

Thurmond Raps Treaty Militarily, Politically

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., launched a new attack on the nuclear test ban treaty, finding it wanting from both a military and a political point of view.

In a 28-page statement, Thurmond criticized the proposed pact for its "gross and significant ineptitudes" of language.

A reserve general, and a member of the Armed Services Committee, Thurmond said political as well as military considerations "weigh against" ratification.

He warned that the United States would not initiate withdrawal from the treaty unless it was "overtly" broken by Russia. Then the United States would still need indisputable proof of a violation, he said.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, did an about face on the nuclear test ban treaty, announcing he would vote against the pact.

Lausche voted for the treaty in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, but said Thursday that he did not believe it "is in the interest of peace" and the security of the United States. His announcement brought the total of declared opposition votes to 14.

The Senate is scheduled to vote on the controversial measure on Tuesday.

Pollution: The House natural resources and power subcommittee will hold a hearing in Hartford, Conn. area next month for an on-site inspection of water pollution. The committee would inspect the Connecticut, Thames and Housatonic rivers and the water facilities of major companies and cities.

Coal: An education and labor subcommittee hears testimony on ways to amend the federal Coal Mine Safety Act. The first witness scheduled to testify is Charles Ferguson, safety director, United Mine Workers.

Civil Rights: Rep. George Grant, D-Ala., said he has asked the President Kennedy to dissuade Birmingham Negro leaders from a march on the capital at Montgomery. Grant said the march would "do no good and it can do much harm." Grant said he assured Kennedy that officials were making every effort to capture the bomber who killed four Negro children and triggered the scheduled march.

Taxes: Speaker John W. McCormack said President Kennedy's broadcast appeal for support of his tax program improved chances for beating a Republican-offered substitute plan. The GOP plan would not allow the tax cuts to go into effect unless spending estimates were much lower than now planned.

Curfew Set By Counties

PORTLAND (UPI)—Multnomah and Clackamas County Commissioners have adopted a 10:15 p.m. school night juvenile curfew. The curfew will become effective immediately.

The 10:15 deadline is for youngsters 14 years or older who have begun high school. Those who have not begun high school will be subject to a 9:15 p.m. curfew on school nights.

The new county codes are similar to recent action by the Portland City Council. They were made as a result of action by the last legislature which allows counties to establish curfew hours.

Board Of Health Reports County Disease Figures

Nine cases of communicable disease, including measles 6, German measles 2, and pneumonia 1, have been reported in Klamath County during the week ending Sept. 7, according to the Oregon State Board of Health at Portland.

Meanwhile, there were no such cases reported in Lake County, but Jackson County had 10, and Deschutes County reported one case of pneumonia.

In Jackson County the breakdown of the 10 cases were pneumonia 6, whooping cough 4, and venereal disease 1.

Figures for the state during the same period indicate that the highest incidence of communicable disease was influenza with 102, followed by pneumonia, 36, and whooping cough, 18.

Other figures for the state show that 555 cases of infectious hepatitis and 279 incidents of tuberculosis have been reported thus far this year, the board disclosed.

Drop Noted In Valuation Group Plans Stamp Event

DUNSMUIR—The assessed valuation of the Dunsmuir Joint Union High School District has decreased from $6,107,895 to $5,865,830, Delwin Poe, superintendent, told board members at the September board meeting.

This $242,065 decrease stems primarily from the withdrawal of heavy highway construction equipment in northern Shasta County which was assessed within the district during freeway construction there, Poe explained. The $3,632 which the district will lose in property taxes will be offset by new legislation that will increase the state apportionment by five or six thousand dollars, the board learned.

Bill Will Allow Land Exchange

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy Wednesday signed a bill to allow the state of Oregon to make a land exchange with the C. and B. Livestock Co. near Hermiston, Ore.

The state land, now being used as part of a cooperative agricultural experiment station, was turned over to the state by the federal government on the condition that it could not be used for other purposes.

The legislation permits the land exchange with the private firm without causing the land to revert back to the federal government.

SAN JUAN (UPI)—More than 10,000 persons in north-central Puerto Rico are suffering from dengue fever in an outbreak that is assuming epidemic proportions, the health department announced today. No deaths have been reported.

Congressman Told Russian Soldiers In Cuba For Training Purposes Only

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A congressman just back from the Soviet Union said today the Russians claim they have no combat troops, only training groups left in Cuba.

Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y., a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said he was told this by Vasily V. Kuznetsov, Russia's first deputy foreign minister, during a round of talks in Moscow recently.

Barry went to the Soviet Union, Finland, Hungary, Germany, Austria and Britain on a three-week mission to "probe" for what the next step for peace might be after the nuclear test ban treaty. He outlined his findings in an interview with United Press International.

"Training" Cadre
The congressman said Kuznetsov told him the Russians have only "training" cadre in Cuba—the same as you (Americans) have in Turkey, but only half as many.

Barry said Kuznetsov was "astounded" when the legislator told him he thought the American people would be willing to go to war if the Russians did not get out of Cuba. Barry said he cited a poll of his own congressional district of Westchester County, N.Y., to prove his point. The poll showed 70 per cent favored such action.

Kuznetsov said the Cuban government led by Premier Fidel Castro would be "unstable" without Russian presence there in the form of advisers, Barry said.

"Captive Nations" Flurry
Barry said Kuznetsov questioned him on why there was so much flurry in Congress all the time over the so-called "captive nations."

Barry said he told Kuznetsov that if the Russians got their troops out of Poland, Hungary and East Germany, Congress might stop talking about it so much. He said the Soviet official's reply was to this effect:

"Get yours out of Germany and we will get ours out of Eastern Europe."

Barry said he thought this "quid pro quo" swap was a possible next step for negotiation after the nuclear test ban treaty—at least in the Russian's mind.

Barry said he also came away from the meeting convinced that the Russians want to adhere to an international agreement to maintain a neutral Laos despite Red Chinese opposition. He said this was one way the Soviets could show their sincerity about further world peace efforts.

"Amazed" By Hungry
Barry, believed to be the first House member to visit Communist Hungary in seven years, said he was "amazed" to find that the people there were winning by small degrees the things they had sought in an anti-Communist uprising in the mid-1950s. He said those he talked to criticized the government "without fear" and expressed "a great year" to be more like the West.

Each farmer is allowed to keep one acre for himself and the crops from these lands account for 37 per cent of the country's agricultural production, Barry said. "On the collective farm, the farmer just loaf and apparently nobody cares."
