

WORLD COMMUNITY DAY — Planning for the 20th annual World Community Day observance on Nov. 1 are the officers of the Klamath Falls United Church Women, from left, Mrs. Lewis Stork, president; Mrs. Vance Shepard, secretary; Mrs. C. C. Copeland, treasurer; and Mrs. Steve Moss, vice president. Both the national and state directors of UCW leadership education will be guest speakers for the program to be held in the First Presbyterian Church.

United Church Women To Observe World Community Day Anniversary

Klamath Falls United Church Women will mark the 20th anniversary of World Community Day on Nov. 1 with a special program at the First Presbyterian Church.

The theme of the 1963 program, "Nation Building: A Channel to Peace," will be carried out by representatives from each of the 10 churches in the local UCW organization.

The first World Community Day was held in the midst of war, and the observance has been continued each year on the first Friday in November. With its 20th anniversary coming at a time when conflict has been avoided but peace not yet established, the continuing emphasis is on peace.

This special day provides an opportunity for all committees of local councils of United Church Women, denominations related to the National Council of Churches, local churches of the cooperating communions, and all races, nationalities, and economic groups to work together for those things which build for peace.

Since World Community Day was initiated, millions of bundles of clothing, blankets, yard goods, layettes, home medical kits, and school bags have been sent overseas annually by United Church Women to meet acute human need and gain friends.

The contributions of the Klamath Falls church women to this year's effort includes assembling friendship packets to help refugee and destitute families in Cuba and Brazil.

The packets, valued at approximately $2 each, contain such health aids as wash cloths, tooth brushes, tooth paste, and soap, and are made possible with funds donated by the individual UCW circles of member churches. The packets will be dedicated during the WCD program.

Mrs. Mae Moss is chairman of the World Community Day observance which will begin at 12:30 p.m. with a potluck luncheon.

Two prominent United Church Women officials, Miss Helen B. Turnbull, national director of leadership education, and Mrs. Pauline Doran, state director of leadership education, will be the guest speakers.

Miss Turnbull of New York City has served as associate secretary of the Department on Cooperation of Men and Women in Church and Society, World Council of Churches, Geneva, Switzerland. For her own church the Protestant Episcopal, she was director of Windham House in New York City, the National Graduate Training Center for women, and executive secretary for college work in New England.

With a B.A. in sociology and economics from Goucher College and an M.A. in religious education from Teachers College, Columbia University, the national officer has done further study at Union Theological Seminary, Winthrop House, Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass., and at St. Margaret's House in Berkeley, Calif.

The united offering received during the worship service will be used to sponsor a special program at the new Church Center for the United Nations in New York. "A Summer at the Center" is scheduled in 1964 to train selected women leaders for effective peace action.

In addition to this leadership program, the offering will benefit the World Community Day scholarships and the training programs which United Church Women regularly support in Chile and Brazil.

The officers of the local UCW organization are Mrs. Lewis Stork, president; Mrs. Moss, vice president; Mrs. Vance Shepard, secretary; and Mrs. Clarence Copeland, treasurer.

MERRILL OBSERVANCE
The Merrill Presbyterian Church will host a World Community Day observance on Nov. 1 for all women from churches in the Lower Klamath Basin. The program will begin at 10:30 a.m.

A luncheon will be served and a nursery will be provided for children. For reservations call Merrill 798-5535 or 798-5885 or write Mrs. Paul Lewis, Merrill.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
"Except ye be converted and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven."
(Matt. 18:3)
These words of Jesus gives us one reason why many who profess Christianity are restless, unhappy in their religion. They have never completely surrendered to God. Pride, love of the world stands in the way. We resist the idea of true surrender.
The simplicity, trustfulness of the child is necessary. God is good, He will readily receive, but He will never force. We must come to Him in penitence and humility. We need to accept His plan for saving without resentment or reluctance. May each of us have the simplicity and trustfulness of a child as we seek God through Christ. Obedience to His Gospel will lead us to life eternal. God's love manifested through His Son will compel us and we will not resist the idea of complete surrender to God's Way.

Faith Tabernacle Stages Fourth Annual Convention

The Fourth Annual All Saints Convention is slated Oct. 30-31 and Nov. 1 at the Faith Tabernacle, with the opening service at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. On Thursday and Friday there will be three special services each day, at 10 a.m., 2:30 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. A T. L. Osborn miracle film, "Filipino Passion," will be shown preceding the Thursday evening service at 8:30.

Bible Drama Set Tuesday

"The Triumph of the King of Kings," a dramatic presentation of the Deity and Lordship of Christ given in the form of 316 verses of the Scripture from 40 Bible passages, will be presented at the First Christian Church on Tuesday evening, Oct. 29.

The drama will be performed by Walter E. Stram, who quotes the passages entirely from memory. President of the Global Gospel Service, Inc., as well as an internationally known evangelist, educator, and missionary, Stram has presented the drama to audiences all over the North American Continent and in the West Indies.

