NEW YORK (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers made it two straight victories over the New York Yankees in the World Series today when they downed the American League champions, 4-1, behind the seven-hit pitching of Johnny Podres and Ron Perranoski.

A crowd of 66,435 at Yankee Stadium saw Podres shut out the Yankees for 8 1/3 innings before Hector Lopez doubled with one out in the ninth.

Manager Walt Alton promptly called in relief ace Ron Perranoski, who was greeted by a single by Elston Howard, scoring a run, but then got Joe Pepitone to strike out.

An inning-by-inning description of the game follows:
Dodgers First
Willis, after working the count to 3 and 2, singled through the pitcher's mound into centerfield. Willis was caught off first base but slid into second safely when Pepitone's throw drew Kubek off the bag. Willis was credited with a stolen base. Gilliam singled sharply to right. Willis

Dodgers Second
Tracawski struck out. Roseboro was called out on strikes. Podres singled to center; Willis grounded out. Downing to Peppone.

Dodgers Third
Gilliam grounded out. Boyer to Peppone. W. Davis was called out on strikes. T. Davis tripped down the right field foul line. Maris ran into the fence when he went to field the ball and injured his left shoulder. Maris was forced to leave the game and was replaced by Hector Lopez. F. Howard struck out.

Dodgers Fourth
Skowron hit a home run, just inside the right field foul pole, out of the Dodger's hand. It was Skowron's eighth series home run—the previous seven coming when he was with the Yankees. Tracawski walked on four straight pitches. Roseboro hit into a double play. Richardson to Kubek to Peppone. Podres popped # 3 and 2 pitch to Kubek.

Dodgers Fifth
Willis beat out a bunt to Peppone for a base. Gilliam led off with a single. W. Davis to Richardson to Peppone. W. Davis was called out on strikes.

Dodgers Sixth
Terry went in to pitch for the Yankees. The lights were turned on. T. Davis grounded out. Boyer lined to Peppone. F. Howard grounded out. Peppone unassisted. Skowron singled to right. Tracawski grounded out.

Dodgers Seventh
Roseboro lined to Lopez, who caught the ball just in front of the right field stands. Podres grounded out. Richardson to Peppone. Willis also grounded out. Richardson to Peppone.

Dodgers Eighth
Gilliam grounded out. Peppone to Terry, who covered first. W. Davis doubled to the base of the right field wall. T. Davis tripped to deep left centerfield. W. Davis scoring and putting the Dodgers in front, 4-1. It was the fourth time in series history that a player has hit two triples in a game. Fairly batted for F. Howard and was purposely passed.

Dodgers Ninth
Skowron hit into a double play. Terry to Richardson to Peppone.

Yankees First
Lopez got a ground rule double when his drive down the right field line bounced into the stands. E. Howard lined to T. Davis. Lopez holding second. It started to rain. The attendance was 66,435. Peppone lined to D. Davis in short left. Lopez holding second. The rain stopped. Boyer lined to T. Davis.

Yankees Second

Military Ousts Honduras Leader

Uprising Alarms Local Honduran

By DAN WALTERS

"They're obviously avoiding elections."

This was the comment today of a young Honduran on the Honduran army's overthrow of President Ramon Villeda Morales.

But Mario Martin, a planning assistant in the Klamath Falls planning office, has more than a passing interest in the coup.

His parents, brother and other close relatives live in the capital city of Tegucigalpa, where the revolt occurred today amid fierce fighting between troops and police forces loyal to the president.

And, in addition, Mario's sister is married to President Villeda's son. Lucky, he said, his sister, Rina, and her husband are in Italy and probably won't be involved in the fighting.

The rest of the president's family, and the president himself, were reported under arrest in the presidential palace.

Mario today was attempting to contact his family to be assured of their safety.

He is particularly worried about his younger brother, Alex, 18, who is a military cadet in the Third Military Zone—the same unit that engineered the overthrow of President Villeda.

"He's probably in the middle of it," said Mario today of his brother.

