Reynolds & Co. continues to feel that "the market is resting on a solid foundation and a positive investment attitude is advisable."

Hampill, Noyes & Co. says that "business looks very good and is showing signs of getting better. It seems possible that psychology and fundamentals might carry the general market higher for the rest of this year and into 1964."

Rodriguez Sentenced

Isabel Rodriguez, 24, was sentenced to a term of not more than six years in the state penitentiary Monday afternoon after pleading guilty to manslaughter in the shooting of a fellow farm worker Oct. 23.

His brother, Thomas, 22, is being held for the grand jury on a charge of being an accessory to manslaughter. He waived a preliminary hearing Monday.

Isabel was accused of shooting Richard Rodriguez, 42, of Phoenix, Ariz., and Thomas is accused of helping his brother dump the dead man's body in a ditch near Merrill.

During a preliminary hearing, it was established that Isabel and his victim had been drunk and were quarreling when the slayer produced a .32 caliber automatic. He sought to frighten his companion by discharging the gun over his head, but the bullet entered the left temple of the farm worker, according to testimony at the hearing.

RR Experts Seek Cause

Experts probed the twisted remains of more than 30 boxcars today in an effort to determine the cause of the derailment that hurled them from the railroad tracks 10 miles north of Klamath Falls early Monday morning.

The main rail line, which serves both Great Northern Railway and Southern Pacific Railroad, was reopened at 7:20 Monday night—15 hours after the crash.

The train that derailed was a Great Northern freight bound for Bend from Klamath Falls. More than 30 cars derailed in the pre-dawn hours, tossing two of them into Upper Klamath Lake. No one was injured.

A spokesman for Great Northern said late this morning that experts are trying to determine the cause of the wreck. Other experts are totaling up the damage, which is expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Actually, the track was cleared and new rails laid in about nine hours working time. Southern Pacific, which owns the track, had charge of that operation. Using a big railroad crane and bulldozers, the crews pushed the wrecked cars into a ditch and new track was laid. The last rail was laid just minutes before the first train rolled through Monday evening.

The wrecked cars are being picked up and their cargoes salvaged. Also, SP crews are continuing to work on the roadbed which was damaged in the wreck.
