WALL STREET

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gains of a point or more in nearly a dozen sugar stocks featured an otherwise narrowly mixed and moderately active stock market today. Sizable gains in American Crystal, North American, South Puerto Rico, Great Western, Holly, Central Aguirre, Amalgamated, American and National have been indirectly attributed to hurricane Flora now raging over Cuban sugar crops. Although Cuban sugar is no longer purchased in the U.S., it was noted that its loss is felt on the world market and the effect transmitted thereby to the domestic market.

WALL STREET CHATTER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investment advisers Brehman, Cummings & Co. expect that during the rest of October the popular averages will continue to show wide day-to-day price swings on comparatively low volume—"say between 720-750 in the Dow-Jones industrials." However, it adds, despite the prospect of continued whiplashing and milling around, "there is the possibility that interest may broaden into the many deserving issues which have gone nowhere since last spring." As for November—the advisers believe the market will be making new highs then.

Court Action Seeks Tribe Study Ruling

PORTLAND—Suit has been filed in Multnomah County Circuit Court seeking an interpretation of the 1959 agreement with the U.S. government which established the U.S. National Bank of Portland as the trustee for the Klamath Indians.

The suit stems from a decision last month by remaining members of the Klamath Tribe to seek a professional study of utilization of their multi-million-dollar properties in Klamath County.

The bank maintains that it is improper to spend tribal funds for this study and filed the "friendly" suit Friday for a decision by the court on this matter.

The remaining members of the Klamath tribe met in Chiloquin Sept. 20 and voted to seek the study. Their attorney, Donald Gormley, said in his opinion the expenditure of trust funds for this purpose is proper.

The Indians are seeking the study which would furnish them with information on their properties before they vote March 3, 1964, on whether to end the trust, continue it, or make other arrangements.

It is estimated that the independent study will cost about $10,000.

The 1959 agreement also covers Modoc Indians and the Yahooskin band of Snake Indians, but this particular case does not directly affect these tribes.

Cars Crash, No One Hurt

Two cars collided at the intersection of Homedale Road and County Road 43 about 6:30 p.m. Monday, resulting in minor damage to the vehicles and no injuries to the motorists, Oregon State Police said Tuesday.

Involved in the collision were Dorothy Dean Starr, 31, of 3254 Cortez Street, who had been westbound on Road 43, and William Albert Thoresen of Falcon Heights, who had been traveling along Homedale Road.

Tall weeds growing along the edge of the highway obstructed the vision of the motorists and were blamed for the accident, police said.

Mrs. Starr drove her vehicle from the scene of the accident while the other was removed by a local towing company.

FIRE PREVENTION SHOW — Suburban Fire Department Chief Buster Gordon (left) uses a pointer to show students at Altamont Elementary School the fire triangle, part of an electrically-powered display of fire dangers built by Suburban firemen. This lecture was given to the Altamont students for the first time. The display will travel to other schools this week for Fire Prevention Week. Asst. Chief Ray LaMarsha is at right and fireman Jim Lane is in the center.

Active Suburban Fire Department Has Grown Steadily Since 1947 Start

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles this week on the operation of local fire departments in connection with Fire Prevention Week across the nation.

The Suburban Fire Department is responsible for protecting the densely populated South Suburban area.

The department has grown with this area, having been established in 1947 as the Suburban region reached the status of a population center.

Although Suburban firemen cover an area of only 12 square miles, it is one of the busiest departments in the county. Hardly a day goes by that Suburban firemen are not called to a grass fire or a blaze in one of the hundreds of houses they protect.

Suburban firemen are housed in a station on Gettle Street. Five paid Suburban firemen are led by Chief Buster Gordon, who has been chief of the department since its formation in 1947.

He is aided by Asst. Chief Ray LaMarsha, engineer Roger Wilkinson and drivers Jim Lane and Leo Kamarad. In addition to these men, the Suburban department has on call 40 trained volunteers.

Other meetings in the series are planned for later dates.

6th Graders Visit Forest

Some 300 sixth graders of Klamath County schools were at Doak Mountain Tuesday to participate as students in the second annual Klamath County School Forestry Tour, scheduled for Tuesday through Thursday at Doak Mountain, the Klamath Forest Protective Association has disclosed.

Other sixth graders in similar numbers will attend the one-day classes on Wednesday and Thursday during the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The course is being given to instruct youngsters on the importance of the nation's natural resources, what those resources consist of, and how they are managed and protected.

Instructing the course are representatives of KFFPA, Winema National Forest, Oregon State Board of Forestry, State Game Commission, Weyerhaeuser Company, Soil Conservation Service, Crater Lake National Park, Fire-Ex-Nuff Tree Farms, County Extension Service and the sheriff's office.

Alice Hoover reported that a dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 26 for Booster Night and the annual birthday dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 20, both at Midland Grange Hall.

Seven Seek Lost Wages Plus Punitive Damages

(Continued From Page 1) Plaintiff Keck said he was suspended for 17 days in September and October, 1961, causing him to lose wages of $600. Further, Keck said, he completed another 3,800-mile stretch on Jan. 8, 1962, and requested replacement from Southern Pacific, in accordance with the agreement. But, he stated in his complaint, Southern Pacific refused to relieve him and ordered him to continue working past the limit.

For this, he charges, Lynch caused him to be suspended for six days in February, 1962, and he lost $240 in wages. In addition to the $920 in wages, Keck asks $25,000 punitive damages in the suit.

Plaintiff Whit said he was suspended for seven days in August, 1961, for exceeding the limit and asks $230 in lost wages plus punitive damages.

