

RECEPTION HOSTS — Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Murdock, right, arranged a golden wedding reception for Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Josephson on Sunday, Sept. 29, at Klamath Lutheran Church. Serving them punch is Mrs. Ben Loftsgaard.

Goldenweds Are Honored

Another well-known Klamath Falls couple marking 50 years of marriage this year are Mr. and Mrs. Victor J. Josephson, who were married Sept. 30, 1913, in Great Falls, Mont.

Mrs. Josephson, the former Belle Hanson, was a teacher before her marriage and taught in schools in Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Josephson came to Klamath Falls in June, 1928, with the Great Northern Railway. At that time he was cashier with the company. In 1929 he was promoted to passenger and freight agent, which position he held until his retirement in December of 1954.

During the war years, both the Josephsons were active in Red Cross and USO activities.

Mrs. Josephson is a member of the Order of Eastern Star, White Shrine and Daughters of the Nile. Her husband is affiliated with all Masonic bodies, the Kiwanis Club and has maintained membership in the chamber of commerce for 25 years.

In observance of the special date, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Murdock honored Mr. and Mrs. Josephson on Sunday, Sept. 29, at a reception in the Klamath Lutheran Church where both are active members.

Over 100 friends signed the guest book which was attended by Mrs. Chester Owens and Mrs. Victor Ongman. In addition, several congratulatory long distance telephone calls were received by the honored couple during the afternoon.

Serving tables covered with lace cloths over gold were effective against the background decoration of fall flowers in rich gold and bronze shades.

The three tiered wedding cake trimmed with gold and white was flanked by lighted gold tapers. A

Carolyn Jones Recent Bride

Family members were present for the wedding of Carolyn Edle Jones and Ian Wallace on Sunday, Sept. 8. The quiet impressive ceremony took place in Bellevue Presbyterian Church, Bellevue, Wash., with the Rev. Frank R. Burgess officiating.

Bouquets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums were used as altar decorations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Nelson Jones of Klamath Falls. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Colin Wallace, Bellevue, were also observing their 25th wedding anniversary on their son's wedding day.

The bride wore for her wedding a suit of white brocade with a lily of the valley headdress holding a pouf veil. She carried a corsage of white roses and gardenias and a handkerchief carried by the bridegroom's mother at her wedding. The handkerchief, from England, by tradition is embroidered with the bride's name and wedding date.

Melodee Scott, maid of honor, was dressed in an olive green silk suit matched by a green velvet veiled headband. A pale yellow rose corsage complemented her outfit.

Lawrence Jones, brother of the bride, was best man.

Following the church ceremony reception and dinner for the immediate families was held at The Crab Tree.

The bridal pair spent their honeymoon in San Francisco and Monterey. They also visited in Gilroy, Calif., with the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Isadora Jones.

Going away outfit for the new Mrs. Wallace was a black velvet suit with white accessories. She is a graduate of Klamath Union High School. Both she and her husband attended University of Puget Sound. Presently he is a student at Oregon Technical Institute and they will make their home at 321 Lincoln Street.

Present for the wedding ceremony were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Leola Hawkins McVey, Tacoma, and Mrs. Victor Runo, Bellevue, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Included in the guest list were two nieces of the couple, Mrs. Dean (Lorna) Lillis of Vallejo, Calif., and Mrs. Al (Pat) Dailey of Rochester, N.Y.

Other out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Constans, Redding, former sales manager for Weyerhaeuser Company, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Gardner, Portland, former Great Northern trainmaster in Klamath Falls.

HOME WARNING
Children have a way of popping things in their mouths. They especially like pills and liquids left within their reach. To avoid the possibility of accidental poisoning in your home, keep all medicines, cosmetics, cleaning fluids, rat poisons and insecticides out of a child's reach. Do not store medicinal or chemical substances without proper labels and don't keep these in food containers.

St. Augustine's Church Scene Of Nuptial Vows

On Sept. 7 St. Augustine's Church in Merrill was decorated with white gladioli and tangerine carnations for the exchange of wedding vows between Mary Darlene Bredegen, Merrill, and Richard Joseph Steyskal of Malin. His best man was his brother, Bob Steyskal. Ushers were Bill Rajnus Jr. and Glen Steyskal, the bridegroom's cousin.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bredegen wore a dusty pink lace sheath with beige hat and accessories. Her corsage was a pink throated white orchid. Mrs. Steyskal wore a light green sheath, matching hat, black patent accessories and green orchid.

