MALES—A special meeting of Prosperity Chapter No. 198, OES, was held Oct. 24 to honor Margery Jones, associate grand conductress of the Grand Chapter of Oregon, who was making her official visit for a school of instruction. The chapter room was decorated with chrysanthemums. The visitor was welcomed by the worthy matron, Mildred Dohy. Others escorted to the east for welcome were several worthy matrons and patrons, Claudia Martin, Bend Chapter; Mary Jane Sabo, Manzanita; Carrie Rush, Aloha; Orval Alley, Aloha; Glen Hageman, Manzanita. An address and gift were presented to Mrs. Jones after which she spoke briefly. Chrysanthemums, lighted tapers and "apples for the teacher" decorated the dining room tables. Serving on the refreshment committee were Betty Hahnuska and Frances Kaloua.

CURTAIN DRYING TIP

To keep curtains from drying unevenly, hang them from the selvage edge or top hem. Use regular or spring-type clothespins, closely spaced.

Amaranth Meet Held

Amaranth members and guests met in the dining room of the Scottish Rite Temple, Oct. 16, for a potluck dinner. The committee included Velma Krauss, Mary Wells, Geneva Swift and Helen McCornack. Tables were decorated with beautiful bouquets of chrysanthemums and gold candles by Mary Wells and Geneva Swift. After the dinner, Friendship Court No. 11 met in the hall in regular form with Velma Krauss and Frank McCornack, royal matron and patron, presiding. Julia Spence, grand representative to Maryland, and William Goen, assistant grand lecturer were escorted by the marshals, Leona Angel and Geneva Swift, and introduced and given grand honors. This being Friendship Night, the line officers participated in an appropriate addendum, entering with large gold glitter letters, spelling the word Friendship. A poem was given by each officer, followed by a prayer by Mary Wells. The past royal matrons and patrons were escorted to the throne and presented with gifts by Royal Matron Velma Krauss. A poem, composed and read by Jim Hunter, was dedicated to the associate conductress, Isabelle Sanders. In honor of the royal matron's birthday, Thelma Colvin presented her with a crystal bon-bon dish from the court.

Aloha OES

Aloha Chapter No. 61, OES, held its stated meeting Oct. 22 at the Masonic Temple with Carrie Rush and Orval Alley, worthy matron and patron, presiding. Seated in the east were Marjorie Jones, associate grand conductress of the Grand Chapter of Oregon, who was making her official visit to instruct the new officers: Lorene McCollum, grand marshal; Virginia Zumbun, member of the credentials committee; Harold Bess, member of the home endowment fund committee; Claudia Martin, worthy matron from Bend; Bertha Eust, worthy matron, Cascade Crest Chapter, and Glen Hageman, worthy patron, Manzanita Chapter. An address honoring the grand visitor, "An Apple for the Teacher" was portrayed and she was given a unique apple shell made by the worthy matron, Mrs. Rush also presented her with a brief case and corsage. Lois Atkins sang "Margie" with a dedication to the associate grand conductress. The Friendship Geeks costumed as spooks, ghosts and a lively waltz carried out the Halloween theme for the friendship hour. The tables were decorated accordingly and refreshments were served by Doris and Cal Peyton and William and Velma Swartz. Preceding the meeting a dinner was held at Molatore's with 22 members and guests attending. The next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 12 when the worthy matron and patron will honor the star points. All members are urged to be present.