Rev. Robert L. John, host minister, invites the public to hear the drama which will begin at 6:30 p.m. There will be no charge for admission, but a free-will offering will be received.

MEN TO MEET

The Methodist Men of the First Methodist Church will meet at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 31, for a potluck dinner in the church dining room. A program will follow, with C. E. Clavin, principal of Klamath Union High School, as the guest speaker.

Initiated by the Faith Tabernacle Church four years ago, the convention draws ministers and laymen from Oregon, Washington, and Idaho. Both independent and denominational churches will be represented by the visiting guests.

All of the ministers attending the convention will be given an opportunity to speak during the daily and evening services. "Several have traveled around the world preaching in scores of countries, and all are successful pastors and evangelists who will provide a broad background for the current Christian movements," said Rev. Eddie J. Bigby, Faith Tabernacle pastor.

Among the speakers will be Rev. George Seeley, general bishop of the Pentecostal Evangelical Churches; Rev. Harold Hale, Evangelistic Vision, Inc., Portland; Evangelist Royce Collier, St. Louis, Mo.; Rev. Ralph Watson, evangelist and T. L. Osborn, co-worker; Rev. Wayne Cheeseman, Peoria, Ill.; Rev. Logan Dale, San Jose; Rev. Evert Roberts, Meridian, Idaho; Rev. Irvin Stewart, Prineville, and Rev. W. D. Bigby, Lodi, Calif.

The music ministry will be provided by Dr. Thurance York, Visalia, Calif., and Gordon Ingersoll, Watsonville, Calif.

The women of the Faith Tabernacle Church will serve turkey and ham dinners on Thursday and Friday nights.

Churches Finish Work At Malin Labor Camp

Programs sponsored by the Klamath Council of Churches at the migrant center of the Malin labor camp were recently completed, according to Rev. Quinn Hawley, council president.

Among these were a church school conducted on Sunday afternoons with the assistance of the Tulelake Community Presbyterian Church, and thrift sales of clothing items held each Saturday by the United Church Women.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Westphal of the Klamath Falls Congregational Church volunteered to direct several programs for the migrant workers. Their day began at 10 a.m. when some 30 to 40 preschool age children were admitted into the center for free play and supervised craft sessions.

The Westphals also planned sewing classes for the adults, and spent many evenings visiting with camp families and conducting study periods at the center.

The evening program was somewhat complicated this year by daylight saving time, said Rev. Hawley, because the families seldom finished supper before 8 p.m.

A highlight of the council's program was a special party given on the last regular Thursday by the Westphals and several members of their family for the migrant children.

Another craft class was scheduled for the youths on Tuesday afternoons. The instructor was Mrs. Doris Johnson, who taught them numerous inexpensive projects which they could continue in their spare time.

Event Dated

BONANZA—The annual turkey dinner and bazaar given by the Guild of St. Barnabas Episcopal Church will be held at the Bonanza Elementary School on Saturday, Nov. 2.

Serving will begin at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria, with pie and coffee served in the gymnasium. The many bazaar booths, country store, and fish pond will also be located in the gym.

Heading the dinner committee is Carolyn Dearborn, Mary Noble, and Beverly Roberts. Grace Dearborn and Nancy Milne are in charge of the bazaar; Dee Milne, fish pond; Lois Struve and the older Sunday school classes, country store; and Dale Smelcer, Ethel Jones, and Averyll Willis, dessert.

The price of the dinner, including pie and coffee, will be $1.75 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Meeting Set

The Southern Oregon Federated Dorcas Society of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will hold its district meeting in the local church on Wednesday, Oct. 30, beginning at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Aubrey Dunlap of Medford is president of the Southern Oregon Federation, which includes churches in Klamath Falls, Ashland, Medford, Valley View, Eagle Point, Grants Pass and Williams. District meetings, with delegates from each church, are held twice a year.

Guest speaker for the event will be Elder C. J. Ritchie of Portland, who is the Conference Home Missionary secretary. The program will include activity reports from the churches represented, with emphasis on welfare work.

The Klamath Falls Dorcas Society meets every Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Members make quilts, repair clothing, and pack articles to be sent to a warehouse in Watsonville, Calif., where they are later shipped overseas for the needy. The local Dorcas Society has sent more than 1,000 pounds of clothing this year.

A variety of clothing is also collected for community use. Those in need of wearing apparel may call at the church, 1735 Main Street, during the meeting hours on Tuesday. Mrs. Lottie Budden is the local Dorcas Society leader.

The Malin migrant work is sanctioned by the Oregon Council of Churches Migrant Committee, under the direction of Miss Sarah Hall Goodwin, migrant minister for the state. She visited the camp during its operation and furnished many program materials and supplies.

