Girl Escapes Returned To Home; Two Missing

One of four teen-age girls who escaped from the Klamath County Juvenile Home Wednesday night surrendered to state police early Thursday as Klamath County law enforcement officers were seeking to locate the fugitives.

Later this morning, County Juvenile Officer Francis Mathews said that another of the missing girls had been located and returned to the juvenile home.

Mathews stated that three of the girls escaped through a window in the girls' dormitory about 8 p.m. and were followed by the other girl who left through the same window some three hours later.

Pair Serves College As Trustees

Two Klamath Falls members of the board of trustees of Lewis and Clark College in Portland will leave Friday to attend the first of four official board meetings scheduled this year.

Rev. Laing Sibbet, minister of the Peace Memorial Presbyterian Church, and Laurence Shaw, president of the Modoc Lumber Company, were elected to the 36-member board in June.

Six other new trustees, all from Portland, were also named for three-year terms. They include a doctor, lawyer, insurance man, and three company presidents.

In addition to attending the regular board meetings, the trustees are divided into committees which meet between sessions. Shaw is a member of the buildings and grounds committee, and Sibbet is on the student affairs committee.

Both men are connected with the college through their sons. Jim Sibbet is a freshman class student, and Tom Shaw is completing his senior year at Lewis and Clark.

Preparing for its centennial celebration in 1967, Lewis and Clark is a liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church. It is currently involved in an extensive expansion program. A new freshman residence hall for 270 students was recently completed, and a co-ed dormitory is scheduled for construction within the next few months.
