Observe Your Instructor If You Desire To Get Better Grades

So far, we've been discussing the ways in which you should accommodate yourself to your courses—how to develop a constructive attitude toward school and how to pinpoint the purposes behind each course. But for every course you take, you also take a teacher, and until teaching machines take over the classroom, it's important to study your teacher.

can't fight 'em, join 'em," and since there's no point in working at cross-purposes with your teacher (he marks you), learn how to work with him. Working with a teacher is not the same as appeasing him. You have to work with people all your life; start making a science of it.

Here are the major things to look for when studying a teacher:

—What part of the course does he like best? What part does he like least? Watch out for small points that your teacher spends a lot of time on — he likes those points. They may be on a test. If you catch your teacher supplying a lot of seemingly unimportant background material make sure you learn that "seemingly unimportant" material. If you can give it back on a test, your mark may soar.

—Does he like argument in the classroom? (Not fights, of course, but intelligent discussion of both sides of a problem.)

Some teachers don't—usually because they're pressed for time. But try yours out. Bring up a question that contradicts one of his own statements. If he likes it, do it again. If he doesn't, it may be best to keep quiet when you disagree. There's no point in irritating him.

—Does he mark for class participation, or does he just count tests? This will usually depend on the size of his class; the best way to find out is to ask your teacher. If he marks for class participation, whenever you feel you have something to say, say it!

—Does he like to give pop quizzes? If he does you'll have to prepare for class every day. Whenever possible, check for this with older students who have already had your teacher.

—What kind of tests does he give? Essay questions? True-False? Multiple choice? What kind of answers does he like? Good understanding of main idea? Tiny details? You'll have to adjust your studying to his tests; it can save you a lot of unnecessary work. You can check this out with older students.

Canadians Launch Campaign To Prevent Quota Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Canadian lumber industry today launched a counter-offensive against drives in Congress for quota or other restrictions to cut back Canada's $200 million a year sales of softwood lumber in the United States.

A "background paper" disputing arguments advanced by the U.S. lumber industry today distributed to news media and interested parties, including congressmen.

The four-page statement reviewed the February, 1963, decision of the U.S. Tariff Commission rejecting a U.S. industry application for tariff and quota relief. It argued

U.S., Soviet Scientists Trade Heart Information

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Public Health Service (PHS) announced today that U.S. and Soviet heart specialists are exchanging information on cholesterol.

PHS officials said 50 specimens of frozen Russian blood have been received at the National Heart Institute's heart study center in Framingham, Mass.

The center will ship about the same amount to the Soviet Union in the near future.

Purpose of the exchange is to compare techniques of determining cholesterol amounts in the blood. U.S. studies showed that 25 of the Soviet samples were comparable in cholesterol levels to American samples and 25 were not.

Medical science has found that cholesterol can collect near the
