Band Fund Increased By $1,000

ALTURAS—The people of Modoc County showed their faith in the "kids" of the Modoc High School Band Saturday and Sunday afternoon by donating over $1,000 on a record request program held at Radio Station KCNO.

What started out to be an afternoon request show for the benefit of the band turned into a two-day marathon as the donations continued to roll in from listeners all over the county.

The request program started at 1 p.m. Saturday. By 1:25 p.m. there was $118 in the coffers; at 2:30 $200 had rolled in; and by 6 o'clock $750 had been raised.

Announcing the record requests with the cooperation of the station manager and announcer, Rich Hansen, were the band members themselves. The group also took all the telephone requests, recorded the donations, and looked up the records for a smooth fast-running show.

Chairmen for the band members were Carol Armor and Cheryl Stull. Nadine Enderlin spent the two days with pen in hand as secretary and telephone answerer, while Jim Kerr, Phyllis Graham, and Carol Armor held down the bulk of the announcing duties.

Mrs. Shirley Oxley, physical education teacher and band instructor, said the answer to the request program from the Modoc citizens was overwhelming to all of the band. "We collected enough to meet one of our loans that the school advanced us to buy the new uniforms."

The members of the band have already worked selling magazines, sponsoring school dances, raking leaves, selling candy, and doing any other $2,000 for the uniforms. All the members said that this is only the beginning, as they still want to continue to improve the Modoc band and replace some of the 20-year-old musical instruments they are using.

"The greatest thanks we have for this successful venture goes to Thelma Hansen and her son, Rich. Not only did they donate the time of the station and its facilities along with working with the students, they donated an added $23 at the end of the program Sunday to bring

Buildings Nearly Complete

ALTURAS—Chester Markley, manager of the Modoc Fish and Wildlife Refuge, reports that the buildings under construction on the refuge should be completed within the next three weeks.

The building program includes a machine shop, storage shop, and a block office building with a garage. The cost of the new structures is estimated at $80,000.

Monies for the buildings came from the Accelerated Public Works Program and pushed the construction ahead more than a year.

Also under construction on the refuge is a new bridge across the Pitt River and three new ponds for the wild birds in the non-hunting area.

Altamont School News

Sixth Grade Reporters

The fifth and sixth grades from Altamont Elementary School took an exciting field trip to the Weyerhaeuser mill on Thursday, Oct. 24. Supervising students were Mrs. Morley, fifth grade teacher, and Mr. Heilbronner, sixth grade teacher.

The students visited many parts of the mill related to manufacturing wood products. While touring the machine shop at the mill, two students from the sixth grade, Linda Allen and David Selinsky, and Sharon Lindsay and Douglas Barnes from the fifth grade were permitted to operate the air-driven sledge hammer.

The students also visited the log pond, sawmill, pres-to-log machines, planer mill, and the hardwood display room. The tour was led by Ted Durment and Bob Elliott, Weyerhaeuser employees.

Earlier this month the sixth graders took a field trip to Doak Mountain. There they learned valuable information about the multiple uses of the forest. They include forest protection, recreation, wildlife, Christmas tree farming, management of the forest, tree identification, and the soils of the forest.

The sixth graders were assisted by their room mothers who traveled with them. Those attending were Mrs. Dale Custer, Mrs. Doris Argetsinger, Stan Sevruk, principal of Altamont Elementary, also assisted.

The total to $1,000," Mrs. Oxley said.

Soviets Quit Moon Race To Concentrate On Food

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union dropped out of the moon race with the United States because it must put "food before rockets," diplomatic sources said today.

The agricultural crisis that forced Russia to buy millions of tons of grain in the West cannot be solved without huge investments and there simply is not enough money at Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's disposal to finance both this program and the moon shot, the sources said.

One alternative would be to cut military spending, but Khrushchev is believed determined to keep this at a high level until agreement can be reached with the West on arms reduction.

Khrushchev's statement last weekend getting Russia out of the competition to land a man on the moon was believed to portend a multi-billion dollar saving.

The Soviet budget for the coming year is now under study. It will be presented in December.

British experts said all signs point to the fact that there is "just not enough" to cover the costs of the moon program and to meet industrial and consumer needs.

A high Communist source in London frankly conceded that the money saved from giving up the moon race would be put into the chemical fertilizer industry to step up food output. A figure of $4.4 billion has been mentioned as required to build enough fertilizer plants to permit Soviet production to equal that of the United States.

Information has been reaching the West for some time that the Soviets are having hard going with the demands of high spending for defense, space, and domestic needs.

It is considered significant here that the Soviets are pushing reciprocal arms budget cuts with the West as a measure to ease the cold war.

The Soviet defense budget is listed at $15.4 billion this year, but hidden costs are believed to make it much more. The scientific budget of $5.2 billion is believed to cover many defense items.

Kennedy Tests Political Potency In Philadelphia

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy tests his political potency tonight by speaking at a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner in Philadelphia five days in advance of state and city elections.

Kennedy invited Philadelphia's Democratic Mayor James H. J. Tate to ride with him in a motorcade through the city during the evening rush hour in an obvious effort to clinch Tate's reelection Tuesday.

Tate is being challenged by James McDermott, 37-year-old Republican attorney who has received strong backing from Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton, a GOP presidential possibility.

The quick trip also gives Kennedy a chance to gauge public reaction to his triumph in getting House Judiciary Committee approval of a compromise civil rights bill. Philadelphia is the type of big, industrial city with a large Negro population where such legislation is considered most popular.

Kennedy was due to leave nearby Andrews Air Force Base at 4:30 p.m. EST for the 30-minute flight to Philadelphia International Airport. A motorcade to the downtown section of the city, a reception and private dinner were to precede his appearance at convention hall (about 8:45 p.m. EST). He planned to return to Washington immediately after his speech.

The President, who received Pennsylvania's 29 electoral votes in 1960, apparently was trying to preserve Democratic control of the state's biggest city to keep the Keystone State Kennedy carried Pennsylvania by a majority of 116,000 in 1960 and rolled up a 330,000-vote margin in Philadelphia. In 1962, however, Scranton carried the state by 400,000 in the gubernatorial race against former Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth.

Rep. William J. Green Jr., D-Pa., boss of the Democratic party in Philadelphia, has predicted an "impressive victory" for Tate "in preparation for a Kennedy victory in 1964."

But Rep. William Miller, R-N.Y., Republican national chairman, has said the GOP National Committee has given a great deal of attention to the Philadelphia situation and added: "I understand we may just elect a mayor."

Some observers believe the elections in the "City of Brotherly Love" may test the depth of white voters' resentment over militant Negro protests on civil rights issues.

McDermott questioned whether government was going too far if it interfered with an individual's rights to choose his neighborhood and schools for his children. Tate immediately charged that this was a play for "white votes" and the Philadelphia leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) accused the GOP contender of being "anti-Negro."
