Congress Ends First 9 Months With Many Proposals Pending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress wound up the first nine months of 1963 today with many of President Kennedy's top legislative proposals far from enactment.

Faced with prospects of their first year-round session since World War II, members of both Senate and House prepared for a burst of activity in the final quarter of the year.

The President's two priority requests — civil rights and a tax cut — still have not been enacted and some lawmakers predict that one or the other may not get through this year.

Despite its record of little activity on these and other Kennedy proposals, Congress has written into law a number of measures during the first three-quarters of 1963.

Among these are extension of the draft law, feed grains legislation, extension of corporate and excise tax rates, an increase in the national debt limit, emergency legislation to avert a railroad strike and aid to medical schools.

The Senate also gave the President a major victory by ratifying the nuclear test ban treaty and the House is expected to complete action this week on a military pay arise bill.

From the administration standpoint, however, these accomplishments are offset by lack of action on civil rights and a tax cut, a lag on the President's foreign aid program, and the apparent sidetracking of medicare for the aged and parts of the Kennedy education program.

In doubt also are such items on the President's legislative list as continued aid to areas of chronic unemployment, cotton legislation and measures to deal with dairy surpluses.

There has been a serious lag in Congress in action on the appropriations bills needed to finance government operations. Only four have gone to the President. Six have passed both Houses, but two of these are in conference committees. Eight others have cleared one House and four have yet to be approved by either branch of Congress.

No major civil rights bill has reached either the House or Senate floor. Leaders hope to get a one-year extension of the Civil Rights Commission through Congress this week, but it is a far cry from the broad Kennedy program.

The House has approved a $11 billion income tax cut requested by Kennedy, but the measure is awaiting action by the Senate Finance Committee.

Accidents Claim 4 Oregonians

By United Press International

Four Oregon residents died during the weekend as a result of traffic accidents.

Chester Jefferson, 75, Salem, was struck and killed by a car on U.S. Highway 20, 11 miles west of Sisters Sunday night.

Barbara Shanley, 8, Clackamas, died when hit by a car while riding her bicycle near her home Sunday night.

Charles Gripton, 46, Ontario, died at a Boise hospital Saturday night from injuries suffered in a traffic crash near Council, Idaho, Sept. 14.

Donna Clutter, 2, Charleston, died at a Medford hospital Friday night from injuries received when she was struck by a car near her home during the day.

No Fight Seen On Rights Extension

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders expected only token opposition today when the bill to extend the Civil Rights Commission for one year is brought up for action.

Several Southern senators were ready to attack the extension, but major delaying moves such as a filibuster were considered unlikely against the measure which is the first cilvil rights proposal to reach the Senate floor this year. The commission expires officially at midnight but leaders were hopeful they could pass the extension by this week.

The measure will be attached as a "rider" to a House-approved private relief bill that would pay $316.83 to Mrs. Elizabeth G. Mason, a World War II widow in Houlton, Maine.

Although the commission officially ends business tonight, its employes can continue for two months in closing-up operations. Supporters of the extension said failure of Congress to act by tonight would make little difference in the commission's operation.

Other congressional news:

Wheat: Members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Agriculture committees were to receive a briefing from Agriculture Secretary Orville E. Freeman and Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges on the deal for Russia to purchase U. S. wheat. Although no definite offer has been received by the Russians, American grain dealers who bargained with a Soviet mission last week said the Soviet Union was interested in buying three million tons of U. S. wheat for about $250 million.

Morse 'Favors' Goldwater Bid

BOSTON (UPI)—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said Saturday night he would like to see Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., oppose President Kennedy in his bid for reelection next year "so the people could have a clear choice . . . between progress and neanderthalism."