The wedding reception held in the parish hall with members of the Altar Society in charge under Mrs. James B. Conroy and Mrs. George Pappé.

The cake was baked and decorated by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Stella Darr and the bride's sister, Mrs. Raymond Mattson. Base of the four-tier cake were four hearts inscribed with the names of the bridal couple, the date and church. The confection was elaborately trimmed with flowers, angels and hearts and was topped with a bridal couple under an arch of lily of the valley and bells. It was served by Mrs. Darr and the bride's sister, Mrs. Joe Collins.

Pouring punch were Mrs. Dave Campbell and Mrs. Fred Hess, aunts of the bridegroom, and Stella Perry, cousin of the bride. Others assisting were Mrs. Bruce Hess, aunt of the bridegroom, with corsages; Katherine Ahern at the gift table and Mrs. Johnny Rodgers, the guest book.

The bridal pair left after the reception for a wedding trip to Reno and Lake Tahoe. The bride's going away outfit was a cream wool suit with matching coat, red shoes, bag and hat. At her shoulder was pinned the bridal bouquet orchid.

The couple will make their home in Merrill. Mrs. Steyskal is a graduate of Merrill High School and is employed by First National Bank of Oregon in Merrill. The bridegroom, graduate of Malin High School, attends Oregon Technical Institute and works for Klamath Potato Distributors in Malin.

Our-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Stella Darr, Ridgefield, Wash.; Mrs. Eugene Eckland and daughters, Stella Perry and Mary Baldwin, LaCenter, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hess and family, Reno; Mr. and Mrs. Max Martin Martin and David, Sparks; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hess and Pat, Winnemucca.

Cheri Kay Collins, the bride's niece, and Elizabeth DeLap were flower girls, dressed in yellow dactron dresses with net hats and gloves to match. Each carried a basket of tangerine carnations and golden brown daisies.

Kim Mattson, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Joseph

Silver Lake Ladies Meet

SILVER LAKE — The Silver Lake Community Club met Wednesday evening, Oct. 2, at the schoolhouse with Mrs. Eston Porter as hostess.

The group of ladies of the community combine hobbies and crafts with projects to assist in school. This includes providing room mothers and raising funds for Christmas treats and similar events.

Room mothers to chairman planning are Mrs. Verle Emery, primary room; Mrs. Bill Baracks, intermediate grades, and Mrs. Everett Green, upper grades. Officers of the club, reorganized to coincide with the school year, are Mrs. Russell Emery, president; Mrs. Dick Johnson, vice president; and Mrs. Gordon Emery, secretary-treasurer. Nov. 16 was set as their annual family potluck dinner and fun night, a fund raising event to provide the Christmas treats. Textile painting was October craft project, with work begun on a quilt top.

New ball gown colors range from whites to golds to corals—in gold and coral brocade, gold beaded crepe, sable-trimmed brocade and coral boucle.

"HOME FURNISHING IS OUR BUSINESS"
By BOB CUSHMAN

SLEEP occupies, for most of us, a third of our lives... which means that... of all furnishings in our homes, the one we use most is the mattress on your bed, along with its companion box spring. That makes the selection of a good mattress and box spring one of your most important purchases for the home, not just because of hours of daily use, but because it contributes so much toward your feeling of health and vitality coming from restful sleep.

A sleep set is just about the only purchase you make in home furnishings where you need to be concerned only with service. Appearance has little if anything to do with it. You want a quality ticking because it will last longer... but the pretty pattern isn't any reason for buying.

Mattress comfort, and the choice of a good innerspring or foam rubber mattress is largely an individual matter. Many experts recommend mattresses more toward the firm side than the overly soft, but a light person might prefer the softer mattress.

Your best bet is to stop in at our bedding department. You will find a full selection of sizes and types in quality name brand sleep sets. Test them for comfort, and remember: a good mattress and box spring are one of the best investments you can make.
