YMCA Lads Correspond With Sister City Friends

The Klamath County YMCA's GRAY-Y Club is participating in an exchange of letters with a group of boys in Rotorua, New Zealand—Klamath Falls' sister city.

Eleven boys in the local club correspond regularly with the New Zealanders, part of a project to "cement more firmly the sister city ties."

In addition to this project, the club also meets each Saturday for gymnastics, crafts and swimming.

With the opening of school, "Y" officials extended an invitation to boys of all ages to join the organization's activities.

PeeWee Gym classes are for boys in grades 1-3 and GRAY-Y Club accommodates boys in grades 4-6.

High school students can use YMCA facilities during daytime hours and this includes use of the health department. The building is open from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

This schedule begins Saturday.

Big Friend Proves Hard On Chairs

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Is there any polite way to tell a woman who weighs 240 pounds how to sit down in a chair.

I have a friend who is just as lovely as she can be, but when she comes to my home, my heart is in my mouth. She has broken two chairs and wrecked my sofa springs. I have fine furniture, Ann, but no furniture is built to take the beating she gives it.

She comes into a room and just backs up to a chair and sort of falls on it. I can almost hear the springs popping and the wood splitting. My husband is sick of her thoughtlessness and feels that we should send her the bill for any future damage done to our furniture. I just can't bring myself to do it.

Please tell me what to do about this embarrassing and expensive problem. — BAFLED BUNNIE

Dear Bunnie: You can't send a friend a bill for damage done unintentionally in your home. It would be nice, however, if the friend offered to pay.

Since she does not offer, your best bet is to lead her by the arm to the chair which can best hold her. And don't let her loose until she has parked herself.

Dear Readers: Every once in a while I receive a letter that I can print without changing a single word or dropping so much as a comma. I received such a letter today and here it is:

Dear Ann Landers: This is not a letter asking for help. There is no help for me and I know it. My letter is a simple plea to the parents of teenagers to please consider what their excessive drinking does to their children.

My father is an alcoholic. If he only knew how many times he has made me ashamed to be his daughter. If he only knew the times my girl friends have come over and seen him dead drunk—and how I slither when boys come to take me out and I must rush to meet them on the front steps so they won't get inside the house. I hate to come home because I never know what I will find there. My father is downstairs now, sick as a dog, but tomorrow night he will go out and do the same thing over again.

I beg of parents, please stop hurting us kids. — I USED TO LOVE HIM

Dear Friend: There is help for you—if you will reach out for it. Children of alcoholics have found comfort, useful information and guidance through Al-Ateen. Write to The Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., Post Office Box No. 182, Madison Square Station, New York 16, N.Y.

'Dumb Luck' Works Out

By OSWALD JACOBY

North's trump to three no-trump is correct in any system. He has only eight high card points, but he expects the diamond suit to be of great help to his partner. Unfortunately for this good idea it turns out that South has opened an irregular no-trump with a worthless doubleton. Every expert does, but they aren't supposed to. Furthermore, East wins the first spade with the king and the spade return kills off the one entry to a diamond suit.

After reminding himself not to open any more worthless doubleton no-trumps and South sees one slight chance to make the hand. It isn't much of a chance, but beggars can't be choosers and South takes it.

He returns to his hand with a heart or club. It doesn't make much difference which suit. Then he leads his nine of diamonds. West covers with the ten and South ducks completely. East must play his singleton ace and now South wins whatever is returned, leads his deuce of diamonds, finesse successfully against West's queen of diamonds and winds up making five odd.

He also cancels the reminder against bidding no-trumps with a worthless doubleton and the next time he will probably lose.

The opponents mutter something about dumb luck and they are right. But South had made the only possible play. There is no combination of cards that will let him bring home the diamond suit except a singleton ace in the East hand.

Geese Disrupt Power Circuit

REDMOND (UPI)—A flock of geese flew into a 12,000-volt feeder line between Redmond and Terrebonne Thursday night and set off a chain of trouble for Pacific Power and Light Co.

When the feeder line went out of operation it also knocked off the 69,000-volt transmission circuits supplying power to the company's entire Central Oregon system, which serves Bend, Redmond, Prineville and Madras.

Service was restored in all areas by early today.

Aid Program

MOUNT SHASTA—The Mount Shasta High School PTA has started a program of practical aid to student businessmen on a trial basis. At football games and other functions where a concession stand is operated, PTA members will assist the students with preparation of food, public relations, and investment of profits.

Tax Revolt May Affect Teacher Supply And Property Taxes

(Editors Note: School districts, and eventually the property tax payer, will be hardest hit if the legislature's $60 million tax increase measure is defeated at the Oct. 15 election. Fourth of a five-part series.)

By ZAN STARK

United Press International

SALEM (UPI)—Local school districts in every part of the state will face a crisis if voters reject the legislature's $60 million tax increase measure Oct. 15 and basic school support is slashed. Public Instruction Supt. Leon P. Minear said an 11 per cent cut in basic school allotments for the 1963-64 school year alone would range from a high of $1.4 million in Multnomah County to a low of $10,537 in Gilliam County.

Loss of this money could be a disaster to the local districts.

Budgets Approved

School districts already have had their budgets approved, and the counties already have fixed tax rates. It's too late this year to make changes.

If the cuts are made, schools will have to cut back every possible expense and try to get through. Many districts might have to borrow money or revert to paying teachers with warrants if they run out of cash. Warren's are official IOU's that can be cashed in at some future date when money is available to pay them.

Teachers with families to feed couldn't be expected to put up with such a situation. Anyway, salaries paid in California are all higher than 20 per cent greater than those paid to Oregon teachers.

Such a financial crisis could cost Oregon thousands of teachers.

Local school districts would be trapped until next year. Then the full impact would explode on the local property tax payers.

Taxes would have to be raised high enough to make up for the cutback in state allotments, and higher still if money were needed to pay off loans or warrants.

Impact Delayed

It would be more than a year from now when the impact showed up in property tax bills.

This is why education leaders are fighting frantically to salvage the tax increase measure. They aren't threatening taxpayers with dire results if the income tax increase is defeated. It's a fact that has to be understood by the voters.

Educators fear that voters don't really understand what's involved in the Oct. 15 election.

They realize taxpayers are in revolt. But they warn the ballot choice Oct. 15 isn't simply a vote for higher or lower taxes.

The future of the state's government and education system hang in the balance.

Town Plans Fire Check

DUNSMUIR—A town inspection by fire prevention specialists will highlight Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 6-12, the Dunsmuir Volunteer Fire Department has announced.

All business establishments will be inspected on Wednesday, Oct. 9, by a visiting team of fire prevention specialists. Areas in need of correction will be red tagged.

Other events planned for the week include a poster contest for elementary school students, a parade of the community's fire fighting equipment on Tuesday evening, Oct. 8, and a luncheon at the fire department headquarters in the city hall at noon on Oct. 9.

Motion pictures on fire prevention will be shown in the schools and made available to service clubs and other community organizations.

City property and public places will also be included in the fire prevention inspection, the announcement stated.
