WALL STREET

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks broke sharply on heavy trading today, triggered by disappointing new car sales and discouraging news from President Kennedy today that he did not expect his tax measure to pass in Congress this session but added that it should be enacted before Congress goes home next summer.

This, and news that new car sales for early November showed their first year-to-year decline since the 1964 models were introduced sent the market sharply lower. Losses of about 2 1/2% in Chrysler, 1 1/2% in General Motors and 1/2% in Ford paced the decline.

Wall Street chatter NEW YORK (UPI)—Jerome H. Goldberg of Ira Haupt & Co. points out that "aircraft industry stocks are now selling at between eight and 12 times earnings."

"Many of the better companies are extremely well entrenched financially," he adds, "and at current levels afford a much better than average yield. The investment risk in aircraft stocks has lessened and for those with patience the group could offer some good opportunities."

United Business Service says that "technical indications point to a limited and temporary dip in prices over the near term, followed by some further advances."

AUXILIARY FUEL TANK EXPLODES — Kingsley Field firefighters apply fire suppressant foam on the remnants of an auxiliary fuel tank which exploded after it was released from a jet fighter plane during a take-off accident at the air field Wednesday. The tank was jettisoned after a tire blew out on the fighter plane. The pilot and the radar observer were not injured. —USAF photo

Police Nab Young Trio

Three Klamath Falls youths implicated in the theft of an automobile Wednesday night were arrested by Oregon State Police yesterday and are in the custody of Klamath County juvenile authorities, state police disclosed today.

Police said one of the youths stole an automobile belonging to James E. Herbert, 5523 Miller Avenue, and later parked it in the vicinity of his home. The following morning the youth noted that the car had not been disturbed and decided to drive it again.

He and two companions were later apprehended by police as they were riding in the vehicle near Worden. The youths are 14, 15, and 16 years old.

More Join 'Y' Class

An upsurge in the number of persons in the YMCA's physical fitness classes has resulted in a change in the class schedule.

Beginning next week, men's classes will be on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Men's classes formerly were on Tuesday and Thursday.

Women will also meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Those classes were formerly held on just Monday and Friday.

The YMCA said a recent article in the Herald and News apparently sparked an upsurge in the number of persons attending the classes.

Vacant House Hit By Burglar

The burglary of house Wednesday night — just a few hours after it was vacated—is being investigated by Klamath Falls police.

Floyd Boling of Floyd's Barber Shop discovered the break-in late Thursday morning. The house is owned by him and located behind his shop at 1805 Main Street.

Boling told police he moved from the house into another home Wednesday.

Police found the burglar had knocked a hole in the front glass door of the house and reached in to unlock it. But because the house had been vacated, only a 6-year-old coat was taken.

Public Not Endangered By External Fuel Tanks

Col. Edwin J. Witznburger, commanding officer of Kingsley Field, today clarified details concerning a fuel tank fire Wednesday on the runway at the base.

To quell any apprehension of the public that the external tanks can drop from an airplane accidentally, the colonel stated that such tanks are securely fastened to the planes and often sustain high gravity forces resulting from high-speed pullouts. A tank cannot be separated from an aircraft unless the pilot intentionally drops it, the colonel said.

In Wednesday's incident, the aircraft pilot, Lt. Col. Richard C. Garrett, had difficulty attempting a take-off. Aborting the take-off, he intentionally dropped the tank to assist deceleration and applied heavy braking. A safety barrier was up at the end of the runway, capable of safely stopping an F-101, but Colonel Garrett was able to stop the aircraft before it reached the barrier.

Meanwhile, the crew of a pumper truck spread foam over the separated tank which had ignited from sparks as it slid along the concrete.

Colonel Witznburger emphasized that the tank had been intentionally dropped by the pilot, and could not have been separated from the plane in any other manner.

UO Parents Slate Meet

Three representatives from the University of Oregon, State President of Oregon Dads John Warren, Hilda Yee, head counselor of all women's dormitories, and Assistant Dean of Men Robert Bowlin, will be present in Klamath Falls, Tuesday, Nov. 19, for a joint meeting of University of Oregon Mothers and Dads.

