

Artist Turns Former Hall Into Beautiful Art Gallery

ART GALLERY ESTABLISHED — A new contribution to the art community in Yreka, the Siskiyou Art Gallery, was recently opened by a well-known artist, Lee Gossett. Transformed from an old lodge hall, the gallery is the largest between Los Angeles and Seattle, according to the owner. The current exhibit features 100 paintings by Siskiyou County artists.

YREKA—It took an artist of true merit to transform what was once an old lodge hall into a beautiful art gallery in Yreka.

Lee Gossett, who has his paintings displayed in Italy, Greece, France, Mexico, Canada, and nine western states, including California, owns and operates what is now known as the Siskiyou Art Gallery, situated in what was the former Knights of Pythias Hall on West Minor Street, Yreka.

Although the gallery has space to accommodate 300 pieces of art work, Gossett has about 100 various paintings currently on display, all done by Siskiyou County artists and augmented by clever lighting effects.

The works on exhibit are arranged to give the spectator an opportunity to view and study each, without distractions from one another.

What once served as a dining hall and was the scene of many gay and festive parties has been partitioned to provide living quarters for Gossett and his wife, Olive. The other half of the room is arranged for the students who are studying under Gossett or for the Siskiyou Artists Association to hold its meetings.

formally opened to the public, he has already had more than 300 visitors.

Gossett, who arrived in Yreka in 1962 from San Diego, was born in Colfax, Wash. When he was 2 years old, his parents moved with him to Canada where he was raised. He has studied art at the Coronado School of Fine Arts at La Jolla, Calif.; Arts and Crafts at Chino and Fine Arts, both at Los Angeles; and he holds a teacher's degree as a painter.

He feels that anyone can benefit from the study of art, as it not only develops the potential artist, but gives others not so talented an appreciation of art.

He started his classes with 27 students and now has 125 including college students and private individuals.

During World War II, while in the service of the Coast Guard, Gossett was commissioned to create paintings from action scenes. He succeeded in producing 30 of them, all portraying with dramatic impact the action of war at sea.

THE OWL HOOTS

Professor Arthur Blakeney, Oregon Tech's traveling teacher of industrial management courses, was given a $50 honorarium by Electro Scientific Industries in appreciation of his special contributions to their organization. Blakeney promptly sent the money to Oregon Tech for the aid of a needy electronics student. The company, after learning of the occurrence, stated in a letter, "That is just the kind of thing you would expect from Art."

J. L. Churchill, dean of students; John Lyon, director of residence halls, and Gene Stivers, director of testing, attended a meeting of the Northwest College Personnel Association in Gearhart, Ore., on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Churchill and Lyon are editor and associate editor, respectively, of the association's triannual newsletter. Churchill and Stivers participated in panels during the program. The Northwest Association includes Alaska, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

Oregon Tech's highly successful leadership conference of last year is being duplicated again this year. All student groups and faculty advisers will attend the affair being sponsored by the office of Student Personnel Services at Diamond Lake on Nov. 8, 9 and 10. Dr. Dan J. Sillers, dean of Jamestown College, Jamestown, N.D., will be the featured speaker. The program will be composed of training in parliamentary procedure, practice in the use of case studies and brainstorming sessions concerning campus problems and their solutions.

Oregon Tech's Office of Student Personnel Services announced last week that the College Entrance Examination Board tests, in conjunction with some OTI developed tests, have been highly satisfactory in predicting the success of students entering OTI. It is anticipated that these tests will be a requirement for all students entering Oregon Tech beginning in 1964-65. The two components of the CEEB tests used are the scholastic aptitude test which indicates the student's potential for learning in the verbal and mathematical areas and the achievement test which indicates the degree to which a student uses his capabilities.

Touch Football Raises Money

MALIN—The first money making activity of the Malin FHA Chapter was a game of touch football on the Malin High School football field last Thursday afternoon.

The "Cream Puffs" and "Powder Puffs" were coached by the Malin Mustangs, who also supplied the equipment of shoulder pads, jerseys, and helmets.

Cheerleaders and majorettes for the halftime entertainment were provided by members of the Malin FHA Chapter.

Uniforms Ordered

BAND COSTUMES — Jim Kerr, member of the Modoc Union High School band, models the new uniform ordered for the group recently.

ALTURAS — The first uniforms for the Modoc Union High School band were ordered last week, according to Mrs. Shirley Oxley, band instructor and director.

The new uniforms should arrive by the first of December, in time for the band to march in splendor at the Shrine East-West football game, she said.

Money already raised by the band students, borrowed from the Modoc student council, and a loan from the school board will be used to pay for the costumes. The students will continue to sponsor projects to pay off the uniform debt and to purchase new instruments.

Mrs. Oxley reports that donations from parents and friends of the band are still coming in to boost the fund.

Exception To Rule

By OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is a general rule that when you lead a suit of four or more cards you should lead fourth best unless your suit is headed by certain specific high card combinations.

There is one conspicuous exception to this rule that is well illustrated in today's hand.

South doesn't have much of an opening bid but his partner's hand is very sound and the contract of four hearts is a good one.

South wins the opening spade in his own hand and takes an immediate diamond finesse. Perhaps he should have gone after the trumps first but the actual result would be no different. Both finesses are wrong.

East takes his king of diamonds and a shift to a club is clearly indicated. Also, he should lead the nine of clubs and not his fourth best. It is not important to give his partner a count of the club suit, but it is more important to let his partner know that he doesn't hold a high club.

South will play either the king or the queen. It shouldn't make the slightest difference to West. He will see that the only chance to beat the contract will be to let South hold that trick, so if West is on his toes he will play the deuce of clubs.

Eventually East will get the lead with his queen of trumps and a second club lead will allow West to make his ace and jack.

Learn to be an expert at the finesse with tips found in Jacoby's 64-page book "Win at Bridge." Just send your name, address, and 50 cents to: Oswald Jacoby Reader Service, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Q—The bidding has been South West North East
Y—You South bid:
3 2 4 3 4 3 2 1 4 3 2 1
A—One diamond. You plan to rebid to two clubs if your partner responds either one heart or one spade.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner responds two diamonds. What do you do in this case?

Youth Reads Reading Award

MALIN—Don Steyskal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Steyskal of Malin, received an award last week for reading the most books during the summer reading program at the Malin Library.

The 11-year-old student read 80 books. He chose "The Mystery of the Chinese Junk" by Dixon to add to his personal library. The reading program will be continued next summer, according to library personnel.

The Commerce Department said Thursday that for the four most recent weeks in the survey sales this year were running about 5 per cent more than the comparable period in 1962.
