

Coin Switch Discovered

DETROIT (UPI) — John G. Adams, a bank teller, made one mistake in his switching scheme which netted him more than $2,000 in the last 15 months.

Adams, 29, switched pennies for dimes and nickels for quarters in money bags kept in the vault of a branch of the National Bank of Detroit.

He told Federal Bureau of Investigation agents that he had been pulling his switching act since August, 1962 and his mistake was made when he forgot which bags he was switching.

His mistake was compounded when he handed another teller a bag which was supposed to contain $500 in dimes but which had only $45 in pennies.

Adams said he kept the weights of the bags within four pounds of their true weights in case bank examiners became suspicious.

Adams pleaded guilty Wednesday to the charge of embezzlement before federal Judge Wade H. McCree Jr. He was released on $1,000 personal bond for a report from the probation department. If found guilty, Adams could receive five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.
