

Bonanza 4-H'er To Attend Convention

Paul Dearborn of Bonanza Oregon 4-H Club members who has been selected as one of 24 will attend the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Dec. 1-5 in recognition of 4-H work and activities.

Dearborn is being sponsored in his trip by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company and his project is beef.

The Oregon group will leave Portland by train Thanksgiving Day and arrive in Chicago Nov. 20. About 1,200 4-H Club members from all states and eight foreign countries will attend.

To be eligible to attend the convention, Oregon delegation members had to submit written records of their 4-H activities, must have been in 4-H Club work for at least three years, and be at least 15 years old. More than 100 records were studied at Oregon State University before the 24 were named. During their five-day visit to Chicago, they will hear talks by national leaders and tour famous museums. Boys will tour the International Harvester plant in Melrose Park while girls tour the Art Institute.

Three general assemblies will be devoted to the topic "Understanding the Changing American Community." Delegates will be entertained by the Boston Pops Orchestra and the Purdue University Glee Club.

All trips to the 4-H Congress are financed by private business firms and foundations. Lois Redman, state 4-H extension agent, will be in charge of the Oregon delegation.

Grain Sale Dispute Snags Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A heated sideshow battle over underwriting grain sales to the Soviet bloc loomed today as the major remaining hurdle to Senate passage of the long delayed foreign aid bill.

The beleaguered Senate aid measure was trimmed again Thursday to what seemed to be its final figure: $3.7 billion. This was $500 million less than the Senate Foreign Relations Committee recommended and more than $800 million below President Kennedy's request. But it was still $200 million more than the House voted. The bill would authorize another year of economic and military aid programs overseas.

President Kennedy Thursday mounted his sharpest attack to date on the Democrat-controlled Congress when he told his news conference the lawmakers striving to cut and alter the aid program were "severely limiting" his ability to protect the national interest.

All but demanding the program as an indispensable foreign policy tool, the President said that he—not Congress—would be blamed if country after country fell to communism. He said some lawmakers apparently did not realize the aid program's importance. "It's a very valuable arm in foreign policy," Kennedy said.

A final showdown vote in the three-week battle over the aid bill seemed almost in sight Thursday night, but the Senate bogged down in stormy wrangling over an amendment authored by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S. D. It would forbid the export-import bank to guarantee privately financed grain sales to Communist bloc nations.

President's Hopes For Tax Cut Bill This Year Termed Wishful Thinking

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democrats felt today that President Kennedy's expressed hope for action on his $11 billion tax cut program this year was merely wishful thinking.

The bill to provide across-the-board tax cuts for every American taxpayer and business is pending before the Senate Finance Committee with virtually no chance it can be cleared in the remaining 27 legislative days of this session.

The 17-member committee scheduled six witnesses, including Federal Power Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swindler, for testimony today as the hearings droned toward the end of their fifth week.

Swindler was expected to be questioned about a disputed section to prevent federal regulatory agencies from ordering pipeline companies to pass on investment credit tax savings to consumers in the form of lower rates.

The stakes involved in the relatively obscure provision, tacked on by the House Ways & Means Committee, are considerable. They amount to $27 million to pipeline companies for only about three months in 1962, and more millions of dollars in 1963 and future years.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday that it seemed possible to him that the priority tax measure could be cleared by the committee and brought to the Senate floor this year. "Not a prayer," one Democrat on the tax-writing group said when asked about prospects for Senate passage this year.

Another member, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said that the question was not whether it would pass Congress this year, but in what month in election year, 1964.

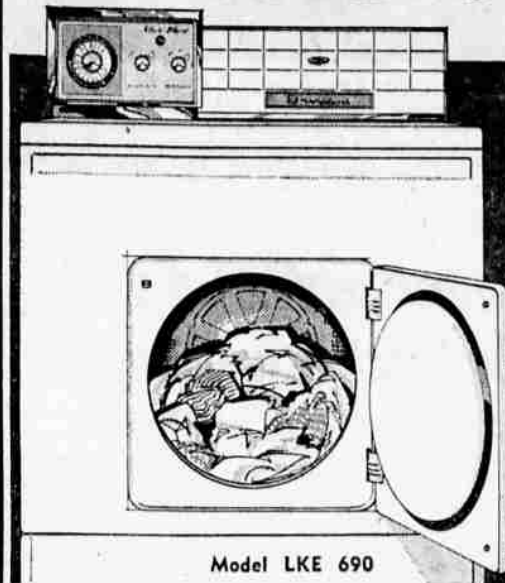

The realities: Witnesses already have been notified and public hearings are scheduled until mid-December; more than 30 amendments to the complex 300-page bill are pending; it would take at least three weeks of closed door sessions to write a final bill.

Hatfield Urges Grange To Lead Unity Drive

PORTLAND (UPI)—The National Grange was urged Thursday to take the lead in forming a joint council with other farm groups to give agriculture a united voice.

Gov. Mark Hatfield, speaking to the Grange's national convention, said an occupational group which contains only eight per cent of the nation's population cannot afford a divided effort. He suggested that the Grange invite representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the Farmers Union and other smaller groups to join with it in forming the council. He said its first chore should be the formation of a sound, rational farm policy.

On the subject of international trade, Hatfield said he was convinced agriculture was willing to do its part, but first there must be "reasonable parity" in trade requirements and regulations among various nations.

"This country also must retaliate where there is proven discrimination against the American producer," the Republican governor said.

Earlier, the Grange Agriculture Committee adopted a policy statement which included a call for renewed efforts to establish a voluntary domestic parity plan for wheat growers. Delegates backed a program under which growers who met certain acreage diversion requirements would receive certificates covering a share of the market for wheat to be used as food.

All growers would be free to compete for the market for wheat for non-food use.