The dessert meeting at 7:30 p.m. will be in the hospitality room of the First Presbyterian Church.

Of special interest will be discussion of the recently enacted discipline code.

Mrs. Ted Lindley, president of the local mothers, and Fred Ehlers, president of local dads, urge all parents to attend. For reservations for the dessert call TU 2-1663.

Man Jailed For Threat

A man who was reported to be threatening a woman with a rifle in a Klamath Falls hotel Thursday night was arrested on a drunk charge, but police said he may be charged with a felony.

Roy Lee Collins, 32, of Klamath Falls was booked at City Jail.

The woman, Betty Walker, told police she would seek a felony complaint from the district attorney's office, as did the manager of the hotel, Johnny Mayfield.

Mayfield said Collins threatened the woman with the rifle, but he took it away from Collins. The rifle was held by police.

Tot Survives Night In Car

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Robert Davis, 7 months, was healthy today despite a 25-degree night he spent in an abandoned car.

"He's tough," Joe Davis, his father, said.

Davis left his 16-pound son with a friend Wednesday night. The friend left the tot in his car momentarily and returned to find the car had been stolen.

Officer Mack Pook found the abandoned car seven hours later. The baby was on his knees crying. A bottle of milk later, the baby was quiet and doctors said there was nothing apparently wrong with him.

Meeting Slated By FB Women

Klamath County Farm Bureau Women will meet for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon at Kingfalls Restaurant Tuesday, Nov. 19.

There will be reports of the state meeting by Iola Hankins and Peggy Harnsberger.

Shirley Kerns, Klamath Falls, first place winner on a wool dress in the annual sewing contest and Mrs. Bob Gallup, Malin, also a contestant, have been invited to be present for the luncheon.

Mrs. Stockton Rites Are Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Helen Adams Stockton were held in the Kingsley Field Chapel, Friday, Nov. 15. Chaplain William A. Thorsen officiated.

Pallbearers were Major Ray Nelson, Major Len Provance, Major Bill Tiernan, Capt. Bob Bratton, John Hutton and Dr. Daniel Flamm.

Cremation in Ashland followed the service.

Mrs. Stockton died Nov. 11 from a heart condition.

Two Autos Recovered By Lawmen

Two automobiles reported stolen earlier this week were recovered by Oregon State Police Thursday, in one of four cases of theft involving automobiles, it has been reported.

One of the vehicles was returned to its owner before he became aware it had been stolen. Police said they found a 1956 sedan abandoned on the Green Springs Highway and contacted the owner at Kaler Auto Parts and Service, 4055 South Sixth Street. Kaler told police the car was still on the lot but a check by the owner indicated it had been stolen.

The other vehicle had been reported stolen Wednesday from Bridge, Ore., and was located parked on Crest Street, between Boardman and Hilary avenues, Thursday night. Police have no suspects in either of the car theft cases.

In one of two cases of larceny from vehicles, Mrs. Nancy Ann Groves, 4406 Onyx Street, reported that a battery was removed from her car while it was parked in the Lucky Lanes Bowling Alley parking lot early last night.

The other incident was reported by Cecil Cox, 3928 Crest Street, who stated that a can containing five gallons of gasoline was taken from his Jeep while it was parked in front of his residence last night.

Police are continuing their investigations of the four cases.

COS Pair Awarded Trophies

WEED, Calif.—College of the Siskiyou students Sandy Shearer and Pete Little have been awarded Eagle-of-the-Month trophies for September and October respectively.

The award is presented to the student who has been "most outstanding in his service to the college and its activities" during the month.

Miss Shearer, a native of Dunsmuir, received the September award for her efforts in publicizing the student body rifle. Miss Shearer, a sophomore, is commissioner of publicity for the student body.

Little received the October award for his work in the establishment of COSFILM, the college's fine film society. Little plans to someday produce his own films.

Meanwhile, COSFILM announced that its second fine film program will be presented tentatively in mid-December and feature Orson Welles' "Citizen Kane." This film was the first Welles directed and is generally considered to be his finest.

COSFILM's initial offering of the Italian film "The Bicycle Thief" was attended by a capacity audience of about 200 persons. COSFILM plans a third program in January and a series of six films in the spring.

