

First Lady Returns Home

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"There's mommy!" the little boy cried, and he tugged at the restraining hand of the President of the United States.

Two-year-old John F. Kennedy Jr. could hardly contain himself Thursday night at National Airport as he and the other members of his family welcomed his mother home from a three-week storybook cruise of the Mediterranean.

The First Lady, sunburned and beaming, was presented a gift-wrapped clay bird's nest by her daughter Caroline, almost 6, as a welcome home present when she stepped from the small jet transport that had taken her from New York's Idlewild Airport.

Caroline quietly held her father's hand most of the time. But John Jr., who will be 3 next month, was more impatient and he shouted when he saw Mrs. Kennedy's plane touch down.

Long-legged Caroline was first up the steps of the plane, however, followed rapidly by little brother. The President greeted his wife privately aboard the plane, then escorted the family toward a waiting limousine. As they sat down John Jr. jumped into his mother's lap.

White House officials described Mrs. Kennedy's Mediterranean vacation as "a needed change of scenery." She still was recovering from the Caesarean birth and death in August of an infant son, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy flew from Paris to New York and then to Washington. She arrived in the French capital on a flight from Marrakech, Morocco where she was a guest of King Hassan II.

ZOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO

(What the '64 Plymouth has)

Our new Plymouth has up to 365 horsepower worth of ZOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO (optional, of course). That's important to some people.

Others don't feel they need that much Zoom. They stick with the high performance of our standard V-8, or the economy of our standard six.

What's important to you . . . no matter how you like your power . . . is a car that's designed to make the best possible use of it.

Power-hungry or not, test-drive the new Plymouth. Then you'll know why we say, "Get up and go Plymouth." It does . . . and you should.
