

Chamber Schedules Stary Gange As Speaker At Annual Banquet

A retired businessman of Visalia, Calif., who travels nearly 100,000 miles while delivering some 160 talks on Americanism each year will be the principal guest speaker at the annual business meeting of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 9, at the Reames Golf and Country Club.

He is Stary Gange, 54, a noted after-dinner speaker whose business experience includes 12 years of banking and more than 40 years as a grower of oranges and olives.

The announcement of Gange as the leading speaker was made by George Callison, chamber manager, at the weekly meeting of the chamber yesterday, after the group heard two committee reports and welcomed Miss 99—a lissome, dusty blonde in the form of Judy Fleming of Portland.

STARY GANGE

Miss Fleming arrived here from Portland yesterday in the company of Rusty Rostad, sales manager of West Coast Airlines, to extend a personal invitation to Mayor Robert Veatch and welcome others to attend the Flight Safety Aviation Weather Seminar in Portland Sept. 21 through 22. The pair traveled south via West Coast Airlines and extended similar invitations to mayors and other civic officials at stopping points along the airline's itinerary.

Miss Fleming, representing the Ninety-Nines, Inc., an international organization of women pilots which is presenting the seminar, was introduced by Rostad, who commented briefly on the two-day program.

The sessions will feature officials of the Federal Aviation Agency and the U.S. Weather Bureau, among others as speakers, he said. In addition to a number of addresses, the program also will include motion pictures and color slide presentations. The seminar is designed for airplane pilots or others involved in aviation, but the public is invited to attend, Rostad added.

Miss Fleming captured the fancy of the chamber and elicited a few chuckles from its members when she remarked, "It's unfortunate that 99 has a different connotation in this area than it does in mine.

"But I assure you that we have nothing at all to do with the highway bearing a similar number," she said.

Miss Fleming alluded to Highway 99, which competes with Highway 97 for tourist traffic traveling north and south through the state.

Later, in other comments on Gange, Callison reminded the chamber that its key speaker had addressed the local Kiwanis Club about three years ago and had twice delivered talks at the annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

In addition to his business record, Gange has a long slate of service in civic activities. Among those are past president and for many years a director on the Lindsay, Calif., Chamber of Commerce; director of the Visalia Chamber of Commerce and currently its national councillor; member of two active committees of the California State Chamber of Commerce; a member of the United States Chamber of Commerce and one-time participant in its Government Operations Committee.

In 1954 he was named Visalia's Man of the Year by that city's chamber of commerce.

Since 1950, Gange has delivered more than 2,300 talks on Americanism in the 50 United States. In other activities his experience includes nine years as a director and vice president of the Pacific Olive Company of Visalia; and past experience as director and president of the Orange Bell Supply Company, director of the National Cannery Association and a member of their legislative committee.

In addition, he has served for many years as a director of the California Olive Association and as a member of several of its state committees.

In one of two reports, Callison stated that the Upper Klamath Lake and Recreation Committee had met with resort owners of Agency Lake and the Holiday Lakes to discuss plans for the long-range development of the area. Callison, who was reporting for Dick Green, chairman of the committee, said the talks had been constructive and would resume at a date to be determined later.

In the other report, Keith Cobo, director of the Tourist and Convention Committee, urged members of the chamber to attend a rally and no host dinner being held by the chamber for the members of Okanogan Caribou Trail Association, 7 p.m., Oct. 3, at the Winema Hotel.

Following the rally which will include a social hour, singing, and dancing, the members of the association will depart for Reno, where they will conduct their 31st annual convention, Oct. 6 and 7.

Guests at yesterday's meeting included Joe Sawyer, manager of the municipal airport; Bob Moore, West Coast Airlines; Mayor Robert Veatch; County Commissioner Frank Ganong, and Bill Howe, Medford Investment Company.

Police File Worthless Check Count

A Eugene man who police say has passed or attempted to pass five worthless checks in Klamath Falls this month was arrested in a downtown store Wednesday afternoon.

Theodore Albert-Julius Drummond, 57, was charged with passing bad checks and also was held on Eugene warrants for the same charge and for violation of probation.

Police said Drummond was arrested in a downtown store Wednesday afternoon as he attempted to cash a check for $10.

Officers said he had been refused only a few minutes before when he attempted to cash another $10 check at Columbian Optical. He also is charged with passing a $10 check at Payless Drugs Tuesday and at Montgomery Ward Sept. 9. Police are investigating the possibility that he cashed at least one more check locally.

