont Junior High School, 2505 Crest Street; the other items were taken from Orson Stearns School, 3641 Crest Street. Investigation by police indicated that the burglars pried open the gymnasium doors of the junior high school and entered the building, where they ransacked desks and finally emerged in the principal's office. They then removed a safe from that office to the head of some stairs leading to the gym and apparently pushed the safe down the flight of stairs. The safe shattered a number of the steps in its downward course and struck a heating unit at the base of the stairs. The burglars then pushed the safe across the gymnasium and into a vehicle outside the building, police determined. At the Orson Stearns School, Max Marvin, principal, told the Herald and News that the burglars failed in their attempts to open a safe in his office and then fled with the typewriters and radios. Marvin said the thieves entered the school through an outside classroom door which had apparently been open and later left through the same exit. Police were continuing their investigations late this morning.

KFPA Eyes Fire Threat

The Klamath Forest Protective Association and the U.S. Forest Service this morning were preparing for a possible lightning storm this afternoon. Preparations were being made to cope with an attack of lightning similar to the one last week-end that started 29 forest fires in the Klamath area. The weatherman said there is a 50 per cent chance of lightning this afternoon. Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hammill & Co. warns that investors should not count on being bailed out of poorly situated issues by a general market rise. Allen suggests new commitments primarily in carefully researched, reasonably priced common stock. Thomason & McKinnon notes that "whatever the results of the coming week, it promises to be a most interesting period." It says that the market rise will be the subject of much interpretation as will the activity of the near future. It believes "a healthy but guarded optimism seems to set the investment tone at this juncture."

Police Seek Missing Duo

The California Highway Patrol is attempting to locate Mrs. Hoy Johnson, 2947 Beverly Drive, and her 12-year-old daughter, who have been missing since Saturday when they left Klamath Falls for Hyaton, Calif., located in the rugged Trinity Mountains about 60 miles west of Redding. California police said the route from Redding to Hyaton is along unimproved road with hairpin curves and dropoffs. Johnson told Oregon State Police that her wife, Margaret, was operating a Studebaker Lark. Local police relayed the information to the California Highway Patrol at Yreka which in turn notified its Redding unit that is now seeking the missing people.

National Forest Supervisor Reports Rise In County's Timber Revenues

Klamath County will benefit to the tune of $412,000 from timber sales held this past fiscal year in the Winema National Forest, Alex Smith, supervisor of the national forest, told the chamber of commerce as he summarized the progress made in the forest since it became established from Klamath Indian Reservation lands some 2 1/2 years ago. The timber sale revenues will be slightly greater than the county received from the same fund last fiscal year, and will be in addition to money which will come to the county from timber sales in those parts of the Rogue, Deschutes, and Fremont national forests which are included in Klamath County, Smith added. The forest supervisor discussed various programs of the Winema, including timber harvesting, reforestation, sale of tree stumps, use of U.S. Forest Lands for recreation, and the hazards of forest fires, among others. On timber harvesting, Smith said that some 92 million board feet of timber would be cut this fiscal year, an amount almost equal to the cut of each of the past two previous years. "We have been successful in part of what we sought to accomplish," Smith said in alluding to the total program of the Winema. That comment notwithstanding, Smith admitted that considerable progress had been noted in salvaging timber blown down during the Columbus Day storm. Soon after the storm, it was estimated that from 10 to 12 million board feet of timber lay in the forest in need of salvage. "After starting operations, we soon disposed of 10 million board feet and then proceeded to log an additional 10 million feet of timber that was subsequently discovered in other parts of the forest," Smith said. Smith indicated he was more than satisfied with the job done last year in salvaging the blow-down, although a large number of the fallen trees are still to be salvaged, he added. Viewing the future, Smith remarked on reforestation, the sale of tree stumps, and a highway that one day will link Keno with Lake of the Woods. On the latter project, Smith said that bids have been received for the construction of the road which will generally follow the course of Spinoer Creek from Keno to the lake. The successful bidder will be named sometime within the next few days, with work on the project expected to begin in the fall, Smith said. Forest Service Reports Distribution Of Receipts

