

EAT 'EM UP — This float in Friday's Klamath Union Homecoming Parade plainly illustrates what the KU Pelicans hoped to do to the Medford Black Tornado Friday night — eat 'em up. But unfortunately the Pelicans weren't able to match their hopes with deeds as they lost to the Medford team, 34-0.

PELICAN IN ANGER — An angry Pelican in this Homecoming float is stuffing Medford High's Black Tornado into a stove. It was one of many in the parade for the Homecoming game with the Medford team. Patty Bratton was named Homecoming queen.

Hatfield Claims He's Not Candidate For GOP President Or Vice President

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield said emphatically Friday he is not a candidate for the Republican nomination for president or vice president next year. He arrived here for a speaking engagement Sunday evening at a University of Arizona forum. In an interview at the Tucson airport, Hatfield, however, left the door ajar for a possible try at high political office next year.

2nd Sentry Sent Aloft

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — America's second sentry satellite Saturday joined its twin "watchdog" moonlet in a record high orbit around the earth to patrol against possible sneak nuclear testing in space. The achievement was viewed by scientists as a virtual foolproof safeguard to test the nuclear test ban treaty signed recently between the United States and Russia is not violated in space. At 3:40 a.m. PDT scientists flashed a signal from this Pacific Missile Range base that triggered a rocket on the second space Sentinel, and a short time later it attained the 60,000-to-72,000-mile-high orbit in which its companion satellite already was swinging around the earth. Scientists said that both of the space "watchdogs" were operating as planned and that communications were good.

De Gaulle May Establish Relations With Red China

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle of France is seriously considering the idea of recognizing Communist China, reliable French sources said Saturday. He may establish normal diplomatic relations with Peking, if he can do so and still maintain relations with the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, the sources said. De Gaulle's plans in this field were being kept strictly under cover. French officials refused all comment and denied knowledge of any imminent action. But among a number of straws in the wind were these: —Guillaume Georges-Picot, a retired French diplomat of great experience and former ambassador to the United Nations and several Latin American countries, headed a recent French businessmen's mission to Red China. He was briefed by De Gaulle personally before leaving. —Former French Premier Edgar Faure currently is paying his second visit to Peking. He also had a long private talk with De Gaulle before leaving for Peking. Government sources said De Gaulle has been consulting regularly since June with Faure and other French experts on Chinese affairs.

Anti-Tito Posters Go Unused' In California

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (UPI) — A graveyard scene with the name Tito on a headstone was depicted in the more than 100 posters put up along the route the Yugoslav president was to take here Friday before his California visit was canceled. Nearly all of the posters were 23 x 14 inches in size with Tito's name in red on a headstone that also had a broken hammer and sickle, with plants and budding flowers below. A Mariposa sheriff's office spokesman noted that there was more than 60 miles of brush and timber land through which the Tito motorcade was to have traveled along Highway 140. He said it would have been nearly impossible to completely patrol the area against any assassination attempt. A four-foot square poster made out of cardboard also was found in Mariposa County with "Tito You Butcher Go Home" printed on it. The smaller posters were mass produced by silk screen process. They apparently were put up sometime during the night before Tito was to have arrived at Yosemite Friday afternoon to stay overnight at the park before journeying to San Francisco Saturday.

U.S. Denies Red Flights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department Friday branded as "utterly false" a published report that Soviet long-range reconnaissance planes had overflown the United States in recent days. A Pentagon spokesman said the report published by a German newspaper in Hamburg "is completely untrue." The newspaper said "Bear" planes had been overflying Texas to gather information on the big American troop-movement exercise, "Big Lift," scheduled for Tuesday. The Pentagon cited a similar denial from the commander of the operation in Austin, Tex., who implied that the Russian planes would be destroyed if they tried any such mission. The Pentagon also scoffed at the newspaper's comparison of the Russian planes with the American U2. "The Bear is one of their biggest bombers," the spokesman said. The U2 is a relatively light, single-jet craft designed especially for non-combat missions. Officers arrested Mrs. Glenda M. Yarber, a pregnant mother of two young daughters, on suspicion of the murder of eight-month-old Bernadette Stinson. The woman was arrested Friday night, several hours after the baby died. She told officers she went to a movie after she crammed the baby head-first into the drain of a washbowl and filled the bowl with water. Halfway through the show, she said, she realized what she had done and went back to the bar where she was recognized by a cocktail waitress who called police. Officers quoted her as saying the baby "had been crying and getting on my nerves." Mrs. Yarber had been living with Bernadette's mother, Mrs. Jane Stinson, who is separated from her husband. The suspect told police her husband was living in Massachusetts and she came here four months ago. An unidentified sailor said he saw a woman enter the bar and walk directly to the rest room with the baby. A short while later, he said, she walked out alone. The sailor told the bartender who sent a waitress into the restroom. She screamed and several patrons brought out the infant and attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. The baby was dead on arrival at Central Emergency Hospital.

Two Killed In Crashes

By United Press International A crash 3 1/2 miles north of Diamond Lake Friday night claimed the life of Pauline Burrows, 49, of Shady Cove and injured three other persons, State Police reported. Mrs. Burrows was one of two persons to die as a result of highway accidents in the first few hours of the weekend. Mrs. Harold E. Griffin, 20, of Bend died in a hospital Saturday of injuries suffered in a crash Thursday. Injured in the Diamond Lake crash were Chester Burrows, husband of the victim; Johnny William Moorhead, 29, and Ronald Schneider, 19, both of Idlewild Route, Roseburg. All suffered head injuries and were listed in fair condition. State police said a station wagon driven by Moorhead apparently was making a U-turn in a dip in the highway when it was struck by the Burrows car. Mrs. Griffin was injured when she drove her car out of a side road and it collided with a cattle truck and trailer near Bend.

