

Potato Proposal Gains Support Of Producers

TULELAKE — The proposal made recently by the Tulelake Growers Association to withhold from the fresh market the sale of any potatoes below the grade of U.S. No. 1, through marketing provisions, is meeting with favorable reaction in many of the potato producing areas of the West.

Responses have been in answer to letters mailed to members of the potato industry in Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California by John L. Coulson, association president.

The letter, commenting on the present poor marketing season with depressed prices barely covering the cost of production, draws attention to the already established marketing order which includes the necessary framework to put such a market withdrawal into operation.

Boxcar Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Legislation designed to increase the nation's supply of railroad freight cars was approved by a Senate commerce subcommittee Wednesday.

The bill, sponsored by 35 senators, would amend the Interstate Commerce Act to provide that payments to boxcar owners be fixed at such levels that would encourage acquisition and maintenance of a freight car fleet adequate to meet the needs of commerce and the national defense.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the subcommittee and the parent Commerce Committee, introduced the measure in March. He emphasized that it is needed to prevent serious losses to grain, lumber, mining and other industries unable to ship their products for lack of cars.

He cited recent data showing that with the current car shortage of more than 17,000 per day eight western railroads have reported more than 400 blocked grain elevators on their lines. More than 12.5 million bushels of wheat are on the ground, he added.

Coulson noted, reduce available supplies of stored potatoes ready for the fresh market in this large area of the West, probably by 15-20 per cent. The result would be quality potatoes marketed at improved prices.

Coulson further pointed out that such a provision in the marketing order would not adversely affect the processors but would serve to make available a larger than normal supply for starch producers and livestock feeders.

A still further beneficial result of shipping only U.S. No. 1s, Coulson continued, would be the improved appearance of potatoes in the retail markets. With modern day super markets offering quantities of glamor foods that replace potatoes in the diet, unappealing displays of tubers are ignored by the shopping public. This, Coulson points out, has been a primary factor contributing to the drop in per capita consumption of potatoes.

With the proposed change in shipping rules and the removal of lower grades of potatoes from the open market, Coulson expressed belief that the benefits to the producer would be far-reaching and long-lasting.

Navy Unveils Model Of Sub

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Navy has an 18-foot model of a futuristic submarine that some day may be able to resist the pressure of water at the mile-and-a-half depth at which the nuclear-powered Thresher was lost last April.

Built in The Netherlands at a cost of $100,000 the model has rotating propellers powered by electrical motors outside the hull. The hull itself is of solid construction like the gondola of the deep-diving bathyscaphe Trieste.

The submarine model was exhibited Tuesday at the David Taylor Model Barn in nearby Maryland. Hydrodynamic tests are to start next week.

FIRST OF SERIES — The Paris Chamber Orchestra is scheduled for the first Community Concert series Tuesday, Nov. 19, at Mills School Auditorium. Attendance is by membership card only. The chamber orchestra has traveled widely in North America and Canada as well as Europe.

Paris Chamber Orchestra Will Offer Opening Concert

The Paris Chamber Orchestra under the baton of Paul Kuentz is considered the best chamber orchestra in France. It says the Paris Journal Musical Francais. This talented group of 14 young men and women will be heard in concert Tuesday, Nov. 19, at Mills School Auditorium.

The concert, open to season ticket holders only, is the first of the 1963 series to be offered by Klamath Community Concert Association.

Press acclaim from Europe and North America has been uniform in its praise. Thus, from Geneva: "One cannot ask for more meticulously controlled nuances, more carefully proportioned balance between the various sections, and notably among the soloists;" from Barcelona: "A profound and rigorous conductor;" and from Montreal: "The Paris Chamber Orchestra demonstrated the qualities which permit us to compare it with the best groups of its kind. They have discipline, balance, depth, attention to detail, perfection of style, and individual excellence of each instrumentalist."

