79 Tested Bulls Go At Modoc Sale

ALTURAS—Seventy nine rate of gain tested bulls were sold for a total of $38,750 at the 19th annual Modoc County range bull sale on Sunday, Oct. 13. The sale average was $490.50, considerably lower than last year's average of $619.

Cattlemen and committee members attributed the dip in the sale average to the recent fluctuation in the cattle market and the fact that because of the lowered market many cattlemen have not as yet sold their cattle for the year. The top 10 bulls, however, maintained a high average of $787, while the top 24 averaged $654.

Grand champion bull of the sale for the second year in a row was raised by Frank Turner of Sattley, Calif., who again received the Modoc County Cattlemen's trophy The Turner bull sold for $1,275 to Kenneth Morrison of Agoura, Calif. This bull made a gain on the test of 2.14 pounds per day since the first of May and 2.25 pounds per day since his birth.

The reserve champion bull, raised by the Bennett Hereford Ranch of Chico, Calif., was purchased by Brice Euer of Folsom, Calif., for $800.

The high gaining bull of the bull test, owned by the Pitchfork Cattle Company of Vinton, Calif., was bought by Bill Cockrell of Eagleville for $500. Interesting to note was that although this bull was the 34th offered for sale and the sale average on the bulls had begun to drop, it jumped back up on the top gaining bull. He showed a daily gain of 3.27 per day. This showed the buyers faith in the rate of gain statistics which have proven that offspring from fast gaining bulls are also fast gaining calves.

Carl L. Garrison, recently nominated "Cattleman of the Year for California," bought nine of the top 20 bulls for the Porter Estate Cattle Company.

The next biggest buyer of the sale was Herman Weber of Alturas, who bought nine of the rate of gain bulls.

The bulls were sifted and graded Saturday by a sifting committee on conformation and record of their rate of gain during the test since May 1 and since the date of birth.

The grade of the bull was determined by the index rating formulated at the University of California at Davis. Each bull's rate of gain during the test and since birth, along with the conformation grade, was shown on the sale sheet and announced at the time of sale. There were 81 bulls put on pasture for the test. Two bulls were sifted by the committee and not entered in the sale.

CHAMPION BULL OWNER — For the second consecutive year, Frank Turner, left, received the trophy for raising the grand champion bull at the rate of gain tested range bull sale in Cedarville. Presenting the award is the Modoc County Cattlemen's president, Dwayne McGarva. Seventy nine of the 81 bulls put on pasture for the rate of gain test were sold for a total of $38,750.

CHAMBER COMMENTS

by GEORGE T. CALLISON
Manager
KLAMATH COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The chamber's board of directors, at its luncheon meeting last Wednesday, approved a new meeting schedule for the current fiscal year which calls for three board meetings per month as contrasted to the five or six meetings which have been held monthly during the past year.

The schedule calls for a luncheon meeting on the second Wednesday of each month, an evening policy and planning session on the third Wednesday, and another luncheon meeting on the fourth Wednesday. There will be no board meetings the first week of the month or during the fifth week should there be one, unless it is a special meeting called by the president.

Chamber president James F. Stilwell has announced that it is his intention to schedule speakers for the luncheon meetings on the second Wednesday of each month, while the meetings on the fourth Wednesday will be business sessions. The speakers may be from the local area or from Eugene, Salem, Portland, San Francisco—wherever anyone is available who has a message of vital interest or importance to the local chamber membership.

At last Wednesday's meeting President Stilwell announced the assignment of directors to the seven major work areas contained in the chamber's 7 by '70 long-range development program.

This week, through the chamber's own publication, "Keynotes," all members will be asked to fill out a questionnaire indicating the area or areas in which they would like to serve as committee members. It is anticipated that by the time of the board's policy and planning meeting in November, all committees will be organized, fully staffed, and ready to move ahead on both their program of work for this year and the long-range plans for the years between now and 1970.

Today marks the start of National Forest Products Week, a week which should and will receive more than casual observance in Klamath County where our forest products contribute so extensively to the economy.

Just how extensive this contribution to the county's economy is can be gained from just a few statistics. According to estimates released by the Western Pine Association, Klamath County mills produced 360,783,000 feet of lumber during 1962 which was valued at approximately $27,829,375.

Other figures, released by the Klamath Falls office of the Oregon Department of Employment show peak employment of 3,013 persons in logging and lumber in 1962 and the logging and lumber payroll during the year amounting to $15,377,286.
