

Pope Paul Hails Adenauer During Vatican Audience

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope Paul VI received West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a private audience Tuesday and paid personal tribute to the 87-year-old leader who plans to retire next month.

Adenauer was closeted with the Pope for about 40 minutes. Later, the German leader talked with Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, the Vatican secretary of state, and visited St. Peter's Basilica. "In years full of sacrifice, you, Mr. Chancellor, have given an example of reconstruction of your country," the Pope said.

Adenauer, making a farewell state visit to Rome and the Vatican, went ahead with the audience despite attacks in the pro-Communist press against a former Nazi official in his party.

The Pope, reading a speech in German in his private library, expressed admiration of the German people "for the contribution that they have given the world" and thanked Adenauer "for what the German people are doing for people in the phase of development."

This was an apparent reference to West German financial aid to underdeveloped countries. The Pope said this was a work in which Catholicism also was interested.

Target of the Press, attacks was Hans Globke, West German secretary of state and a close personal friend of Adenauer.

Globke was a deputy director of the German Interior Ministry in Adolf Hitler's Third Reich and co-authored a legal commentary on the anti-Jewish Nuremberg laws.

He was recently convicted in absentia by a Communist East German court of alleged war crimes.

Facts Noted On Vets' Aid

SALEM (UPI) — War veterans planning to attend school this year under the Oregon veterans' educational aid program should apply for the benefit when they enroll in school.

Franklin G. Reynolds, educational officer for the State Veterans' Department, said there is no deadline for Korean veterans to use the benefit, which pays up to $50 a month for students enrolled in full-time undergraduate college courses, and up to $35 for other studies.

World War II veterans may still be eligible, he said, if they had started training under the program before June 30, 1959.

Senator Declines Desk Formerly Used By Truman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., quickly changed his mind today about speaking from another senator's desk when he learned it has been used by former President Harry S. Truman.

Thurmond in effect told Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., "no thanks" when Robertson said he had no objection to the South Carolina Democrat borrowing his desk if the Senate granted its permission. However, Robertson told Thurmond, his desk had been used by Truman as a senator from Missouri.

"I think I'll stay where I am," Thurmond replied.

Thurmond ran for President as a "states rights Democrat" against Truman in 1948 and carried four states.

Zoo Readies Name Vote

PORTLAND (UPI) — The Portland Zoo's third baby elephant in the past year and a half will be named by the city's metropolitan area grade school children.

Don Spiering, manager of the Portland Zoological Society, announced Monday afternoon that the children will vote on three names — submitted by Portland Mayor Terry Schunk, the city's Zoo Commission and the society.

The three names have not been made public.

Eight-year-old Pet, the youngest of four mates to Thonglaw, gave birth to the 155-pound boy at the zoo Sunday afternoon.

Belle delivered Packy, a 225-pound boy, in April of last year and Rosy had Me Tu, a 182-pound girl, last October. Packy was the first elephant born in the nation in more than 43 years.

Still expecting at the zoo is Tuy Hoa (pronounced Tee-Wah).

He was recently elected President of the Federation of Christian Athletes and was a prominent member of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Bill To Aid Quint Family Recalls Canadian Action

NEW YORK (UPI) — The bill introduced Monday by Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S. D., to aid the newborn Fischer children recalls action taken almost 30 years ago to protect the interests of the Dionne quintuplets.

McGovern, in sponsoring a bill to exempt the family from federal income and estate taxes until the children are 21, said gifts received by the Andrew Fischers could be virtually useless because of federal taxes.

The Canadian government made the five Dionne girls wards of the king within two months after their birth on May 28, 1934, to save them from what was termed "certain death" by exploitation.

The quintuplets were returned to the legal custody of their parents eight years later.

The money which the quintuplets received through royalties and endorsements went into a trust fund which amounted to $1 million by the time the four surviving girls reached 21. Emilie Dionne died when she was 20.

Dr. F. Lloyd Mussells, hospital director, said the patient's condition is fair. He emphasized, however, that it is much too soon to evaluate the success of the operation.

This is the first time Brigham surgeons have attempted a human liver transplant. However, Mussells said such transplants had been performed elsewhere, including one at Denver, Colo., though he did not know the outcome of any of these cases.

Chancellor Answers Salary Jibe

PORTLAND (UPI) — Twenty-three out of more than 3,000 employees in the state system of higher education receive a salary larger than the governor, Chancellor Roy Ljeualien said Monday.

He was replying to Sen. Ward Cook, D-Portland, who said there were some 400 persons in education who were in the governor's salary range. The governor gets $21,500 a year.

Cook said he did not mean to single out higher education. "I meant there are about 400 in all public education within the state who are in the governor's price range," he said.

Dr. Ljeualien said those getting more than the $21,500 the governor receives include himself, $26,500; Presidents Arthur Flemming of the University of Oregon and James Jensen of Oregon State, $25,500; President Branford Millar of Portland State, $23,250; Dean D.W.E. Baird of the Medical School, $23,300, and Dean H. J. Noyes of the Dental School, $23,050.

Others included 13 faculty members at the Medical School, three majors deans at Oregon and one dean at Oregon State, Dr. Ljeualien said.

The firm said that under its plan, wood products research would be decentralized and carried on at various integrated manufacturing operations.

R.B. Pamplin, company president, said research in chemicals from wood waste would be accelerated. Research in conjunction with a chemical firm on development of chemicals and various food products from sawdust and bark will be continued at the Portland research laboratory.

Research in pulp, paper and chemicals will be stressed further at the firm's laboratories in Bellingham, Wash., and Crossett, Ark.

Closed Forest Areas Will Reopen

The Klamath Forest Protective Association will begin writing permits next Friday for individuals desiring to enter forest areas that have been closed since July 25 because of hazardous fire conditions, KFFPA Supervisor George Wardell said.

Since Aug. 1, KFFPA has not written any permits allowing the public to enter the closed areas for recreational purposes.

Although the closed areas are to be reopened, the fire danger is still high in most areas and anyone going into the woods is cautioned to be extremely careful with cigarettes and campfires, Wardell said.

Because of the large number of people who will be in the woods during the coming deer season and the burning conditions that exist, KFFPA is urging everyone seeing an unattended fire to put it out or take action to control it. The fire should then be reported to the nearest fire warden or guard station, Wardell stated.

This action is being asked of the public for its own safety. It could very easily be your neighbor's campfire or discarded cigarette that burns your camp, or traps your hunting party on a dead end road, he said.

Permits will be issued to the public for gathering wood on Weyerhaeuser lands, effective tomorrow. It will be necessary to obtain a wood permit from Weyerhaeuser and also a permit from KFFPA to be in the closed area. Wood permits may be obtained at the Weyerhaeuser office.

Human Liver Transferred

BOSTON (UPI) — A team of surgeons Monday night transplanted a human liver from a cadaver to a patient suffering from serious liver disease, it was announced today by Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Dr. F. Lloyd Mussells, hospital director, said the patient's condition is fair. He emphasized, however, that it is much too soon to evaluate the success of the operation.
