

ROCK CLUB FORMATION — To accommodate collectors who are interested in both rocks and arrowheads, a new club is being formed with emphasis on social activities. Named the Rock and Arrowhead Social Club, the organization will hold its first meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 18, at the House of Rocks Motel. All collectors in the area are invited. Making plans for the club's future are two of its promoters, from left, Mrs. Leonard Herron and Mrs. R. E. Brownell.

Commissioner Attends Meet

Commissioner Frank Ganong will represent Klamath County at the District 2 meeting of the Association of Oregon Counties scheduled to open 10 a.m. this Friday, at the Prineville County Courthouse, the county court reported.

Ganong is a board member of the district which includes the Harney, Jefferson, Klamath and Lake.

William Tell Test Set

When a specially selected team from Kingsley Field's 322nd Fighter Interceptor Squadron plays for real at a jet fighter shooting gallery in Florida, the bows will be poised, and the arrows true and sharp.

The event is the Air Force's project William Tell, a live weapons shootoff which tests planes, crews, and data-link performance. The operation is biannual and involves more than one Air Force command.

William Tell is "primarily a test of weapons capabilities and operational procedures, but also it is a test of Air Force logistic support capability," says Maj. Gen. Emmett B. Cassidy, support manager for 1963's project at Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla.

Representatives of nine air materiel areas have a command post at Tyndall for around-the-clock operation, ironing out problems with century-series aircraft such as Kingsley's supersonic F-101B "Voodoo." They also work on details concerning rockets, drones, and millions of tiny bolts, screws, and parts. They even provide bits of technical information.