At least, that is the way those of us who call ourselves conservatives feel about it. We can't help feeling that in urging a policy of spending more and taxing less President Kennedy is feeding us the wrong information.

First Teacher-Training School Opened In 1823

9 years old, when he first attended school during a two-month winter term. He had access to a few books, some partly written in Latin and from these he acquired a fair knowledge of Latin.

He studied for the ministry but turned to teaching. During his second year in the schoolroom, after a stormy period of student-parent opposition, he introduced the writing of compositions in the meager curriculum.

After short sessions of college attendance, he not only gained wide reputation as a teacher but introduced the study of geography and natural philosophy, and brought into the schoolroom new books, new appliances, and new methods.

Although engaged both as a teacher and a minister, he continued directing his efforts to schools and their needs. He opened his teacher-training school in an upper room over a store. It was first called Columbian School and later was chartered by the legislature of Vermont.

Dr. Hall was a pioneer in the educational field. Four generations later, a great-granddaughter, following in the footsteps of her illustrious ancestor, completed a contribution to general geology, publishing with a co-researcher a geological survey professional paper, "Crystalline Rocks of the Potomac River Gorge near Washington, D.C."

Forest Service Calls Bids On Construction Projects

Bids are being called for by the Forest Service for two additional construction projects on the Winema National Forest.

One project consists of 7 1/2 miles of road on the Chiloquin District. The project is located approximately 15 miles east of Chiloquin, and joins the Sprague River highway at Lone Pine. The road is identified as the Fuego-Five road.

Interested bidders may secure copies of the plans and specifications from the office of the Forest Supervisor, 411 Main Street, Klamath Falls, or the Regional Forester in Portland. Interested bidders wishing to see the project should meet at 1 p.m., Nov. 21 at the Lone Pine junction. Forest Service representatives will conduct them over the construction route.

Bid opening is 4 p.m. Nov. 29 in the office of the Regional Forester, Portland.

Bids are also being called for, for construction of a water system at the Chiloquin District center on the Chiloquin District. Bidders interested in this project should assemble Nov. 19 at 2 p.m. at the junction of the Silver Lake highway and Forest Service road 31949. This road junction is signed.

Bids for the water system will be opened Dec. 2, at 4 p.m. in Portland.

The Forest Service also announces a Show-Me trip for bidders interested in the Spring Creek well contract, previously announced. Bids for this contract will be opened Nov. 27 in Portland. Interested bidders should contact the Forest Supervisor's Office by Nov. 18 and a visit to the site will be arranged. Plans and specifications for all of these projects may be obtained from the Forest Supervisor, Klamath Falls.

FTA Meet Attracts KU Group

Five Klamath Union High School students left today to attend the annual convention of the Oregon Future Teachers of America at the University of Oregon campus in Eugene.

The convention opens tonight and continues through Saturday.

About 600 high school students from throughout the state are expected to attend the convention.

Registration will be this afternoon at the campus, followed by a banquet this evening.

KU's delegation consists of Tami Mitchell, Stephanie Gunderlin, Teri Stillwell, Robert Flackus and Duane Snyder.

Saturday's activities will commence with an adviser's breakfast at 7:45 a.m., followed by a guided tour of the campus. At a general assembly, Paul B. Jackson, dean of UO's School of Education, will extend greetings to the group. Phyllis Thiele of Salem, president of the Oregon FTA, will welcome members and conduct the business meeting.

Saturday afternoon there will be 23 discussion groups, each staffed by a UO faculty member. Topics at the discussions will include teaching in the Peace Corps, teaching abroad, job opportunities in education, special education and the teaching of various subjects.

KC's Schedule Memorial Mass

MOUNT SHASTA—A Memorial Mass for deceased members of Council No. 2599, Knights of Columbus of Mount Shasta, will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. from the Holy Family Church in Weed. It will be led by Chaplain James Vaughn of Mount Shasta.

Following the service, Grand Knight Phil Mattos, Mount Shasta, will lead the assembly in the Annual Commemorative Exercises for all deceased members. The exercises will be held in the Council Chambers of St. Michael's Hall.