$18 million earmarked for Oregon and Washington counties as their shares of national forest receipts for fiscal year 1963, the U.S. Forest Service has announced. The money is to be distributed to counties in which national forests are located. The amount is nearly $2 million above the total for the previous year and second only to 1960's total of $19 million, Regional Forester J. Herbert Stone said. Oregon's share of the receipts amounted to $13,045,105 while Washington's was $5,119,217. Thirty of Oregon's 36 counties and 27 of Washington's 39 counties share in the revenues. DUNSMUIR—Schools opened in Dunsmuir on Tuesday with enrollments of both the elementary and high schools at about the same level as last year, according to school superintendents. A total of 582 pupils attended Dunsmuir Elementary School on opening day and Albert Kempton, superintendent, said late registrations will probably bring the figure to 593, last year's closing enrollment. Faculty and staff additions at Dunsmuir Elementary include Mrs. Doris Long, who will teach sixth grade; Mrs. Dorothy Delgado, combined fourth and fifth; Mrs. Shirley Neekels, office secretary, and Cliff Sparlin, assistant custodian. Dunsmuir High School started with 277 pupils or about the same as last year, said Delwin Poe, superintendent. Four Hurt Seriously In Accident

ADIN, Calif. — Two Klamath County men and two other persons were severely injured Tuesday night in a head-on auto crash five miles south of here on State Sign Route 139. Robert Huit, about 52, of Chiloquin and L. B. Sink, about 50, of Klamath Falls were taken to a hospital in Fall River Mills. A hitchhiker, in their car, Ira Ramsey, about 30, was also taken to the hospital. Huit, the California Highway Patrol said, suffered chest injuries and lacerations, Sink suffered severe lacerations and Ramsey received internal injuries. The driver of the other auto, Mrs. Pearl Knudson, 67, of Adin, was taken to a hospital in Alturas with lacerations, a broken wrist and cracked ribs. The highway patrol said Huit was driving Sink's car north on 139 when it collided with the Knudson auto, which was southbound. The CHP said Ramsey had been picked up by Huit and Sink near Reno. No address is listed for Ramsey. The collision is still under investigation.

in The Day's News (Continued from Page 1) To a lot of us, it seems that Cuba could be the answer. If he would pull all these Russian soldiers out... if he would withdraw his support of Castro... if he would invite us to send American representatives to Cuba to make sure that no missiles are stashed away there... we might be able to accept the test ban treaty with a free mind and no suspicions. We could then believe that a really significant break in the cold war has arrived. But, until he does that, a lot of us can't help keeping our fingers crossed. Klamath Pool Reports 24,491 Paid Swimmers There were 24,491 paid admissions in the Klamath Falls municipal swimming pool during June, July and August, figures released today indicate. A report from the Parks and Recreation Department said that 2,089 adults and children took part in the learn-to-swim program during the summer, with a total of 20,800 lessons given. Recreation director Gary Woodring said the PeeVee Softball League saw its largest participation in recent years with 165 boys playing on 11 teams. The swim team consisted of 40 members. Fifteen persons took tennis instruction, 21 completed in the chess tournament, 30 in summer wrestling, 20 in summer baseball, and 20 in touch football. Daily average attendances at supervised wading pools were Moore Park, 15; Kiwanis (Mills), 20; and Municipal, 15. Woodring said low pre-registration resulted in the cancellation of summer activities. They were the Moore Park playground program and the Children's Theater. The recreation department also provided facilities during the summer for the Klamath Falls Babe Ruth League, Medo-Bells Semi-Pro Baseball Association, American Legion baseball, Klamath Men's Softball Association, Klamath Basin Golden Age Club and the Klamath Civic Theater.
