WALL STREET

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks made good progress today. Motors scored a number of solid gains. Steels shook off their recent doldrums and moved higher. Du Pont scored a large early gain and held most of it up to the close before easing off a bit. Continental Oil and Sun Oil scored a large early gain and held most of it up to the close before easing off a bit. Continental Oil and Sun Oil scored better than average gains in the petroleum.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thomson & McKinnon points out that the Dow-Jones industrial average still is marking time at around its opening level of last week. The firm feels that if the inertia continues, investment managers, no matter how justified in their optimism, might become more aggressive in shifting funds from the more exposed groups to such laggards as steel, paper, tire and rubber, building, glass, tobacco, radio-television food chain and apparel.

Leslie M. Pollack of Reynolds & Co. feels the market is moving into a period of healthy correction which should provide a good springboard for the next rise.

Standard & Poor's outlook feels the market may back and fill for a while as it digests the steep climb through the record high.

The advisory and statistical service says while fundamental outlook is good, care in timing and selectivity is clearly needed.

FAMED CROWN ON SALE

LONDON (UPI) — Sotheby's auction house will put the famed Peruvian Crown of the Andes on sale Nov. 21, a spokesman for the firm said Wednesday.

The gold and emerald crown was part of the statue of the Virgin Mary in Popayan, Peru, for centuries. The statue was made in 1590 in gratitude for deliverance from a plague.

Price Hike Predicted For Wheat

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — Prices for Northwest wheat are going up because of a possible world shortage resulting from bad weather in Russia and Europe, Washington State University price specialist Karl Hobson said Wednesday.

Hobson said the development wheat shortage was highlighted this week by Russia's large purchase of 230 million bushels from Canada. He said this was more than the Pacific Northwest produces in two years.

Russia is the world's biggest wheat producer and the size of the purchase from Canada indicates that country's crop is far worse than experts had guessed, Hobson said. He added that expected poor crops in Russia and Europe already had led to advancing prices in all countries except Canada, where the price recently was lowered five cents a bushel.

In the Northwest, Hobson said, prices of soft white wheat at Portland have increased 12 cents a bushel since August and now are 14 cents a bushel above the net loan rates. He said the prices may continue to rise unless export subsidy rates are reduced.

Employment Rate Rises

SALEM (UPI) — A high rate of employment and a lower rate of insured unemployment was noted during the first part of September, employment commissioner David H. Cameron said today.

For the week ending Sept. 12, the statewide rate of insured unemployment, 3 per cent, down from 2.9 per cent four weeks earlier, and below the 2.5 per cent noted one year ago.

Highest rate of insured unemployment was at McMinnville, 6.2 per cent, mostly attributed to the closing of the U.S. Plywood Mill at Willamina. Lowest rates were at Lakeview, 1.3 per cent, and Ontario, 1 per cent.

He said the Oregon unemployment insurance trust fund contained $66.8 million compared to $31.8 million a year ago.

Police Clarify Driver's Name

Oregon State Police said today that the passenger in an automobile which went out of control and rolled over on Highway 97, near Wocus, last Monday was Wendell Eggsman and not Walter Eggsman, as had been reported.

Neither Wendell nor Warden Eggsman, operator of the car, were hospitalized as a result of the accident. The driver said the accident occurred when he fell asleep at the wheel.

City And Suburban Area Study Sewer Agreement

Officials of the city of Klamath Falls and the South Suburban Sanitary District are negotiating an agreement which would allow some district customers to use city sewer facilities and vice versa.

The agreement had once been worked out, but the City Council Monday night decided that further work should be done on it before it is adopted.

The council asked City Manager Robert Kyle to check on the hookup fees for commercial customers and to include a renegotiating clause in the agreement.

Part of the agreement pertains to the city's Austin Street sewer project, for which a $9,261 contract was awarded to Bud Stump Excavating Monday night.

It had been found necessary to make an agreement because some residences in the sanitary district are not near district facilities, but are near city facilities. Also, some city customers are closer to district sewer lines than to city lines.

Under the agreement, city customers using district lines would pay the city for the services, then the money would be transferred to the district. The same would hold true for district customers.

Presently, seven district customers are using city facilities.

Chris Hood Death Told

A former resident of Klamath Falls, Chris Hood, Riddle, Ore., died there Sept. 10 while at work, apparently of a heart attack. He had been employed by the Riddle City Water Department for eight years, two years of that time as superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. Hood came to Klamath Falls in 1932, living here until they left for Riddle. He was a native of Sarcoxie, Mo., born July 22, 1896. He was married to Edna R. Card in 1924. After coming to Klamath County they ranched in Langell Valley.

He was a member of the Methodist Church and of the Masonic Lodge in Powell, Wyo. He was a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include the widow, Edna, Riddle; one son, William T., Klamath Falls; two sisters, Beulah Kemper, Powell, Wyo., Claire Clark, Pasco, Wash.; three brothers, William N., Sacramento, Otis, Long Beach, Calif., Frank, Parkdale, Ore.; two grandchildren, Leigh and David of Klamath Falls, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Sept. 14 in Myrtle Creek followed by graveside services in Eternal Hills Memorial Gardens in Klamath Falls, Rev. K. G. West officiated.

Pallbearers were Cole Fitzhugh, William Novotny, Floyd Meeker, Robert Seater, Jackie McAuliffe, and Orval DeVaul.

Thief Lacks Discretion

A thief siphoned 15 gallons of gasoline from an automobile belonging to Allen Welp, 4324 Onyx Avenue, Tuesday night and the owner is considerably disgruntled—but not out of the gas.

The thief cut out the middle portion of Welp's garden hose and used it to siphon gasoline from the tank.

"If the crook wanted a piece of hose the considerate thing to do would have been to cut a section from the end of the hose, not out of the middle," Welp said disgustedly.

Club Plans Call Service

The Klamath Basin Golden Age Club will sponsor a daily reassurance telephone service for any or all "live alones" in the Klamath Basin who can be reached without toll charges.

The calls will be made at a convenient time for the receiver by Alta and Joe Lovell, who will manage the service, and investigate personally if no answer is received after several attempts.

The new club will be the Hill Neighbor Club and membership will be for those who would like a friendly telephone call for a fee of $1 per month.

The money will be used to cover expenses necessary to run such a service. Those interested may call the sponsors at TU 4-6871.

Firemen Douse Pair Of Fires

City firemen were called out twice early this morning to extinguish grass fires.

The first call was at 1:57 a.m. to 632 Broad Street and the second was at 5:31 to Tenth and Prospect. The latter fire was on the banks of a canal. Neither fire caused any damage.
