Sharkey was one of three American correspondents recently beaten by secret police as they recorded the burning-suicide of a Buddhist monk in Saigon.

The reporter and the petite First Lady of South Viet Nam met Sunday in an NBC studio. "I'm very sorry," Mme. Nhu told Sharkey. "I hope you'll recover soon."

Court Refuses To Hear Cigarette-Cancer Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to consider an appeal by a Louisiana widow who unsuccessfully sued two cigarette firms on the ground they were responsible for her husband's death of lung cancer.

The action was taken at the court's first working session of the new term featured by announcement by the justices of various appeals they were either accepting for argument, or rejecting.

Immediately after announcement of the court orders, the justices began hearing arguments on the first of five Negro sit-in cases that might have far-reaching impact on the right of private business to practice racial discrimination.

The smoking case was brought to the Supreme Court by Mrs. Victoria St. Pierre Lartigue. She sued the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. after the death of her husband in 1955.

In seeking damages, she charged that the sale of cigarettes by the two makers implied a "warranty of wholesomeness."

A New Orleans federal jury ruled against her and the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the finding on April 19 of this year. The Supreme Court's brief order today let the lower court findings stand.

In a similar case, the Florida Supreme Court has ruled that a cigarette company can be held liable for the death of a person. The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals has scheduled re-arguments on the case for Nov. 1.

In the Louisiana case, the circuit court observed that Mrs. Lartigue's husband smoked from the time he was 9 years old. She acknowledged he was a "cigarette fiend." The opinion made no direct reference to a federal government study now being awaited on the possibility of a link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

In other actions today, the Supreme Court:

—Agreed to rule whether a native-born citizen can be expatriated and ordered deported because he served in Fidel Castro's Cuban army. The appeal came from Herman F. Marks, 42, a native of Milwaukee, who has been accused by the Justice Department of handling a number of executions while serving Castro in 1959-60.

—Let stand a circuit court order that could open the way for a strike over job security by the Order of Railway Conductors against the Pullman Co.

Agreed to examine two state-required oaths challenged by 60 employees of the University of Washington at Seattle. A special three-judge federal court had upheld the oath requirements.

—Refused to accept a case brought by the American Civil Liberties Union challenging a California state rule governing leasing of a school auditorium.

—Accepted a case involving whether a witness can gain immunity from antitrust prosecution by testifying on the same subject before a congressional committee.

Solon Eyes Las Vegas Information

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jacobs K. Javits, R-N.Y., wants to question underworld informer Joseph Valachi about crime and gangland connections in the Las Vegas, Nev., gambling center.

Javits, a member of the Senate investigations subcommittee that heard Valachi last week, said Sunday he thought there was "a big story in Las Vegas" and Valachi knew far more than he had testified in public about the gambling oasis.

The investigations subcommittee, with Valachi temporarily excused as a witness, plans to take testimony starting Tuesday on crime in Tampa, Fla., Buffalo, N.Y., and Boston.

Javits said he would try to get more information from Valachi on Las Vegas when the subcommittee resumes questioning the Cosa Nostra alumnus in closed session.

Valachi said in his public testimony that he believed imprisoned Cosa Nostra boss Vito Genovese still had gambling interests in Las Vegas with racketeer Meyer Lansky.

Javits said on a television program that Valachi's appearances before the Senate group had been sensationalized somewhat but that, after all, some of his disclosures had been "pretty sensational." The New York senator pointed out that the hearings had two purposes—to win public support for law enforcement officers and to consider the need for wire-tap and other legislation to crack down on crime.

Korth Quits As Navy Secretary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House announced today the resignation of Navy Secretary Fred Korth. Korth wrote President Kennedy that he made the decision to resign because of "pressing private affairs."

Kennedy said Paul Nitze, now assistant defense secretary for international security affairs, would be nominated to succeed Korth, a former Fort Worth, Tex., banker.

Korth, in his letter of resignation to the President, said he was leaving the post with "the utmost regret."

Korth asked that his resignation take effect Nov. 1.

He said he wanted to "return to private business and attend to my pressing private affairs."

Korth was among Defense Department officials who figured in the explosive Senate investigation of the TFX warplane contract award.

The President, in a "Dear Fred" letter, praised Korth for his "real contribution to the advancement of United States national security interests." He asserted:

"The nation is in your debt for your many years of public service, including this last period of almost two years when you have worked so devotedly to strengthen the United States Navy."

The White House announcement said that Nitze would be replaced in his sensitive security post by William P. Bundy, currently his deputy assistant.

Korth was questioned for days on end by Senate investigators in their TFX inquiry, and there were suggestions both within and outside the subcommittee of a possibility of conflict of interest on his part.

Surprise Vote Returns Document For Rewriting

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Ecclesiastical Council fathers in a surprise vote today sent back for rewriting a document authorizing the use of modern languages and other reforms in the Mass.

The document in question is Chapter Two of the liturgical reform project which the prelates debated for three weeks at their first session last autumn. In a series of votes last week they gave overwhelming approval to 19 specific amendments to the chapter, including four which spelled out in detail authorization for the use of the vernacular—the ordinary language of the people—instead of Latin in large portions of the Mass.

Today's vote was an approval of the chapter as a whole. In voting on the amendments last week the fathers had only two choices: They could vote yes or no. Today, however, they had a third choice. They could vote "Yes, with reservations."

Since 2,242 ballots were cast, 1,495 votes were required to make up the necessary two-thirds majority for final approval of the whole chapter. But the chapter received only

Negro Leaders Plan Showdown With Birmingham City Officials

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Integration leaders Martin Luther King Jr. and Fred Shuttlesworth return here today for a showdown with city officials on their demands for more desegregation.

The two Negro leaders who led the massive racial demonstrations here that exploded into violence and led to more than 2,500 arrests, issued an ultimatum last week that 25 Negro policemen must be hired by next Tuesday.

They vowed to lead the Negro community in more and bigger demonstrations if their demands are not met.

Both King and Shuttlesworth have emphasized, however, that employment of the Negro policemen is only the first step. They also demanded "face-to-face" negotiations between Negro leaders and the city council to arrange better job opportunities for Negroes in other areas of government.

Gov. George Wallace was to appear on local television late today and was expected to discuss the racial situation and hold a news conference.

The Community Affairs Committee on Human Relations, composed of 14 whites and nine Negroes, adopted a resolution Friday urging Mayor Albert Boutwell to change the city's policy of hiring only white policemen. Many of the city's most influential business and civic leaders previously had made the same recommendation.

Earlier the mayor said he would not answer the King and Shuttlesworth demand but Saturday a spokesman announced Boutwell was considering the committee recommendation.

Clinton, La.: At least 45 pickets were arrested during the weekend while protesting segregation customs in stores. Most of the arrests came Saturday, but four members of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) were arrested Sunday.

Chicago: Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy told an audience in Chicago Sunday that the administration's civil rights legislation "has become an article of faith, testing whether white Americans can put aside sectional and political differences to meet racial problems."

He said the "whole nation will be the loser" if Congress rejects the measure.

Greensboro, N.C.: About 200 Negroes paraded before a segregated theater Sunday night. The demonstration was orderly and there were no arrests.

Charlotte, N.C.: Auth-horist Harry Golden urged Negroes attending a convention of the North Carolina NAACP Sunday to use their ballots to oust Southern office holders who block their quest for better treatment.

Jackson, Miss.: Negroes attempted to attend two all-white Methodist and Episcopal churches here Sunday but were refused entry and left quietly.
