

China Not Likely To Start War

LONDON (UPI) — Red China is not likely to try any armed aggression in the foreseeable future despite its increasing isolation, British experts on Communist affairs said today.

Boat Mishap Claims Life

TILLAMOOK, Ore. (UPI) — Oliver J. Thorud, 72, Beaverton, drowned Thursday when a boat in which he and two companions were riding overturned in the surf of Nehalem Bay about 20 miles north of here.

Thorud and his companions, Peter Tighe, 42, Beaverton, and Orville McCoy, Aloha, apparently mistook the north jetty at the harbor entrance for the south jetty, which was under water. The boat was caught in the surf north of the entrance and capsized.

Tighe was treated for shock and released from a hospital at Wheeler later in the day. McCoy was uninjured.

with Moscow virtually ruled out Soviet help in the event of a war. The Chinese Reds have rejected the Soviet Union's policy of peaceful coexistence with the West and have denounced Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for his peaceful overtures toward the United States. Peking's more militant policy advocates armed rebellion to spread Communism and does not rule out nuclear war as a means of overcoming capitalism.

Peking Raps Khrushchev

MOSCOW (UPI) — An abusive personal attack by Red China on Premier Nikita Khrushchev was viewed here today as a last-ditch attempt by the Peking regime to capture control of the world Communist movement.

Diplomatic observers said relations between the Communist parties of the Soviet Union and Red China, as opposed to state-to-state relations, apparently had reached the end of the road.

They regarded the personal attack Thursday as a final effort to unseat Khrushchev. They said it opened the way for a final break between Moscow and Peking in their ideological and political dispute.

The attack on Khrushchev and his policies was published in the Peking People's Daily, the official newspaper of the Chinese Communist party. It used such terms as "renegade," "opportunist," "despicable" and "schemer" to describe the Soviet leader and his role in leading the de-Stalinization campaign.

While diplomatic ties between Peking and Moscow still were being maintained, observers said, the attack meant the severance of "diplomatic relations" between the Communist parties in both states.

The feeling among knowledgeable observers was that the Chinese appear to be skating dangerously close to provoking the Soviets into breaking off diplomatic ties, but that the Kremlin would prefer not to take such action.

The United States and Britain currently are supplying arms to India for defense against China. The risk of direct armed involvement with the United States was seen even greater in Formosa, where Peking to risk any ventures in that area, the assessment said.

Search Continues For Missing Girls

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Police and the Federal Bureau of investigation today neared the end of the line in the search for two little girls who haven't been seen since last Saturday.

Capt. Henry Deason, head of the police homicide squad, said that so far there had not been a solid lead to go on.

The final "blanket search" in South Minneapolis was to be completed today by a force of 20 policemen and 20 FBI agents.

"After that we'll just have to concentrate on checking out any new information we get," said Police Inspector Calvin Hawkins.

The girls, Melissa Ann Lee, 5, and Barbara Foshag, 4, were last seen playing in an alley behind their homes. Police fear they were taken by a man who had been seen offering candy to children in the neighborhood.

A playmate told police the stranger forced Melissa into his car after she refused some candy. The playmate said Barbara then got in of her own accord.

Hawkinson said police were checking every tip and clue but he dismissed a ransom note asking for $2 million as "hogwash" and the work of a crank.

The note was sent to Mrs. Melissa Ann Lee, like a letter to Mrs. Erla Foshag, Barbara's mother, was scrawled by her in child-like writing.

Hawkinson, in ordering the second intensive search, said "We don't want to leave a stone unturned. We want to be as sure as anyone can be."

Legion Still Won't Buy Cuba Policy

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The U. S. State Department made its strongest pitch to the American Legion to gain acceptance of the administration's policy on Cuba. It failed.

First John J. Crimmins, State Department coordinator of Cuban affairs, told a packed Legion commission meeting last Sunday the United States is embarked on a long fight short of war to make Cuba an untenable island for Premier Fidel Castro and the Communists.

A few boos greeted him. Then Secretary of State Dean Rusk appeared before the annual national commander's banquet Thursday night and said those persons arguing for war against Cuba overlook the consequences.

Thursday, the Legion convention ended with a charge the United States has been following a policy of "timidity and vacillation" on the Cuban situation.

The Legion called on the nation's leaders to use all necessary means — including arming Cuban refugees or "proceed boldly alone" with U. S. arms — to enforce the Monroe Doctrine and throw the Communists out of the western hemisphere.

The resolution was adopted without one dissenting voice from the 2,965 convention delegates of the group's 2.7 million former service men and women.

The Cuban resolution said the Legion was convinced that Russia would never attack the United States unless it felt assured that it could win at a minimum cost to Russia itself.
