

Study In spurts—Take Notes—And Review

The title of this article may be a little misleading. Nobody is really sure just how learning works. There's a whole host of plausible theories on the psychological market but there are still large gaps in our knowledge. We do know enough about learning to figure out some productive study methods, and perhaps more important, we know something about forgetting, too.

We know, for instance, that your learning is restricted by your span of concentration, and we know that the average span of concentration for a student on a single subject is about 50 minutes. That's why your classes are usually 50 minutes long.

We know that you can learn meaningful material more easily than you can memorize nonsense syllables—and that you can retain the meaningful material longer. We know that most forgetting occurs immediately after learning because the continued flow of new material makes it difficult for a new concept to "take." On the other hand, if you can still remember something the day after you learned it, you can be sure you won't forget it easily.

This just scratches the surface of learning theory, but it's enough to help you plan your study time more intelligently. For instance, if your span of concentration is only 50 minutes, isn't it silly to study one subject for three or four hours straight through?

Since the influx of new material speeds up forgetting, doesn't it follow that if you study for several hours without reinforcement, you'll forget most of what you learned in the first hour? And if meaningful material is the easiest to learn, isn't it pointless to memorize without trying to understand what you're memorizing?

Taylor Due For Mission To Pakistan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is expected to send Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, to Pakistan next month in a further attempt to patch up strained relations.

Relations with Pakistan have been worsening as that country has made a series of agreements with Red China, including a commercial air pact which gives the Chinese their first major airline route into the Western world.

Gen. Taylor, who returned this week from a trouble-shooting mission in South Viet Nam, will attend a meeting of the military committee of the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) in Ankara, Turkey, Nov. 5-6. Officials said he probably will be sent on to Pakistan from there.

Pakistan, a member of both the CENTO and Southeast Asia (SEATO) alliances, has been angry over U.S. military aid to her

TIRE WEAR

NEW YORK (UPI) — A single right-angle turn at 13 miles-per-hour can scrape off as much as tire tread as 10 miles of straight-ahead driving at normal speed, reports Tyrex Inc., the association of rayon tire cord producers.

There are about 1,600 known asteroids, says the National Geographic Society.

Thank you for being careful!

Thank you for being helpful!

In the lands covered by the Klamath Forest Protective Association there have been just 35 man-caused fires during the fire hazard season through October 1st. This is 4 less than the 39 of last year, and 15 below the average of 50 over the past several years. Public cooperation in preventing forest fires has been terrific this year. During the opening week of deer season there were 4 hunter-caused fires, and in each instance, hunters themselves took prompt action to control the fires and notify KFPA crews so that mop-up action could be taken. Such outstanding cooperation is appreciated by all of us. The fire danger is still with us. So always be cautious, be careful of fire in the woods, Help Keep Klamath Green!

The following firms, believing that business has a responsibility for the public welfare, sponsored the "Keep Klamath Green" advertising during the past fire season to remind you to be careful on your outings and, more important, to explain the hazards of forest fires to visitors coming here.
