Museum Receives Gifts And Four Display Cases

Eight exhibits, consisting of six gifts and two loans, were received by the Klamath County Museum during September, curator Mrs. Lloyd Seely has reported.

In addition, the museum obtained four display cases as a gift from LaPointe's Ready-to-Wear, 507 Main Street. The acquisition has enabled the curator to place items on exhibit that had formerly been in storage because of insufficient display space in the museum.

The gifts and their donors: School books (1870-1903), Mike Ward, 3124 Cortez Street; essay on the White Pelican Hotel, Pete Lunde, Box 2472, Oregon Technical Institute; photographs of Indian graves taken in 1910 at Fort Klamath, James P. Noriel of California. Also:

Typewriter with two banks of keys, Mrs. L. Fink, Old Fort Road; whiskey cups and pearl-handled gun used on early-day cattle drive in Kansas, George Rusco; collection of newspapers of the Civil War period, James J. Boyle family, 1883 Portland Street; white cotton chemise made about 1864, Ruth T. Berry, Klamath Falls; baby shoes, spectacles, document and a post card, Mrs. Geneva Duncan, Rte. 1, Box 602.

Loans: Hand forged chain link and a bone bead from Lost River, Lewis Glinkman, 4305 Cottage Avenue; spectacles, Mrs. D. F. Morris, Rte. 3, Box 421A.

Visitors to the museum during September numbered 606, representing the greatest attendance for that month since the building opened some years ago. Of the latest figures, 336 were of this city, 19 were from elsewhere in the county, 243 represented 28 states, and eight were from five foreign countries.

Ten Selected For Academies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., said Monday that she has nominated 10 young men for appointment to the U. S. Military, Air Force and Merchant Marine academies.

They were Donald Andrews, Roseburg; Bobby Beamblossom, Myrtle Creek; Derek Iverson, Eugene; Charles Garner, Coos Bay; Nicholas Crannell, Seneca, and George Derry, Maurie Holman, Craig Mortensen, Michael Potter and Dee Wolfe, all of Portland.

Americans consumed 16.06 pounds of coffee per person in 1961, according to a Census Bureau summary.