Mario's father, Ernesto Martin, is a representative for foreign business firms in the capital and is not involved in the government.

Mario said he met the deposed President Villeda two years ago when he and his wife traveled to Honduras for his sister's wedding to the president's son.

"He was doing a very good job," Mario said of the president.

"They (the army) are obviously avoiding elections."

General elections were to have been held in 10 days to choose a successor to the president.

"He was the first duly elected president that was about to finish his term," said Mario. "I think we are set back six years."

Mario explained that previous heads of government had always been hand-picked puppets for strongmen, but that Villeda was the first president to have the support of the people.

He said there had been trouble between the president and the head of the revolving forces, Col. Osvaldo Lopez Arellano, for some time.

Mario said he believed the revolution occurred because the army was afraid that the president's party would return to power. The president could not succeed himself.

Mario has been living in the United States for seven years. He studied architecture at the University of California before coming to Klamath Falls a year and a half ago.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — Military leaders today deposed President Ramon Villeda Morales and seized power in a pre-dawn coup. Heavy casualties were reported in street fighting.

Some army units in the 4th and 5th military zones, Central Honduras, and the civil guard were resisting the coup.

The air force was reported bombing troops at Santa Barbara, 100 miles northwest of Tegucigalpa. Six contingents of army troops were en route to Santa Rosa de Copan to demand the surrender of the holdout garrison there.

Military leaders ordered a 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew and instructed residents to remain in their homes. The civil guard and all armed civilian groups were placed under military control. Civilians with arms and munitions in their possession were ordered to turn them in immediately to the nearest army post.

An Army communique from the 3rd Military Zone said Villeda Morales was overthrown to put a halt to "restlessness and anarchy" in the country and halt "flagrant violations of the constitution and obvious Communist infiltration."

It was the second military coup against a constitutional government in Latin America in eight days. The Dominican regime of President Juan Bosch was toppled last week.

Villeda Morales was deposed just 10 days short of completing six-year mandate. General elections for his successor were scheduled for a week from next Sunday.

Sharp clashes were reported between revolting troops and civil guardsmen defending Villeda Morales. Shooting was frequent in the streets many hours after the coup.

The army said the coup "responded to the popular clamor" and was "a gesture of authentic patriotism." The military decided to act, the communique said, "to rescue the country and restore tranquility in the Honduran family."

The armed forces guaranteed "full respect" for the "lives and rights" of all citizens. They called on the people for "frank and sincere moral cooperation in these crucial moments when we are trying to preserve the internal and international prestige of our beloved Honduras."

In addition to the shooting in Tegucigalpa, "various disorders" were reported in the north coast port towns of San Pedro Sula, Cortes, Tela and Progresso.

In Washington, the State Department said the embassy in Tegucigalpa had informed it a military coup was "in full swing" in Honduras, but that the outcome was "not yet known."

Army troops were visibly in control in Tegucigalpa at midday. They held the public utilities and surrounded the presidential palace. Army regulars were all over the city, armed with tommyguns.

Villeda Morales was reported a prisoner in the palace with his family.

Two-State Deer Herd Talks Open At Yreka

YREKA, Calif. (UPI)—Legislative committees from California and Oregon opened a two-day meeting here today to discuss possible ways to hold the interstate mule deer herd, which apparently was hard hit by the 1959-61 drought.

The hearing will move to Klamath Falls, Ore., Friday.

The lawmakers specifically were scheduled to discuss the practicality of establishing an interstate commission to regulate the mule deer that winter in California and summer in Oregon.

Along with that, the legislators were to talk over possible ways to improve the deer range.

Track counts of interstate mule deer have dropped from a high of 17,625 in 1954 to a low this year of 7,191. Likewise, the buck kill by both states in the interstate herd has fallen from a record 6,693 in 1959 to only 2,801 last season.

An interstate compact, as tentatively suggested, would cover the California counties of Modoc and Lassen and portions of Siskiyou and Shasta, and the Oregon counties of Lake and Klamath and the southern portion of Harney.

