New Ranger Fills Post In Drews Valley District

LAKEVIEW — The transfer of Walter V. Johnson to the Fremont Forest has been announced by Carl W. Simpson, supervisor. He has been selected to fill the position of district ranger on the Drews Valley District with headquarters in Lakeview.

Since June, 1963, Johnson has served on the headquarters staff at Okanogan primarily as forest fire dispatcher. He began his career on the Mt. Hood Forest in 1949, working during the summers there and later on the Wallow-Whitman Forest. He received his professional forester appointment in 1958 and served as district assistant, assistant ranger, and acting ranger until his transfer to Okanogan.

Johnson is a graduate of Oregon State University where he received his bachelor of science in 1954 and a master's degree in range and soils management in 1959. He served as an artillery lieutenant with the Army from 1954-55 and is a member of the American Society of Range Management.

Johnson, his wife, and two young sons will move to Lakeview in early October.

Horsemen Plan Jaunt

MOUNT SHASTA—The Mount Shasta Horsemen's Club will take a journey Oct. 6 into a region where history was made during gold rush days. It will be a ride from Castle Lake to the Mt. Bradley lookout station led by Charles Holcomb, president.

Members will take horses by trailer to Castle Lake, have lunch and then ride the historic trail to the lookout. In this area was fought one of the bloody pioneer battles with Indians and Joaquin Miller was wounded.

Point of origin, Castle Lake, is so deep it frightened Indians who believed it was the abode of spirits. The depth reaches 122 feet, according to Joseph Wales, California biologist who studied the lake for two decades.

Overbid Works Out

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

North's raise to two spades is eminently correct by modern bidding methods. He is not strong enough to try two clubs and he should avoid a no-trump call with two suits conspicuously unstopped.

South's three diamond rebid was close. Most players would have settled for a part score, but South had fallen in love with his hand. Therefore, after North merely returned to three spades South continued right on to game.

This last bid was a real flirtation with the undertaker, but everything worked out beautifully. After all, every overbid isn't punished.

South won the opening heart lead and counted four sure losers unless he could do something about his second heart. There was a place for it and South's first play was a club to dummy's queen. The finesse worked and South was able to park his losing heart on the ace of clubs.

A spade lead was won by West's jack and the heart continuation ruffed by South.

This left him with only three trumps, but South gambled when he bid four spades. He wasn't going to give up when victory was within his grasp. He led a second spade from his own hand. East's queen lost to West's king and another heart lead left South with only one trump.

It also left him with his contract. He showed his hand and announced, "I will play diamonds. Take your ace of trumps whenever you want to."

Q—The bidding has been:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Double | Redou. | 2 ♣ |
| Pass | Pass | 4 ♠ | Pass |
| 5 ♣ | Pass | ? | |

You, South, hold: ♠ K J 7 6 ♥ A Q 8 5 4 ♦ K 2 ♣ 3 2

What do you do?

A—Bid six spades. This denies the ace of diamonds, but does not preclude a seven bid by your partner.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding five clubs your partner bids five diamonds over your four spades. What do you do now?

Wig Specialist Reports Baldness Among Women Rapidly Increasing

NEW YORK (UPI)—It might be said of Dianne Valvo that she has a hair-raising job.

The vivacious brunette takes over when nature leaves off and a female starts to bald. She is an expert who for 17 years has been using hairpieces to disguise feminine baldness ranging from a spot no larger than a dime to complete coverage of a bald pate. There's no age range for feminine baldness, she said. She's had customers from ages two to 95.

"Baldness among women is on the increase," she said. "Some dermatologists estimate there has been a 500 per cent increase in the last five years."

"Dermatologists offer a variety of reasons for it," she continued, "radiation, vitamin deficiency, heredity, old age when the hair just naturally thins, the pace of modern living, emotional upset.

"I heard of one case of a woman losing her hair overnight after a death in the family.

Reasons for Baldness

"And there are some dermatologists who speculate that one factor may be woman's emancipation. She is taking on male responsibility in the job world and following the male into baldness."

(Dr. Irwin I. Lubowe, associate clinical professor of dermatology, New York Medical College-Metropolitan Hospital Center, and dermatologist also with Flower-Fifth Avenue Hospital, mentions the female taking on masculine roles as a factor. Women smoke, women drive cars, he says, and in other ways follow the man's pattern of behavior.

(Dr. Lubowe, author of a number of medical journal papers on baldness and of the book, "New Hope For Your Hair," agreed with Miss Valvo there is a marked increase in baldness among women. He listed as possible causes hormonal imbalance, heredity, nervous system, localized infection, overuse of hair cosmetics such as lacquer, and too much pulling with modern hairdressing methods.

"In one paper published in "Soap, Perfumery and Cosmetics," in May of this year, Dr. Lubowe discussed "traction alopecia," or balding due to the use of the "pony tail," tight braiding of the hair, and curling on rollers and bobby pins.

"Owing to continuous mechanical strain and pulling of the hair shaft by mechanical devices, the shaft is drawn out of the follicle and, in severe cases, the hair loss may be permanent," the paper added.

Whatever the cause for baldness, "women become absolutely hysterical when it occurs," said Miss Valvo in an interview. "They need understanding, yet must be made to realize they are not the only ones this has happened to."

"On their first visit to me, I mostly let them cry it out," she said.

Mail Orders, To

Miss Valvo is consultant on hair problems for Charles of the Ritz, cosmetics manufacturers and operators of a chain of beauty salons. She said about 30 per cent of her work is done by mail.

"I ask women to send me photos to start with, or if they're too embarrassed to have the prints made in their home town, we do them here," she added.

In addition, a mail order customer does her own measuring for a partial or full wig with a five-step chart Miss Valvo has developed, and either encloses a sample of her hair or indicates her color and in turn is sent several samples from which to choose.

Customers have included a New York society girl who made her debut this summer, a successful fashion model fitted with total scalp cover, film stars whose hair has been bleached so often the result is nearly total fallout temporarily, a youngster fitted with a wig when she was 2 and with larger wigs as she grew up, mental patients, and patients temporarily bald in one spot because of head surgery. Customers come from all parts of the United States, from Europe, South America, as far away as Israel.

A native of Middleburg, Conn., Miss Valvo in private life is married to Albert Johnson, who designed the sets for a number of Broadway hits and now specializes in production of industrial extravaganzas.

The hair consultant must be the envy of some of her balding customers. Miss Valvo's chestnut brown locks, worn in a halo braid, reach well below her waist when they're down.

REAL WESTERNS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Movies have become so long that a new drive-in theater here has had to install watering troughs and buckets of oats.

The oats and water are placed near hitching posts provided by the drive-in for equestrian movie goers.
