

Industrial Talk Dated By Chamber

Directors of the Klamath County Chamber of Commerce, and other members interested in industrial development, will hear a "voice of experience" talk on local industrial promotion at the board's luncheon Wednesday noon, Nov. 13, at the Pelican Cafe.

Scheduled to speak before the group is Phil Bladine, editor and publisher of the McMinnville New Register, and member of the board of directors of McMinnville Industrial Promotions.

In charting the role of a strong chamber of commerce in industrial development, Bladine will trace the history of McMinnville Industrial Promotions, a "boot strap" community endeavor which is often cited as one of the best examples of strictly local effort in industrial development. Since its inception 10 years ago, McMinnville Industrial Promotions has seen the investment of approximately $2 million of local money in a program which has created some 650 additional jobs and an additional $8,000 per day payroll in the city of McMinnville.

Wednesday's luncheon will be the first in a series of meetings scheduled for the second Wednesday of each month at which chamber president, James F. Stilwell, plans to present a program of vital interest and concern to the chamber membership.

All chamber members who are interested are invited to attend Wednesday's luncheon meeting, but are asked to telephone reservations to the chamber office at TU 4-5193 no later than 5 p.m. on Tuesday.

Waiter Goes On Junket; Criticism Angers Solon

LONDON (UPI)—Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, was reported angered today by criticism in the United States because he took the head waiter of the House dining room to Paris at the public expense for the recent NATO parliamentarians' conference.

The head waiter, Ernest Petinaud, traveled to Paris as a guest of Hays and his American delegation, which included a number of other Democratic and Republican congressmen.

"Mr. Petinaud went with us to Paris as a member of the staff," Hays was quoted as saying Sunday night by the Daily Express. "He ran errands for us."

"There has been a hell of a row back home. I think it is because Mr. Petinaud is a Negro. He's a good guy and I thought it was a nice thing to do. He is on his vacation anyway."

"He is only costing his hotel bill and food expenses. The Southerners in our delegation say he has done a good job over here."

The trip created a stir in Washington, where some claimed that the expenses for Petinaud would come out of U.S. funds held in Europe.

In Washington, it was learned that Petinaud got $30 a day in government funds to cover his living expenses in Paris.

Petinaud speaks both French and Spanish.

Dismissal Brings Agency Investigation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The State Department is investigating the role played by two officials in the ouster of security officer Otto Otepka, whose dismissal has stirred up a hornet's nest in Congress.

The two men are John R. Reilly, deputy assistant secretary of state for security, and Elmer Hill, one of his division chiefs. They were placed on "administrative leave" Saturday.

Officials said Reilly and Hill would remain on leave while the department looked into the affair. Reilly and Hill were accused by the Senate internal security subcommittee of telling "untruths" about efforts to tap Otepka's telephone.

Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., said the State Department "at a minimum" should consider firing Reilly, Hill and David I. Belisle for first denying and then acknowledging that Otepka's telephone had been tampered with.

Otepka, former chief of the division of evaluations under Reilly, was fired by the department last week on charges that he leaked classified information on personnel security to J.G. Sourwine, counsel of the Senate group.

Whether the senators would be satisfied by the State Department's action against Reilly and Hill appeared doubtful. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said the Senate Judiciary Committee was expected to discuss the case Tuesday.

Dodd said that the three State Department officials had admitted, "in effect that they lied under oath to a Senate committee." He said "these are the fellows the State Department should prefer charges against, not Otepka."

State Department officials said that whatever the outcome of the Reilly-Hill inquiry, it would not affect the validity of the charges against Otepka, who is appealing his case.