Right now, the California Fish and Game Commission regulates all deer in this state, taking advice from the department of fish and game. The same system works in Oregon.

At the root of the whole issue for California is a hot hassle over deer management. And one person in the thick of the battle is assemblywoman Pauline Davis, D-Portola, chairman of the California committee at today's meeting.

She basically disagreed with the California Department of Fish and Game's deer management policies, which include balancing the herds through controlled hunting of antlerless deer. Mrs. Davis maintains that hunting pressure is largely to blame for the lessening deer herds, while the department puts the finger on environmental conditions.

Meeting jointly were the California Assembly Legislative Interim Committee on Fish and Game, and the Oregon Special Interim Committee on Deer.

Soviet Position On Berlin Unchanged, Rusk Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk took time out today from his cold war talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to brief President Kennedy on how this latest round of East-West relations was going.

Rusk hopped a train from New York to Washington for a mid-morning session with the President prior to Kennedy's departure for a trip to Arkansas. The secretary planned to return to New York for another session with Gromyko tonight.

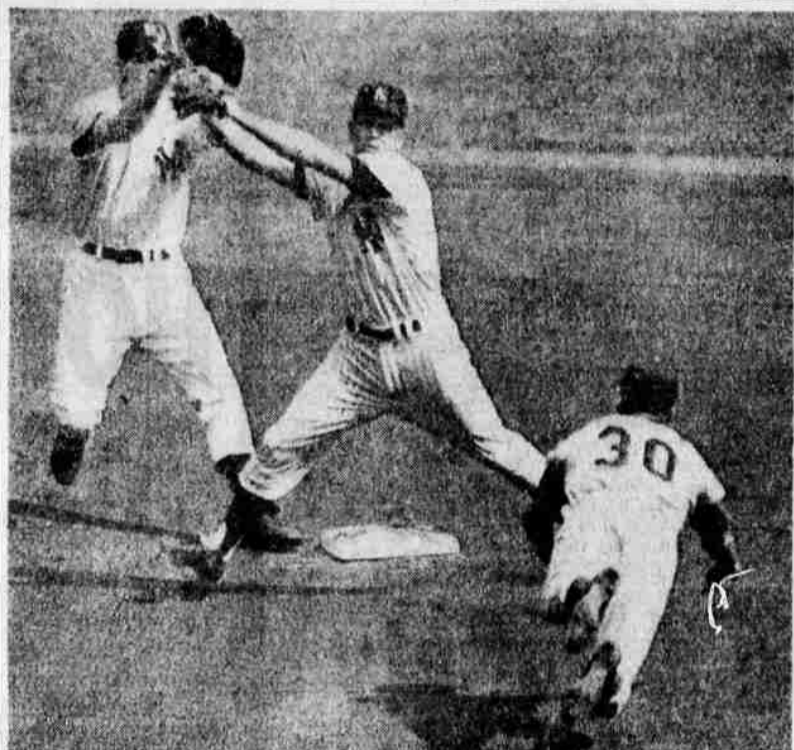

U.S. officials said that in the course of the new talks with Gromyko, Rusk had found that the Soviets still are standing firm on their demand for eventual liquidation of the Allied position in Communist-encircled West Berlin and have not altered their position on other potentially explosive issues pertaining to Germany.

However, Gromyko was reported to be approaching these and other subjects in a relaxed manner with no indication the Kremlin plans within the foreseeable future to whip up another crisis such as those which in recent years have threatened to trigger nuclear war.

Rusk and Gromyko touched on the problems of Berlin and Germany in the course of a three-hour dinner conference Wednesday night at the East 67th Street headquarters of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

The meeting, which ranged across a number of critical East-West problems such as disarmament, was described by U.S. officials as "amicable." They said Gromyko has shown no indication in his current series of talks with Rusk to force a showdown on any of the more explosive problems dividing Moscow and the West.

Rusk and Gromyko devoted a considerable portion of the time to a general but inconclusive discussion of possible arms control measures to further ease tension.