THEY AGREE — Andrew Ortis, collector of facts on the Klamath Indians, and Mrs. Ima Jimenez, both of Klamath Falls, are interested in the recently published volumes compiled by H. A. R. Barker, "Klamath Dictionary," and "Klamath Texts." The two volumes published by the University of California Press may be ordered through local bookstores.

Reports Indicate Kennedy Asked Korth To Resign

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Navy Secretary Fred Korth said farewell to the Navy and Marine Corps Saturday amid continuing reports that his resignation, effective Nov. 1, was requested by the White House. At an early hour this afternoon, Korth had not yet commented directly on the reports, but he told the 850,000 men in the sea services that the decision was entirely his own. "My decision to return to private life was reached only because extremely pressing and long neglected private matters may be delayed no longer," the former Ft. Worth, Tex., banker said in a message to all commands. He added: "My departure is only physical, for my ardor for the Navy and Marine Corps will never be lost." Korth submitted his resignation suddenly Oct. 11. It was accepted by President Kennedy a week ago Saturday. The resignation came immediately after Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had decided against a proposal backed by Korth to install nuclear power in the Navy's next super aircraft carrier.

Guerneville Hit By Fire

GUERNEVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — Fire early Saturday destroyed virtually an entire block in the heart of this Russian River resort town 60 miles northwest of San Francisco. Fire Commissioner John Ferez estimated damage at $500,000. Sonoma County deputy sheriff James Listoe discovered the blaze shortly before 3 a. m. at Bob's Gay 90's, a bar. Before the blaze was controlled at 5:30 a. m., a super market, two restaurant-bars, a bar, a sporting goods store and an ice cream parlor lay in ruins. Only a drug store and restaurant survived the fire. Flames shot 150 feet in the air and the intense heat cracked plate glass windows across the street.

Two New Publications Trace Klamath Indians

By RUTH KING Andrew (Andy) Ortis, who has been accumulating historical facts on the Klamath Indians since his mother, Mrs. Ernestine Ortis, then of Chiloquin, gave him a copy of "Captain Jack, Modoc Renegade," when he was in the sixth grade, has added two more volumes to his "considerable library." Doris Palmer Payne, author of Captain Jack, once lived in Klamath Falls and was on the staff of the Herald and News. The two new publications are "Klamath Texts" and "Klamath Dictionary," compiled by M. A. R. Barker, Tacoma, who also wrote his findings for a Ph. D. at the University of California. They were published by the University of California Press. The second volume, "Klamath Texts" in 197 pages, carries myths told in the Klamath language by Pansy Ohles, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Pompey, Robert David, Billet Lobert, Mrs. Aggie Butler, and Miss Irene Skellock, all Klamath. The texts were collected during the summers of 1955, 1956, and 1957 when Barker spent the months on the Klamath Indian Reservation at Chiloquin. The field work was carried out under the auspices of the Survey of Department of Indian Languages, Department of Linguistics, University of California, Berkeley. Many of the texts were recorded directly on tape, but some were taken down first in dictated form and were taped later. No really exhaustive attempt was made to obtain a complete collection of Klamath myths, the author states. Instead, he aimed at a representative collection of materials, including myths, autobiographical experiences, ethnographic texts, historical incidents and conversations. The Barker volumes are by no means the first such material researched for posterity. Albert Samuel Gatschet spent several years compiling such material gathering some of his information from Indians who had been in the Modoc War. Mrs. Robert O. Odell, 227 Ewauna Street, daughter of the late H. E. Momyer, the first post trader on the Klamath Indian Reservation, owns two volumes on the Klamaths written by Gatschet and published in 1890 by the Washington, D.C., Printing Office. One volume of his work contains legends and stories given by Winema, Curley Ball and many other members of the tribe, now gone. The second volume contains a Klamath-English dictionary and an English-Klamath dictionary of the pure native tongue of the Klamath Tribe. Years later, Leslie Spier, of the University of California at Berkeley, made a study of religion and social organization among the Klamaths in which many words are defined and pronounced and in which frequent references are made to Gatschet's works. Spier's study was also published by the University of California Press. More recently Dr. Theodore Stern of the University of Oregon has collected a large number of Klamath myths. Barker, since 1957, has been connected with the Institute of Islamic Studies, McGill University, Montreal, Canada, where he teaches Urdu, Arabic and general linguistics. This most recent addition to Andrew Ortis' library, joins about 25 other volumes ranging from Fremont's Memoirs, published in 1849, to the present, including copies on basketry, dances, wars, and languages. Ortis, trainmaster's clerk for the Great Northern Railroad, also favors Indian foods, apaws, wocoks (woks in Klamath), wild mustard seed, and water potato or arrow leaf. He is Klamath on his mother's side, of Italian parentage on his father's. He was on the membership roll at the Klamath Agency at the time of the reservation termination. His mother now lives in Springfield. It is an interesting experience to dip into the Klamath Texts, written by Barker... the titles "Skunk and His Sister-in-Law," "The Red-Haired Woman of Sprague River," "Old Mink and Nighthawk," and "The Crater Lake Myth," were told around the camp fires before gun shots ever echoed across the country of the Klamaths.

HONOR MRS. SUKARNO — JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI) — Indonesia's First Lady, Mrs. Fatmawati Sukarno, was awarded the title of "Supreme Mother" Saturday by the Union of Government Women Employees for her "services to the nation."
