Crosby Boys Back With Reality After Premature Rise To Fame

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The four golden Crosby boys, heirs to riches and public scrutiny, have crash landed from premature stardom to the hard reality of the world.

The name "Bing Crosby" is no longer a magic wand for them. Their private lives have been devastated by divorce—three out of four—and professionally they have plummeted to the bottom of the show business ladder.

Even the term Crosby Boys is a misnomer.

They are men now. Gary is 30; after three years he says, "Barbara and I are sailing along smoothly. We're very happy and plan to stay that way."

Once the ringleader of the family singing group, Gary broke away from his brothers shortly before his marriage and struck out as a single. Overweight and illness forced him to retire temporarily from show business.

In the past year Gary lost weight, resumed his singing career and will star this season in the new "Bill Dana" television series.

Gary and Barbara live in the San Fernando Valley with Barbara's 8-year-old son, Steve, by a previous marriage. Gary has adopted the boy.

Dennis, who made headlines in a paternity suit, is balding, shy and hopeful that he can salvage his marriage.

"I feel sure Pat and I will get back together again," he says.

Dennis works in a production capacity for Bing Crosby productions at Desilu studios, and plans some day to produce a television series for his father's company. He has no desire to return to performing.

Phil is under contract to Frank Sinatra's Reprise recording company and recently cut two new songs, a rock 'n' roll rendition of his father's famed "When the Blue of the Night Meets the Gold of the Day," and a country version of "Little by Little."

Philip and his wife, Sandra Drummond, went to the divorce courts in June of this year. They are the parents of Dixie Lee, 4, and Brian Patrick, 3.

Lindsay, the youngest of Bing's first family, has followed the course of his older twin brothers. He married a Las Vegas show girl (as they did) and has since been divorced.

His wife Barbara went to court last year. They have a son, David, 3.

Lindsay's health was a primary factor in the dissolution of the trio. He suffered a nervous breakdown in October, 1962, a was hospitalized. It has taken him a year to regain his health, and to slow down the fast-paced life he led after he and Barbara separated.

Linny, as she call him, lives in Palm Desert, Calif., at the home of a close family friend, Pete Pepto, near his father's house in the Palm Springs area.

This month Lindsay and Pepto will open an Italian delicatessen in the desert community.

The young Crosby said he might return to show business some day, but not before studying music and acting.

Friendly With Dad

Bing's sons are as friendly terms with their dad, but do not see him very often. Papa Crosby still is busy with his own career, and as often as time allowed Der Bingle and his new family (wife Kathy, sons Harry Lillis Jr. and Nathaniel) hie off to the Crosby manse at the tip of Baja California.

There is virtually no chance that the four Crosby sons will ever appear together again as entertainers. Only Gary and Phil (who are the least friendly among the brothers) are determined to stay in show business.

Financially, none need worry, each boy received $50,000 in 1942 from their parents to set up trust funds. Their mother's estate provided for a quarter of a million dollars each.
