Boardman Issue Still Unsolved

SALEM (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton today tossed the Boardman project—its legality unsolved—back to the legislature.

He proposed a referendum or a court test.

The opinion arrived as the 12-day-old legislature sought to complete action on Boardman—its one remaining big problem—and adjourn. A salary-cutting bill also remained alive.

Thornton suggested the legislature might pass new legislation advancing the proposed space age industrial park—and then submit it to an immediate court test.

Thornton said the proposed legislation was of doubtful constitutionality. He said a "grave question exists."

He said the question centered on whether it was proper to use public money to subsidize industrial development, particularly "for the benefit of a specific corporation."

Thornton renewed his suggestion that the matter be referred to the voters.

Otherwise, he said "if the bill passes then I suggest that the legislature pass a resolution directing this office to bring a test case immediately."

The proposed legislation would shift the project, and its financial obligations, from the State Land Board to the separately-funded Veterans Affairs agency.

Thornton first suggested referring the question to the people.

The idea received little initial enthusiasm, either from legislators who like the Boardman project or those who don't. One senator said the complex plan for acquiring a 100,000-acre industrial park and leasing it to the Boeing Company of Seattle was not the type of question that belonged on the ballot.

Politically, rumbles of anger continued over the discovery that the State Land Board has gone $91,000 in the hole on Boardman already — beyond the $900,000 it was authorized to spend.

The land board is headed by Gov. Mark Hatfield, the staunchest supporter of the Boardman project.

Morgan Blasts Appling

And Howard Morgan, a key Democratic figure in Oregon, termed it ironic that Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr., a member of the land board, appeared to be playing a two-faced role.

Morgan said Appling had condoned on the land board precisely the same type of illegal spending that, as state auditor, he had assailed the State Board of Higher Education for permitting it in its system.

Behind the immediate legal questions and political issues lay the fact that the Boardman project is — to some unknown degree — a gamble.

Most legislators agreed that a chunk of land fronting the Columbia River in Northeastern Oregon was a good investment for the state — whether or not it lured in space age industry soon.

But the pertinent issues were how to approach the risk, whether to act with speed or caution, and how to fund the investment.

And, a group of legislators was highly critical of an already signed lease giving the Boeing Company use of the land for 77 years at 60 cents an acre a year.

The new Boardman problems were dumped into the lap of the legislature without warning last week by Hatfield. A number of lawmakers resented being asked, among other things, to ratify secret Boardman-Boeing negotiations without having the opportunity to give the legislation throughtful and thorough consideration.

If the legislature failed to act, the Boeing lease would terminate next month.

The special session already has accomplished just what the governor requested when it convened. It has dealt with the $60 million fiscal crisis caused by voter rejection of new taxes by approving a speed-up in withholding tax payments and cuts in agency spending, school aid and construction.

KENNETH McLEOD JR.

Historian K. McLeod Succumbs

The body of Kenneth McLeod Jr., resident of Klamath Falls since 1930, was found shortly before noon Thursday, Nov. 21, by a workman, Robert Brevik, in the bathroom of his home, 413 High Street, where he lived alone. Deputy medical examiner, W. P. Kendall, placed time of death about Nov. 18. He was last seen by neighbors Monday morning. Mr. McLeod had been in failing health for some time.

He was a native of San Francisco. He earned two degrees in forestry at the University of California and became an expert in agricultural economics. He was one of the first to establish the present interpretive program of the National Park Service and was second assistant to Dr. H. C. Bryant, who originated the idea.

Mr. McLeod researched the problems of dehydrating, canning and preserving foods and later became an industrial analyst specializing in lumber research for local firms.

His work in research and conservation brought him nation-wide recognition and his writings were published in national technical publications.

He was considered one of the foremost historians in the West, specifically on Oregon and the Klamath and Modoc Indians.

His research on natural history was climaxed with the establishment of the McLeod Research Center with his wife, the late Edith Rutenic McLeod, where those interested in his life work were free to study.

They conducted study classes in many fields and from these originated the Nature Society in the Klamath Basin and the Klamath Mineral Club. He was a member and past president of the Klamath County Historical Society and conducted many educational tours to points of historical interest.

He was an affiliate of the California Historical Society and the California Academy of Sciences and furnished data on many subjects to many authorities.

His latest works dealt with the algae problem on Upper Klamath Lake, the white pine blister rust in Oregon, and assignment from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the effect of climate on timber growth.

Surviving are a stepdaughter, Mrs. Jack Smith, Lynnwood Wash., and a stepson, Dale Johnson, of Sausalito, Calif.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Ward's Klamath Funeral Home.

County Board Authorizes Building Of Sewage Plant Into Henley School

The County School Board voted 3-1 Thursday to build a $17,500 sewage disposal plant into the new Henley High School and heard an explanation of the roof design of the new school, to be started next year.

The only dissenting vote on the disposal plant was cast by Lawson Kandra, who said he didn't want to see the board committed to building the plant until the school reorganization question is settled.

The first unit of the school is expected to be constructed next year for occupancy in September, 1964.

Murdo Morrison of the architectural firm of Morrison, Howard and Starbuck appeared before the board to explain his design for the roof of the first unit of the school.

He said that in the past in this area, pitched roofs have not been satisfactory because a layer of ice tends to form on the eaves during the winter months, forming a dam which holds in water. To clear the eaves, it has been necessary to chop the ice with axes. The ice forms because there is no heating on the eaves radiating from the building, as on other portions of the roof, he said.

