JFK Foreign Aid Plan In 'Deep, Deep Trouble'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today that President Kennedy's foreign aid program was in "deep, deep trouble" because of a "harder appraisal" by Congress and the country.

The Illinois Republican would not speculate on how much of Kennedy's original $4.5 billion authorization request might ultimately be approved by Congress.

But his statement, made in an interview, supported speculation that the administration may finally get little more than the $3.5 billion voted by the House.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate

Foreign Relations Committee which went back to work on the bill at a closed session today, agreed that the program faced difficulty. But "it's always in trouble," he told reporters.

Fulbright said he would hold sessions every day this week if possible in hopes of finishing committee action and sending the long-delayed measure to the floor. But he would make no predictions as to how soon or how much the committee would finally vote.

"We will just plow our corn as we go along," he said.

The foreign relations group sidetracked the authorization measure more than two months ago to work on the limited test ban treaty. In the meantime, opposition — at least to some parts of it — appears to have increased rather than calmed down.

Dirksen said "the number of recipient countries is going down," and there are other areas in which many senators feel the aid program "isn't doing anything worthwhile."

Compared with past years, he said, "the program is in infinitely more trouble — deep, deep trouble."

Illinois City Hard Hit By Arsonist

MONMOUTH, Ill. (UPI) — A "mad arsonist" set a series of fires that leveled two lumberyards and nearly destroyed a metal firm early today.

State police posted armed guards around the Monmouth Hospital and the Colonial Nursing Home when the arsonist made an anonymous telephone threat that the two institutions were "next."

Authorities also placed guards around all industrial plants and throughout the business district of this west-central Illinois community of 10,000 persons.

The Monmouth Lumber Co., occupying a quarter block on the west side of town, and the Fullerton Lumber Co., which ranged over half a block on the south side, were destroyed. Half of the Monmouth Metal Cult Co. burned to the ground.

A fire at the Warfield-McCullough Lumber Co. in the center of the town burned itself out. There were false alarms at the Lincoln Elementary School, a grocery store and at the hospital.

"The fires definitely were the work of a mad arsonist," Monmouth Fire Chief Dale Moore said.

Flames shot hundreds of feet into the air and more than a dozen fire departments rushed to the scene. The constant wail of the sirens and the blinking of red lights brought most of the people of the town into the streets at one time or another during the night.

Smith Gets Promotion

LAKEVIEW — Joseph Smith, highway engineer on the Fremont National Forest, is being promoted and transferred to the Mapleton district of the Siuslaw National Forest, according to Carl W. Simpson, Fremont supervisor.

He will be assigned as district engineer in charge of investigation, planning, programming, design, construction, and maintenance of road and trail systems.

Smith, whose transfer was effective Oct. 13, received his appointment to the Fremont in 1962. Prior to that he served for six years as district forester for the Florida Forest Service at Ocala and Lakeland. He was employed as highway design engineer from 1953 to 1956 for the U.S. Forest Service in Great Falls, Mont.

A graduate of the University of Washington, Smith received his masters degree in forestry in 1952 from Oregon State University. He is a veteran of World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have four children, two boys and two girls.

Department To Report Drug Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government was expected to report today that a study of medical records of 504 patients who were given Krebienin failed to establish the value of the drug as a cancer treatment.

Officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare scheduled a press briefing for 2 p.m., EDT, today on the National Cancer Institute's often-postponed report on its study of the records.

Until now, the department has maintained consistently that sponsors of Krebienin have failed to furnish enough data to prove the efficacy of the so-called cancer drug.

"I think the study of the medical records will show no change in this position," an informed source said. "The report is couched in conservative scientific language but it is definitely critical."

The report is based on a study begun Aug. 12 by a panel of experts specially picked for the task by Dr. Kenneth Endicott, director of the institute. The members of the panel locked themselves in a Washington motel from Aug. 12 to Aug. 17 to prepare the study.

Gilchrist Sixth Graders Make Forest Field Trip

GILCHRIST — Gilchrist sixth grade students took a field trip to the Crescent District of the Deschutes National Forest on Oct. 9 to study the recreational facilities and ways they are developed.

Accompanying the 34 members of the class were Stanley Torrance, sixth grade teacher, and two parents, Mrs. Henry Clark and Mrs. Harry Gardner. The trip was conducted by District Ranger Leslie Yates, with J. D. Tomlinson driving the school bus.

Leaving Gilchrist at 9 a.m., the group first stopped at Crescent Lake and hiked a short distance on the Oregon Skyline Trail, noting trail signs, trail blazes, and water bars which protect the trail from erosion. At the Spring Campground, the construction foreman, Wayne Kenney of Gilchrist, explained the new facilities under construction by the forest service.

En route to the Students Lake Campground, the students observed slash piling work, which resulted when the blowdown timber was logged following last year's Columbus Day storm, and summer homes damaged by the storm. The recently completed campground was the site selected for lunch.

The final stop was at Odell Butte Lookout, where the class hiked the last half-mile because the road is still under construction and unsuitable for school bus travel. The one-year-old tower at Odell Butte is unoccupied during this season, but the students were briefed on the use of the firefinder for locating smokes. The group returned to Gilchrist around 5 p.m. to compare notes for a report on the trip.

Castro Victim To Speak Before Knife-Fork Club

What it feels like to lose a million dollars worth of property and the accumulations of a lifetime to a rebel like Fidel Castro, and barely escape with your life and that of your family's, is the story members of the Klamath Falls Knife and Fork Club will hear Wednesday evening, Oct. 16, at their dinner meeting at the Winema Hotel.

Telling the story will be native-born Dr. Nicolas Gonzalez de Mendoza, business and professional man, owner of property including a $120,000 ocean-front home which Castro himself usurped and lived in while the Mendoza family was shut out over to the "guest house," before being given the opportunity to "get out with $5 and our lives."

The speaker comes from one of Cuba's most prominent and progressive families. His grandfather was the first chief justice of the Supreme Court of Cuba in 1902 following the liberation of the island from Spain. He attended college in the United States and during the
