Friend Protests Wrong-Way Name

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Some friends recently named their baby Shirley. In my opinion it's a dirty trick to give such a name to a girl, but to name a boy Shirley is unforgivable.

Why do people do such things to their children? It seems to be happening more and more. Two other friends named their son Marion. My husband and I began to call him Butch the day he was born. Fortunately it caught on and saved him.

Girls get stuck with names which belong to the opposite sex, as well. In school these names, which can go both ways, create pure confusion. A teacher who looks for Keith and sees something in long curls is bound to have difficulty concealing her surprise.

What advice can you give to these unfortunate kids who get hooked with oddball names? (And while you're at it, take a good swipe at the parents.) — PLAIN MARY AND GLAD OF IT

Dear Glad Mary: The only advice I have for a boy named Shirley is to learn how to fight. Personally, I don't think names matter much. If a name doesn't fit a personality you can be sure that childhood friends will hook on a nickname that does.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I found an apartment which captured my heart. It was too expensive for me so I asked a friend who is a hospital nurse if she would like to be my roommate. She loved the apartment, too, and agreed with pleasure.

Now, whenever I come home from work her boy friend is sitting in the living room reading the newspaper or puttering in the kitchen, making himself something to eat. He has a key to our place and waltzes in whenever he feels like it.

Our bedrooms are at opposite ends of the apartment and her boy friend often stays in her bedroom until 3 a.m.—which I think is disgraceful. She has a TV set in there and claims they enjoy watching the late shows and that I am evil-minded.

I realize I should tell her to shape up or ship out but if she leaves I am stuck with a rental I can't afford. My name is on the lease which doesn't expire until May 1. Please advise me.—HUNG

Dear Hung: This situation will get worse before it gets better. Tell your friend she must move within 90 days and start to look for a new roommate now. If you can't find one, you are stuck until May, at which time you should find something you can afford—alone.

Dear Ann Landers: In a few weeks I will be 16 years old. This birthday is a great big one for teen-agers. It's sort of a magic number. About a dozen of my relatives and friends of my parents have already asked me what I want for my sixteenth birthday. My answer is, "Anything. I'm not fussy." Then they keep at me to suggest something and I don't know what to say.

Usually they end up saying, "How about if I give you $5 and you can buy whatever you want?" This really frosts me. Money just slips away and there's nothing to show for it.

Please print this letter for all people who will be faced with the problem of buying a Sweet-16 present. Tell them to buy a little lift that lasts.—EL PASO

Dear El: Here's your letter, and now I don't have to tell 'em because you did. My personal opinion is that you have no right to criticize well-meaning people because they are unimaginative when you don't seem to have any particularly bright ideas yourself.

Chiloquin Masons Host Reception For Teachers

CHILOQUIN — The Chiloquin Masonic Lodge recently honored the old and new teachers of the Chiloquin grade and high schools with a reception.

Among the new faculty members welcomed were William Pohll, high school principal, and Art Mallard, grade school principal. Pohll was formerly principal of the Bly High School for six years, and Mallard came to Chiloquin from Peterson School, Klamath Falls, where he served as principal for 13 years.

One of the new high school and seventh grade English teachers is Donald Gleaves from Albuquerque, N.M. His wife and two children, Kevin, 3, and Heatherly, 6 weeks, have joined him here.

Leland Witt from Holdrege, Neb., is the high school English and seventh grade social studies teacher. He is married and has three children, Debbie, 9; Danny, 7, and Dickie, 5.

Robert Wood, lodge master, acted as master of ceremonies for the group of approximately 40 teachers and community residents at the reception. The welcoming address was given by Frank Ohlund, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Aubrey Starkey. The guest speaker was Clem Lesueur of Klamath Falls, who discussed the present school system.

The Chiloquin school enrollment this year is 268 in the grade school and 238 in the high school.

FIRE DESTROYS PLANT

MANILA (UPI) — A two-hour fire razed the Marcelo Rubber Company factory in nearby Malabon town Monday night and police estimated the damage at $750,000.

Police said the fire destroyed sections of the Marcelo factory that manufactures rubber shoes, vehicle tires, bed foam and rubber sheets.

Bonanza Parents, Patrons Appoint Room Mothers

BONANZA — Bonanza Parents and Patrons Club met in the elementary school gym on Sept. 25 for its first regular meeting and a reception for the teachers.

President Maxine Brown was in charge of the brief business meeting when a discussion was held on how much money to loan students to attend college.

Letters read from District Attorney Dale Crabtree concerning games of chance and from the Klamath County Council for Crime Prevention. Lenore Pederson of Dairy is secretary - treasurer of the organization and will represent Bonanza Parents and Patrons Club.

Room mothers were appointed, with Geneva Smith and Ruth Blankenship assigned to the first grade; Virginia Hartley and Cassie Ritter, second; Roma Harris and Averiall Wilis, third; Ursula Stone, fourth; Mary Cox and Opal Harris, fifth; Louisa Horton and Beverly Yancey, sixth; and Lois Struve and Virginia Kenth, seventh.

Helen Schriner was appointed to take care of the refreshments for the meetings during the year, and Sally Lundberg and Maren Randall will be in charge of the programs. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Yancey will be chairmen of the annual "Sweetheart Ball" to be given in March.

Principal Charles Steber presented the teachers, who are Erma Partridge, first; second, Janice Ragland; third, Jean Angel; fourth, Sally Lundberg; fifth, Dan Thompson; sixth, Johanna Chapman; seventh, Charles Dobry Jr.; eighth, Donald Quick; ninth, John Lundberg; 10th, David Stuart; 11th, Robert Freirich, and 12th, Sandra Franklin.

Other teachers are Florence Baldwin, Louise Northrup, William Osborn, Erwin Tippery and Kenneth Ketal.

Steber also introduced two retired Bonanza teachers, Lola Horn, who poured the coffee for the reception, and Joanna Givan, who served the punch. Cassie Ritter served the pink and white decorated cake.

Bike Crash Injures Lad

DUNSMUIR—Lupe Sancedo, 11, is recovering in the Mount Shasta Hospital from severe cuts received Sunday evening when he lost control of his bicycle, hurtled down a steep hill in Dunsmuir, and plunged through a plate glass window.

The accident occurred at the corner of Cedar and Sacramento streets, where young Sancedo apparently tried to stop his bicycle at the curbing and crashed into the S. & J. Market window. He was treated for severe scalp injuries and a nearly severed ear.