Each year the local council spends more than $500 to support the center and the various activities scheduled. This money is raised through the individual support of the member churches and the camp thrift-sales.

HOSPITAL PLEDGE — Pledging $100 to the Presbyterian Intercommunity Hospital, the Luther League of Klamath Lutheran Church has raised one-half of the amount through a food sale to the congregation. The members voted to raise the money within the church. Boyd Sanderson, hospital administrator, accepts the initial check from Charles Galloway, Sheryl Kurth, and Tina Owens. Charles and Tina are co-chairmen of the fund drive, assisted by Jack Kidwell, Ken Galloway, and president Barbara McKinny. Sheryl is treasurer of the youth group.

Bonanza 'Trick Or Treat' To Benefit Eskimo Youths

Certain goblins and witches in the Bonanza area will not be ringing doorbells in anticipation of sweet treats for themselves on Halloween night.

Instead, needy Eskimo children at Barrow, Alaska, will benefit from the Halloween activities of those who attend the Bonanza Community Sunday School.

The youths participating in the program will "trick or treat" for powdered milk, dried fruits, dry packaged food of all kinds, usable warm clothing, pencils, rulers, and other educational materials. Toys in good condition, books, crayons, games, and wrapped candy will also be suitable for the project.

The program to help others was initiated two years ago by the Bonanza Community Church to give the young people of the congregation a constructive purpose to "trick or treat."

In 1961 the Halloween collection was sent to the Arizona Indians, and last year the items were used as Christmas presents for children in an Alaskan orphanage. The articles are sent to a different youth group each year.

The decision to aid the young Eskimos was prompted by a missionary, Paul Bills, who wrote that the Arctic community on Point Barrow has been in real need since the severe storm of Oct. 4 left many families nearly destitute.

Anyone who would like to donate items may phone 545-2421 or 545-2402 to insure that someone from the church will collect them on Halloween.

Guild Sponsors Lunch, Bridge

ALTURAS—The women's guild of St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Alturas will sponsor a luncheon and bridge at Trumbull Hall on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 26.

The general chairman is Mrs. William Cooperider, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Fratis, Mrs. Kenneth Van Loan, and Mrs. Dwayne McGarva.

The guild members especially invite all interested "gentlemen" to attend the luncheon even though they are unable to remain for bridge.

Prizes will be awarded to bridge winners and luncheon guests. Tickets will be $1 for the luncheon and $1.25 for both the luncheon and bridge.

Fellowship Talk

The Wesleyan Fellowship of the First Methodist Church will be entertained at a dinner on Sunday, Oct. 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Redman, 803 Front St.

Rev. Quinn Hawley, pastor of the Congregational Church, will speak on the Ecumenical movement in Protestantism.

Cars will be at the church following the 11 a.m. worship service to provide transportation for members and guests.

Wesleyan Fellowship is open to high school graduates, OTI students, Kingsley Field personnel, and those who plan to attend college or have recently graduated from college. For further information contact Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jallings, 1513 Oregon Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Walt McIntyre, 116 S. Eighth St.; or the church office.

On Nov. 3 the Fellowship will meet with Mr. and Mrs. Jallings.

Methodist Training School Engages Field Specialists

The First Methodist Church will host the Klamath Sub-District of the Oregon Conference of the Methodist Church at a Leadership Training School on Sunday.

Headed by Rev. Dr. Meredith A. Groves, executive secretary of the Oregon Conference, and Rev. E. J. Aschenbrenner, district superintendent, a team of specialists on church organization and procedures will be present to conduct the sessions.

"Our Mission Today" is the theme of the 11 schools which were slated this fall to include the 180 Methodist churches in the Oregon Conference. More than 4,000 commission members and 4,300 church school teachers will have received special training at the conclusion of the schools.

At the local church, the classes will begin at 2:30 p.m. Scheduled are "Commission on Evangelism," led by Rev. William O. Walker, North Bend; "Commission on Education," Dr. Meredith Groves; "Commission on Missions," Rev. Clark Enz, Roseburg; "Commission on Stewardship and Finance," Norman Amtower, conference treasurer; and "Commission on Christian Social Concerns," Dr.

P. Malcolm Hammond, Ashland. Church school classes for nursery and kindergarten will be conducted by Mrs. J. Sayre, conference staff, and Mrs. James Enman, Klamath Falls; Primary, Mrs. A. O. Walker, Medford; Junior, Mrs. Dale Fieguth, Ashland; Junior High and Senior High, Mrs. Wayne Crooch, Roseburg.

A dinner will be served at 6 p.m. by the Dorothy Thomas Circle, Women's Society of Christian Service, of the host church.

Represented at the Leadership Training School will be the Methodist churches of Lakeview, Rev. Lester Boulden; Fort Klamath and Chiloquin, Rev. Albert Place; Williamson River and Beatty, Rev. Linn Panabity; Klamath Falls, Rev. Ralph Richardson, and Paisley.