The instrumentation of the group normally consists of seven violins, two violas, two cellos, one double bass, and either piano, clavichord or organ. To this basic unit may be added wind instruments (flute, oboe, bassoon, trumpet, horn) to achieve the combinations desired to the presentation of more complex scores, such as the Bach Brandenburg Concertos. Thus, the ensemble maintains a flexibility and virtuosity that enables it to perform works of all styles and periods.

The all-embracing repertory of the Paris Chamber Orchestra spans three centuries of masterworks for small orchestra. From the pre-Bach period are many beautiful but rarely heard compositions of Couperin, Leclair, Rameau and other Baroque masters. A perennial favorite with its audiences is its interpretation of Vivaldi's "The Seasons." Out of the genius of Bach come, in addition to the great Brandenburg Concertos, The Art of the Fugue and Musical Offering, first performed by this group in Paris in February, 1961, in a series of six memorable concerts. From the classical period come the varied instrumental concertos of Handel, Haydn and Mozart, with Mozart's sparkling "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" as a special treat. Contemporary music is represented by a large selection of works by such composers as Bela Bartok, Albert Roussel and Samuel Barber. Last season American audiences reacted with particular pleasure to the atonal scherzo of the young Montreal composer, now resident in Paris, Andre Prevost, and to the scintillating pizzicato movement of Benjamin Britten's "Simple Symphony."

Council Okays Document Relating To Press, Morals

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Ecumenical Council gave its approval today to a document on modern means of communication, clearing the way for the gathering's first "final" action on any document.

In separate votes, the council fathers approved the document by a two-thirds majority. They still must give one more vote on the overall document—which is certain to be approved since no changes are involved—and then Pope Paul VI will promulgate it.

The decree, which exhorts "all men of good will" to defend the "just freedoms" of the press, was debated during the first session of the council last year.

It proposes to help raise moral standards in films, television and other mass entertainment media and defines the Catholic Church's attitudes towards modern communications channels.

It also says that "special care should be exercised to protect youth from literature and shows that may be harmful to their age" and asserts "the absolute primacy of the moral order" over the "rights of art."

The document notes that the gathering and publishing of news has become a very important activity in a complex world in which the "close bonds between mankind make it necessary to society and to individuals to have information of what is going on."

But it declares that "not all knowledge is profitable" and emphasizes that "the communication of news must always be truthful" and guided by the spirit of "charity and justice."

"Civil authority should defend the just freedom of information, especially as regards the press," the document says. It also urges government encouragement of "culture and the best phases of art."

Chief Of Police Reprimanded

LA GRANDE (UPI)—Police Chief Oliver E. Reeve was suspended without pay for two weeks and ordered to give up hunting by the LaGrande City Commission Wednesday night.

Reeve and three other men were fined $100 Nov. 4 after State Police stopped them and found a cow and calf elk in the back of their pickup.

The commission's action came after the police force unanimously asked it to retain Reeve. A number of persons spoke on his behalf at the meeting, including Union County Dist. Atty. George Anderson and La Grande High School Principal Jack Bech.

WINNERS — Lois Hobson, right, Merrill, took first place in district speech competition at Ashland recently, sponsored by the Oregon Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. She will compete in Grants Pass Nov. 14 with winners from other soil conservation districts. Left, is Barbara Reid, Bonanza, who took second place among the four contestants.

Merrill, Bonanza Girls Win In Speech Contest

Four young people, two from Klamath County, took part in a speech contest in Ashland Nov. 4, with first place going to a Merrill girl, Lois Hobson. The second county contestant was Barbara Reid of Bonanza who took second place. Other contestants, two boys, were Mike Charley, Eagle Point, third, and Don Gail, Central Point, fourth.

The annual contest was sponsored by the Oregon Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

All speeches were on the same subject, "Woodland Management In an Oregon Soil and Water Conservation District."

Winners in five districts will be in the finals at the Grants Pass conference Nov. 14. Fourteen hundred young people took part in the contest.

The J. R. Simplot Company presented trophies to all four winners at Ashland.
