

When business or pleasure promises to keep you out of the house all afternoon, plan to serve this Swiss Steak Dinner.

Brown the meat, simmer and cool in the morning or a day ahead. Refrigerate until needed. The meat will have time to absorb all the bright subtle flavor of convenient canned tomato sauce that seasons it. Use tiny canned potatoes (two 8-ounce cans) and add with the vegetables and mushrooms to the cold meat. Heat in electric skillet, on the range, or in a 350 degree oven for a half hour. A salad of grapefruit sections in lemon-lime relatin could also be prepared ahead, ready to serve with mayonnaise sparked with lemon juice and paprika to make it pink.

For dessert, remove a loaf of date nut or chocolate nut bread from its can and roll in aluminum foil. Heat in oven or double boiler for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve thick slices with vanilla ice cream or vanilla-flavored whipped cream. As a special touch, sprinkle with shreds of candied ginger.

SWISS STEAK DINNER
(Servings - 6)
2½ lb. round or Swiss steak
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon garlic salt
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup pure vegetable oil
1 onion, sliced

2 (8-ounce) cans tomato sauce
½ cup water
1 (4-ounce) can mushroom stems and pieces, undrained
6 small white potatoes, halved
1 (10-ounce) package frozen mixed vegetables
1 teaspoon salt

Cut steak into 6 pieces. Pound flour, garlic salt, salt and pepper into steak. Brown well in hot oil in large skillet or Dutch oven. Add onion, tomato sauce and water; cover and simmer 1½ hours. Add mushrooms and potatoes; cook 20 minutes. Add mixed vegetables and salt; simmer 15 minutes.
