

Campground Will Close Temporarily Board Postpones Adoption Of Rules

Superintendent Irvin D. Kerr announced that the campground at Lava Beds National Monument will be temporarily closed, starting next Monday, Oct. 23, 1963. The closure is due to construction work presently being done that will more than double the capacity of the camping area.

Club Plans Election

The Klamath Chapter, Morse Telegraph Club will hold a banquet on Saturday evening, Oct. 26, in the Eagles Hall. Election of officers for 1966 will follow the dinner.

The local chapter was formed last March and is affiliated with 85 other chapters throughout the United States and Canada. The club is dedicated to the founder of the Morse system of telegraphy and to preserve its memory, said John L. Atkinson, Klamath chapter president.

All telegraphers, either Morse or International, are welcome to membership in the club.

Defense Turns Tide

North and South would have been better advised to get to three no-trump. There would be no trouble with that contract. South should take most of the blame. If he had merely bid three spades North would surely have tried three no-trump, but once South jumped to four there was nothing that North could do about it.

Offhand it looks as if four spades would make also, but strangely enough South wound up going down two tricks. It wasn't really his fault, but rather because West came up with the killing defense.

West's king of diamonds held the first trick and he noted that his partner had followed with the lowest diamond. A shift was clearly indicated and West saw no reason to lead a trump or a club. A trump lead would give declarer immediate control of the play and as for a club lead it was obvious that South held the ace. Hence, West led a heart.

Most players would have had no trouble coming to that conclusion, but most players would have proceeded to lead the three spot. This play would not have worked. The ace would be played from dummy and East would take his queen. East could return anything he wished, but South would be able to make his 10 tricks.

West thought a little further and led the king, not the three spot. This play insured a set, but South lost an extra trick. He let the king of hearts hold. West continued with a low heart and South finessed dummy's jack. East took his queen and led back a club, where South still had to lose a club and a heart.

You, South, hold:

What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. You have 14 points plus a ten spot. You might have less and couldn't really have much more than three no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Again your one-diamond opening has been doubled and redoubled. East bids two clubs. What do you do in this case?

ing built, a third camping "loop" is being added, the present camp sites are being improved, and a new campfire circle is being constructed. Superintendent Kerr stated that additional features will include electrical outlets in the new and old comfort stations, new fireplaces, and new picnic tables. Construction should be completed, and the campground reopened to public use some time in December.

This project at the Lava Beds is a part of the Mission 66 program of the National Park Service, which is a 10-year program designed to bring park service area facilities up to the levels required by the ever-increasing numbers of visitors to the parks and monuments. Mission 66 will be completed in 1966, the 50th anniversary of the National Park Service.

In commenting on the continued increase in visitor numbers, Kerr stated that as of Oct. 1, 1963, over 63,000 people had visited the Lava Beds this year. This is an 11 per cent increase over last year.

Presents Credentials

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—New U.S. Ambassador Adm. George W. Anderson presented his credentials to Portuguese President Adm. America Thomaz Tuesday. Anderson succeeds Burke C. Elbrick.

SALEM (UPI)—The Board of Education today postponed adoption of rules governing allotment of basic school funds to public schools providing part-time training for parochial and private school students.

But the board made it clear the regulations would be adopted, because there was no other choice.

The attorney general ruled recently that public schools should be reimbursed for parochial students enrolled on a part-time basis, and that the public schools were required by law to accept such part-time students.

Large male lions weigh up to 500 pounds — almost twice as much as their mates.

The issue was brought to life after a parochial school at Cottage Grove enrolled its seventh and eighth graders in the public school for half a day.

The Cottage Grove school asked the attorney general to rule on whether it had to accept the students, and if so, if it could get basic school funds for the parochial students' attendance.

Education Board Chairman Eugene Fisher of Elkton commented "this is an extremely sensitive subject throughout the United States today."

Board member Ronald Jones, Brooks, said "the situation is developing when private schools will start looking for state aid in this fashion, especially as education costs increase." Public instruction Supt. Leon P. Minear pointed out "we have to accept the students. It's the law. We have no option."

James L. Turnbull, deputy superintendent, said as a matter of practice parochial students have been attending public schools on a part-time basis for some time, but he added "I don't think the schools have been reimbursed for this in the past."

The formal adoption of regulations was postponed at the request of Tom Woods, Beaverton superintendent, and Russell Esvelt, Lake Oswego superintendent, who suggested the state's public school superintendents should discuss the issue before the state board took any action.