Plaintiffs Keck, Whit, Corman Smith, and C. H. Skinner Jr. have never been members of Lodge 542. The other three plaintiffs are members of the lodge.

Smith said he was suspended for 11 days in July and August, 1961, and asks $440 in lost wages. Skinner said he was suspended for 49 days in September and October, 1961, and asks $1,960 in lost wages.

Bechtold seeks $720 in lost wages for a 15-day suspension in September, 1961.

McClain alleges he was suspended for 32 days during September and October, 1961 and asks $1,200 in lost wages.

Lynch and the union, in their answers to the suits, contend that proper procedures were utilized in the suspensions and deny the allegations.

School Trustees Discuss Proposal For Bus Driver Training Program

Klamath Falls elementary and high school trustees Monday night discussed a proposed formal training program for school bus drivers.

The trustees, after discussing the proposal at some length, referred it to the administration for further study.

Presently, drivers are trained by other drivers in the operation of school buses. It is proposed that this be replaced by a formal training program in bus operation and such techniques as first aid. Board members indicated they are inclined toward adoption of such a program.

An expected report on the proposal to utilize the then-abandoned Oregon Technical Institute campus next year for high school purposes was not given. Supt. Ray Hunsaker is gathering more data on the proposal for board members.

It was reported that the board's custodial committee will meet soon to formulate policies for custodial working policies in the schools.

The insurance committee reported on the status of the insurance program for Klamath Union High and the elementary schools. This program covering the schools against liability and disaster has been in effect for more than seven years.

Board members were reminded that the Oregon School Study Council of the University of Oregon will hold a meeting Oct. 17 and 18 at Milton-Freewater School. The council studies schools throughout the state with the aim of improving education.

Trustees also were reminded of the convention of the Oregon School Boards Association Nov. 14 and 15 in Portland. A delegation from Klamath Falls to the convention is planned.

The two boards approved a policy which would allow the use of local school buses by other school districts in emergencies. The emergency use of these buses will be contingent upon the transfer of liability to the school district using the buses. It was stated that this policy would come into effect in such a situation as an athletic team bus breaking down.

Youth Flees After Try At Break-In

A youth who was attempting to break into the residence of Ivan S. Epperly, 4012 Austin Street, about 6 p.m. Monday, was frightened away when the owner drove into his driveway, Oregon State Police have reported.

Epperly said he arrived at his home when he observed the youth in the yard at the rear of the residence. Investigation indicated that the youth had broken a rear window in an attempt to enter the house, Epperly told police.

The victim reported that four days ago someone had entered the house and escaped with an undetermined amount of money. Epperly believed that the youth whom he observed in his backyard was the same person who committed the earlier burglary. The youth was judged to be about 13 years old.

Truck Crash Hurts Driver

BLY — A 33-year-old Klamath Falls man was severely injured Monday afternoon when his logging truck overturned on a private logging road 18 miles north of here.

Peace Ambulance reported that Melvin Crumpacker, 430 Washington Street, was taken to Klamath Valley Hospital with possible chest and head injuries and numerous abrasions. He was reported in "satisfactory" condition at the hospital today.

Peace said Crumpacker is an employee of Raymond Logging Company. He was found shortly after the accident by a U.S. Forest Service employee.

Crumpacker apparently lost control of the truck before it overturned. The accident site is 12 miles south of Camp 9.

Proposed Street Vacating Met With Strong Protest

A Klamath Falls businessman strenuously objected Monday night to the proposed vacating of a portion of Oak Street by the city council, and said he would probably file suit if the councilmen persist in the action.

The businessman, Don Van Fleet, councilman and the proponent of the vacating action, John Moehl of Modoc Lumber Company, argued the proposal for an hour and a half before the council decided to postpone a decision.

The council did, however, vacate a portion of Third Street for Modoc Lumber. This was not contested by Van Fleet, who was accompanied by an attorney at the meeting.

Survivors include brothers, C. L. Rouse, Klamath Falls, William Rouse, Mesa, Ariz., and a sister, Mrs. William Bellingham, Klamath Falls.

Van Fleet owns two lots near the foot of Oak Street and adjacent to Lake Ewauna. He said he intends to develop the site into a manufacturing plant and that vacating Oak Street would cut his access to the property by one-half.

Through his attorney, Van Fleet said machinery already at the site is valued at more than $40,000 and the land itself at about $100,000.

Vacating of Oak Street, he said, would leave Second Street as the only access to his property. And, he said, Second Street is congested with lumber and vehicles from Modoc.

Van Fleet said he has plans for developing a small manufacturing plant at the site and would need both rail and road transportation facilities.

Councilman Walter Fleet suggested that vacating Oak Street would actually improve the Second Street access by removing Modoc Lumber traffic from that street and asked Van Fleet's reaction to this suggestion.

"Our reaction, of course, is one of horror," the attorney replied. Moehl said his firm has plans for the development of the site as an industrial park and indicated that several other firms are interested in moving into the site.

He changed his original request and asked for vacating of Oak just between Second and Third and not clear to the lake. Also, he asked vacating Third from Oak to Willow streets. The latter request was granted.

Subdivider John Glubrecht appeared before the council and asked a zoning change for the Loma Linda addition to allow construction of multiple-family residences.

He said several contractors are interested in building six- or eight-unit apartment houses there. The request was referred to the planning commission.

The council set a hearing for Sept. 23 on a request for a permit by Keith O'Hair to build a new mortuary and postponed action on the Klamath Tu-Cable franchise until further information is obtained.