Police said all the checks were signed with Drummond's real name, but were drawn upon accounts either non-existent or closed.

Fire Put Out

County firemen Wednesday afternoon extinguished a small grass fire at Skyline Drive and Donego. There was no damage.

JFK Will Pass Portland Due To NAACP Protests

PORTLAND (UPI) — President Kennedy today called off a scheduled speech in Portland next week in the face of threatened picketing by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The White House in Washington, D.C. announced a revised schedule today which calls for the President to make only a brief, 15-minute visit in Oregon—to the former Tongue Point Navy base near Astoria.

The earlier schedule had Kennedy visiting both the Astoria and Portland area with a speech listed.

Local officials said the speech had been scheduled to dedicate the new senior citizens housing project, the Northwest Towers, Sept. 27. But Wednesday the Portland Housing Authority, in a telegram to Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore. recommended Kennedy cancel the dedication because of the picketing possibility.

Today's announcement from the White House eliminated the Portland stop.

The new schedule calls for Kennedy to travel by helicopter from

Porumbeanu Seeks Wife

ZURICH, Switzerland (UPI) — Andrei Porumbeanu, "shaken up" by the news his heiress-wife wants to divorce him, today was reported seeking a meeting with her somewhere in Europe.

Friends of the couple said the 37-year-old Romanian-born playboy arrived in Zurich Wednesday night to search for his 22-year-old wife, the former Gamble Benedict. He flew in from New York.

Gamble is one of the heirs to the huge Remington typewriter fortune. She and her sons, George, 2, and Grigore, 10 months, dropped out of sight a week ago.

On Tuesday, Gamble's attorney, Eugen Curti, announced that the former New York debutante had filed for divorce from Porumbeanu on the grounds of misconduct. He also said she stripped Porumbeanu, 37, of his power of attorney to administer the income from a $20 million trust fund set up for her.

Quintuplets Doing Fine; Family Given $100,000 Home

ABERDEEN, S.D. (UPI) — The thriving Fischer quintuplets added a $100,000 home today to their bonanza that already is worth nearly $200,000.

And in South Dakota, that's really a lot of house.

The quintuplets themselves were "getting along good" in the fifth day of their lives. Their doctor paid them a midnight visit and said he had increased their milk formula again.

The promise of a new home was the biggest item on a growing gift list for Andrew Fischer, 38, a $76-a-week grocery clerk, and his wife, Mary Ann, 39.

The Curtis Publishing Co. announced it had bought publication rights to pictures and stories of the Fischer family.

Live On Outskirts

The Fischers and their other five children have been living in a five-bedroom two-story stucco house two miles out of Aberdeen.

Fischer also has rented some barns and a few acres so he could keep two milk cows. Dr. James N. Berbos, the general practitioner who delivered the quintuplets, told newsmen after his midnight visit that he has not decided when Mrs. Fischer will return home. He said earlier that she was being held in the hospital because of the excitement and hectic activities that surely will surround her when she does leave.

"The quints are all getting along good," he said. "Their milk formula has been increased. The boy (James Andrew) is very hungry and is getting nearly two teaspoons of formula and some sugar water."

"Mary Catherine and Marv Margaret also are very hungry," he said. "They get a little less than a teaspoon."

Boy Most Active

E. C. Pieplow, president of the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce and a family spokesman, said in a news conference Wednesday night that James Andrew was the most active of the five.

"He really lets you know he's a boy," Pieplow said. "He got his foot caught over a plastic partition in his isolette. It was nothing serious."

"Baby 'B' (the second-born,

Mary Magdalene) turned over on her stomach on her own accord. This was a muscular feat." Pieplow said he has had offers/furnishings for the new house. It and other materials and interior specifications will be built to the Fischers' and other materials and interior specifications.

Members Sue Union Leaders

PORTLAND (UPI) — Six members of Portland Local 1885 of the International Association of Machinists Wednesday sued eight union officials for $360,000.

The suit charges the union allegedly wrongfully called them "scabs" in a written sheet distributed to other members. The men claim the union made the charges when they worked overtime for United Air Lines here after other union members asked them not to do so.

The complainants are Anthony P. Farley, Salvatore Bondi, Arthur D. Dennis, Adrian D. Newton, T. Michael Metcalf and Michael A. Moretz.
