Alum Co Am	65 1/2	NEW YORK (UPI) — Dis-	appointing sales for both General Motors and Ford triggered a full-scale selloff on the stock market today.
American Air Lines	27 1/2	News that General Motors sales for the middle third of this month were off 13.7 per cent and Ford 12.5 per cent hit the market broadside just when it looked like nothing could stop the advance.	General Motors lost about 1/2 and Ford 1/2.
American Can	19 1/2	However, the effects of the news were felt in nearly every section of the market. American Telephone, which had showed spectacular gains Tuesday and early today, lost nearly all of its advance. Chrysler, another pacesetter, drifted down from its high and managed a small fractional gain at best.

Wall Street Chatter
NEW YORK (UPI) — Investment adviser Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co. notes that one of the most interesting characteristics of the recent stock market advance is that there are so many people waiting to buy stocks on weakness. "Minor setbacks are not enough," Ward advises.

He says that there still are many good grade secondary and lower priced stocks selling not far above their 1962 lows, or at a sharp discount from their highs of previous years.

"The Dow-Jones industrial average, under the leadership of six or seven stocks may seem too high temporarily, yet various individual stocks that are not components of the average still appear deeply undervalued."

Colby & Co. believes that the market, in terms of the Dow-Jones industrial average, is overbought. The company offers a word of caution for short swing money managers.

Investors Research Co. says that on the basis of the evidence of early September "aggressive liquidation is not advised at the present time." However, the West Coast Advisory Service does suggest that questionable securities from low-ranking groups be eliminated.

Art Works On Display

Paintings of a young Italian artist, Roberto Ciabani, who is skyrocketing to fame in Europe and America, are on exhibit at Rickys Jewelers, 700 Main Street. The public is invited to view his work which combines the traditions of the 1800s and early 1900s with contemporary trends in art.

Particularly is his interpretation of landscapes and figures realistic with color impact.

One critic wrote of the young artist that his paintings "have strong vitality and yet are intimate and familiar; they observe precise laws in his medium of expression."

The exhibit, which opened in Klamath Falls Sept. 23, will be open through Oct. 12, Monday through Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

In announcing bringing of the fine collection of oil paintings here for enjoyment of the public, Arthur Rickell of Rickys Jewelers said many of Ciabani's paintings are now in Italian collections and in several cities in the United States. Others have been sold to galleries and art collectors in France, Switzerland, Germany and Holland.

Mrs. Ciabani is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Ball of Medford. The couple is presently with Mrs. Ciabani's parents. There is no charge to view the exhibit.

Party Affiliation Figures Won't Be Listed Until '64

Statistics denoting the party affiliations of Klamath County voters will not be compiled until the next general election, the Klamath County Clerk's Office reported.

Figures collected by that office following the recent registration of voters for the special tax election next Oct. 15 revealed that 19,469 county residents are eligible to vote.

The current figure is effective as of Saturday, Sept. 14, when 216 people registered at the county courthouse for the coming tax election.

Although the total number of voters in the county was brought up to date following the registration, the party affiliations of the voters were not, because of the considerable expense to do so, the clerk's office reported.

Figures for the last general election indicated that 20,569 Klamath County residents were registered to vote, of 1,100 more than are now registered.

In the last election the breakdown of county voters was Republicans, 8,113; Democrats, 12,010, and nonpartisans, 446.

Driver Cited As Result Of Accident

The driver of a car that struck a parked pickup truck Tuesday night was booked for drunken driving.

Robert Benjamin, 20, 4789 Onyx, was booked at city jail following the crash. Police said he attempted to drive away from the scene of the crash on Applegate near Washburn Way, but was restrained by the owner of the parked truck, A. L. Hulse.

The collision occurred at 10:45 in front of Hulse's home, 2530 Applegate.