Ambush In South Viet Nam Kills U.S. Captain, Eight Vietnamese

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — A United States Army Special Forces captain was killed early today in an ambush laid by Communist Viet Cong guerrillas along a road near the Cambodian border about 85 miles north of Saigon.

An American military spokesman said that eight Vietnamese army men, including one officer, also were killed. Viet Cong casualties were unknown.

The Communist guerrillas sprang the ambush just as the first of a two-truck supply convoy passed over a mine they had planted in the road. The mine exploded, blowing the truck off the road and setting it afire.

The guerrillas then opened fire on the second truck and set off a second mine.

Soldiers riding in the second truck dived into the road and scrambled for what cover could be found. When they opened fire in return, the Viet Cong retreated.

The captain was the 33rd U.S. military man to be killed in combat since the build-up of American assistance began in January, 1961.

House Okays 'Housekeeping' Bills But Not Until After Family Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House members, alternately booing and cheering, authorized for themselves a new round of trips, investigations and official expenses Wednesday at a total cost of about $1.2 million.

The boos were for Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, the well-known economist, who spoke against several of the items in the package of "housekeeping" bills. The cheers came when Gross' request for a roll call vote on one of the measures failed.

Note "Stationery" Items
Some members saw the action as evidence Congress will still be in session at Christmas. They noted that the stationery store carries a nice line of handy seasonal items such as Christmas cards, leather goods and pen sets.

In another sign that fall has arrived, the Commerce and Agriculture committees were authorized to send delegations to scheduled international meetings on communications (Geneva), plane fares (Rome), and food and agriculture (also Rome).

Funds were voted for inquiries into research, agriculture, interstate taxes, banking and some other matters. Extra allowances were provided for members' official telephone and telegraph bills and for stamps.

The added travel authority touched off one of the sharpest exchanges in recent House history between Gross and Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., who gave a spirited defense of legislative work trips abroad.

Terms Trip Junkie
Gross asked for what purpose members of the Agriculture Committee, of which Cooley is chairman, were planning additional travel. He noted acridly that some

Solons Begin Tax Tutoring

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee was called into closed sessions today to be tutored by staff experts on the complexities of a 310-page tax-cutting bill.

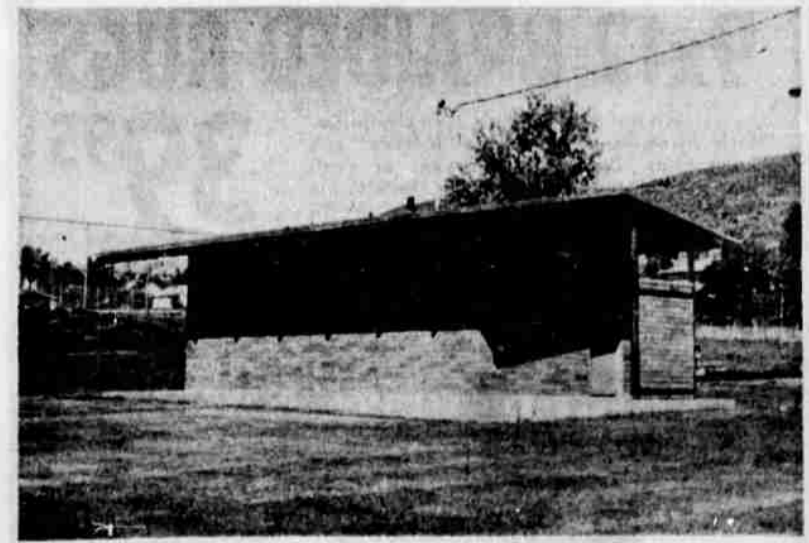

The measure, which passed the House on a 271-155 roll call eight days ago, would provide relief for virtually every federal taxpayer, starting Jan. 1. The relief would total $11 billion, with one-third delayed to Jan. 1, 1965.

Despite administration hopes for speedy passage, it is doubtful that Congress will complete action this year. However, backers insist that if the bill is not enacted until next year, the first stage of the two-stage tax cut would be made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1964.
