

Civil Defense Meets Planned Across State

A series of conferences and training sessions in civil defense training and education will be administered in Oregon during the next seven months by the Division of Continuing Education of the Oregon State System of Higher Education.

A session is not scheduled for Klamath County but conferences have been set for Medford in March and Bend in April, at dates to be announced later.

The program will be conducted under a contract with the U.S. Office of Civil Defense, according to Dr. James W. Sherburne, vice chancellor for continuing education. Similar programs have been contracted with universities and colleges in 42 states by the civil defense office.

A series of 14 one-day conferences will be scheduled throughout the state for civil leaders and persons in local, county, and state government.

Each conference will be designed to provide current information on civil defense requirements, assist in evaluating local capabilities for civil defense, advise local officials in the development of plans for future action, and explain assistance available through state and federal government agencies.

Four training sessions for shelter management instructors will be conducted early next year as part of the program. They will be designed to provide trainees with extensive knowledge of shelter operation and maintenance so that they will become able to instruct other persons from their respective communities in such methods.

Dale E. Price, staff member of the Division of Continuing Education in Eugene, has been named administrator of the Oregon program. Instructors will be Louis D. Farnsworth and Gordon E. Newton, also of Eugene.

The first of the one-day conferences will be held in Pendleton, Wednesday Nov. 13, the second in La Grande, Nov. 20. The Pendleton conference will include persons from Umatilla and Morrow counties, and the La Grande program will have participants from Union, Wallowa and Baker counties.

Conferences have been tentatively scheduled in Dallas and Hillsboro in December; Tillamook, The Dalles, and Portland in January; Salem, and again in Portland in February; Albany in March, Coquille in April, and Burns in May.

Foe Makes Mistake

By OSWALD JACOBY

West's three heart bid was one of those pre-emptive jump overcalls that are designed to deceive North to make the decided overbid of three spades. Paul Levitt who sat South went on to game.

West made the fine opening lead of the king of diamonds. Paul looked over dummy and didn't like what he saw. There appeared to be two diamonds losers, one heart loser, at least one trump loser and a possible club loser.

Then Paul proceeded to make the contract. He let the king of diamonds hold, but won the continuation. A heart lead was taken by West's ace and he returned the suit whereupon Paul was able to get rid of his remaining diamond.

Now Paul led the deuce of spades from dummy and played his own nine. West won with the queen and found himself in an end play. A heart lead would give Paul a chance to ruff in his own hand and discard a club from dummy. After that Paul would play the ace and king of clubs, ruff a club, and finesse against East's king of spades.

West chose to lead a club. Dummy's jack won the trick and the finesse was taken against the king of spades.

Do you readers see how West might have beaten the hand? All he had to do was to lead the queen of spades when he was in with the ace of hearts.

South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

You, South, hold:
▲ A2 ♥ A2 ♦ KJ75 ♠ AQ1088
What do you do?
A—Bid three spades. You aren't passing three no-trump by this bid and you are not showing a real spade suit.

Red Paper Denies Soviets Promised To Leave Cuba

MOSCOW (UPI)—The government newspaper Izvestia said Tuesday night the Soviet Union never promised the United States to withdraw all Russian troops from Cuba.

It said the question of Soviet troops in Cuba "is a problem between the Soviet Union and Cuba" and no one else.

A leading Izvestia article claimed "Observer" referred to a signed "attribution" to U.S. special envoy W. Averell Harriman that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev promised him that all Russian troops would be pulled out.

"It is difficult to say with whom this version originated, with Harriman himself or the New York Herald Tribune which quoted him," Izvestia said.

The Soviet newspaper apparently referred to a Washington column by Joseph Alsop published in the Oct. 31 issue of the Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune. It said in part: "When Gov. Averell Harriman was in Moscow, Nikita S. Khrushchev twice assured him that all Russian troops would eventually be brought home from Cuba. Why should we keep them there? Khrushchev asked, and added that the men of the Red Army did not like being there either because of the steamy Cuban climate..."

Izvestia said Khrushchev made no such pledge to Harriman when the American this summer asked him about the withdrawal of the Soviet troops and quoted the Russian as replying with an involved parable.

"The Soviet Union will continue to extend every possible help to brotherly Cuba," Izvestia said. "The problem of stationing troops in Cuba is a problem between the Soviet Union and Cuba."

Workers Flee Doomed Truck

LEBANON, Tenn. (UPI)—Two construction workers, smelling smoke, Tuesday jumped from a truck laden with dynamite and ran to safety before the vehicle was "blown to smithereens."

The blast also broke about 200 windows, including those in the courthouse and the Lebanon Airport.

County Museum Recorded High Attendance In October

Attendance at the Klamath County Museum during October attained the second highest total for that month in the history of the museum. Curator Mrs. Lloyd Seely has disclosed. Last month, 689 visitors registered at the museum, exceeding by 270 the total number of people recorded there for the same month last year.

Of the more recent figure, 499 were from Klamath Falls, 28 from Klamath County, 157 represented 18 states, and five were visitors from Canada, Australia and Africa.

Also during the same month, the museum received 12 exhibits which are now on display or will be exhibited soon, Mrs. Seely said.

Among the donations were samples of minerals found locally by Calvin Lees, Rte. 1, Box 941, and Kenneth Christin, 121 Iowa Street, both of this city. Lees' display includes calcite and moss and banded agate he collected along the Greensprings Highway, while Christin donated an iridescent cinder of Bernite.

Four other specimens concerned insects and wildlife. Gary Nicholson, 640 Conger Avenue, contributed a dragon fly and Sam Warmack, 2205 Oak Street, donated the jaw bone of a deer. The two youths collected the specimens during a field trip made by students of Pelican, Riverside, Altamont, and Fairhaven schools. Dale C. Mahon, Rte. 3, Box 235A, donated a number of lizards collected in the Philippine Islands.

by his father in 1908. The other exhibit was a mummified squirrel found in Langell Valley by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Taylor, Rte. 1, Box 33A.

Among six other items were a hammer offered by the Klamath Falls Auxiliary of the Lions Club, a pair of gloves made of buffalo hide and contributed by G. B. Herr, Menlo Way, and a collection of personal effects presented by Mrs. Mae Anderson, 345 North Tenth Street. Mrs. Anderson is the daughter of an early Klamath Falls flour mill operator.

One of the remaining three displays features early day copies of the "Klamath Legionnaire," donated by Mrs. L. A. Baker, 327 Grant Street, whose father served for a brief period at the since dismantled Fort Klamath.

Doug Golden, 2305 Patterson Street, contributed a beaver trap which has been added to the fur trappers' exhibit.

A series of photographs depicting scenes of the Mountain Lakes Wild Area and the southern portion of the Skyline Trail were presented by Dick Briggs, 3005 Homedale Road, at the request of the museum. They represent a selection from a number of pictures taken by the donor for the Herald and News to illustrate several articles on the wilderness areas of Klamath County.