Morrison said the first unit of the new Henley High will be built with a roof resembling a shallow "V" sloping toward the center. Melting snow, therefore, will flow to the center of the roof and be carried away by drains. Heat radiating from the building to the roof is expected to keep snow from accumulating.

Dr. Cliff Robinson, county superintendent of schools, said this type of roof will be used on the first unit of the school as an experiment. Morrison said the "V" roof is used successfully in other parts of the country where snow build-up is a problem.

The first unit of the school will cost about $400,000 and the contract will be let in January. More units have been planned and they will be built as fast as they are needed.

In other business, the board renewed a contract with Paul Matthews for $900 for auditing services, and approved spending $150 for a $50,000 bond on the school board clerk. The bonding agent is Ken Bricco.

It was announced that vandalism to the Chiloquin High gymnasium has been repaired by Brosterhous Construction at a cost of $10,993. Insurance paid this amount, less $100. The gymnasium was the scene of a water fight by juveniles, ruining the floor.

A contract with architect Robert Ford for designing the Gilchrist High addition was approved. Construction has already started on the $131,904 addition by Combs Construction Company. The addition consists of a science room, a homemaking room and a multi-purpose building, including a cafeteria and kitchen.

Dwight Kircher was appointed to the budget committee from the northern zone.

The board gave Robinson authority to seek the purchase of decals for marking school district cars and approved a policy statement on skip days and absences in county schools. The statement was given its first reading.

City And State Police Win High Speed Chase

City and state police pursued a reckless driver at speeds up to 100 miles per hour through Klamath Falls and on Highway 97 north of the city, about 4:30 p.m. Thursday and finally caught up with the speeder when he ran out of gas near Nevada Street, Oregon State Police have reported.

Apprehended by city police and lodged in jail on a charge of reckless driving was Allen Lee Eggsman, 21, of Chiloquin. State Police also filed complaints against Eggsman for reckless driving and attempting to elude a police officer.

The defendant was released after posting $550 bail and was scheduled to appear in district court at 3 p.m. Friday.

The chase developed after a minor collision in which Eggsman drove his late model car into the rear of an automobile operated by Gail Virgil Webb, 43, of 1639 McClellan Drive, on South Sixth Street, near Wiard Street.

Webb told police that Eggsman became alarmed and fled after he reported the accident to state police. Moments later, a police officer, talking to Webb at the scene of the collision, observed Eggsman as he drove by travelling west. The police officer drove off and overtook Eggsman near Washburn Way and South Sixth Street. The officer sought to persuade Eggsman to return to the point of the collision and discuss the accident with Webb, but the driver sped off down South Sixth Street, police reports indicate.

Eggsman turned up Division Street with a state police car in pursuit at speeds of more than 80 miles per hour. His car skidded into a broadslide and as it turned a corner at Home Street and moments later eluded the patrol car.

Another state police officer served Eggsman speeding toward Wocus and took after him, but the driver soon outdistanced the policemen. Moments later he ran out of gas and was arrested by city police on Nevada Avenue.

Woman Claims Unsworth Admitted Shooting Moore

A Beatty woman testified today that William Unsworth said the night Tony Moore was shot, "I shot Tony but I didn't mean to do it."

Unsworth is on trial in circuit court for second - degree murder for the April 15, 1962, shooting of Moore.

Mrs. William Walker testified today that she was one of the first persons to arrive at the Unsworth cabin the night of the shooting.

She said that when she arrived, Tony Moore was sitting slumped in a chair, dead. She said Unsworth was sleeping in a bed, but was awakened by a sheriff's deputy and said "I shot Tony but I didn't mean to do it."

Mrs. Walker said Unsworth pointed to his wife and said "I meant to shoot that . . . ."

Mrs. Walker said she and seen Unsworth an hour earlier standing by a telephone booth outside her tavern, across the street from the Unsworth tavern. Mrs. Walker said Unsworth had a rifle with him at that time.

The woman said, in response to a question by Asst. Dist. Atty. Sam McKeen, that in her opinion "Yes, I think he (Unsworth) was drunk" the night of the shooting."

Before Mrs. Walker took the stand, Deputy Jack Hutton testified that he arrived at the cabin the same time as Mrs. Walker and he and Deputy Jim Conroy took Unsworth into custody. He said Unsworth threatened to kill Conroy.

Hutton further testified that he had been called to the Unsworth cabin a number of times to break up fights between Unsworth and his wife. Conroy testified Thursday.

Dr. George Nicholson, Klamath Falls pathologist, took the stand late this morning.

New FM Project Outlined

The first meeting of the Intercommunity Educational Broadcast Council, open to the public, was a kick-off meeting in the faculty room of Klamath Union High School for explanation of the proposed new FM project.

Charles Woodhouse of the high school faculty spoke on facts and figures concerned with the proposal to establish an FM non-commercial broadcasting station without static or interference. The station would be the property of the people, to be used for public relations, home study for shut-ins, fine stereo music and tapes of educational value.

The station would be located at KUHS. Programs and air time would be community controlled.

During the meeting it was suggested that a third channel of the FM station could provide channeling of background music into rooms of the new Intercommunity Presbyterian Hospital.

The next meeting of the council, Jan. 9 at 7 p.m., will also be open to the public in the faculty room at the KUHS cafeteria. Everyone will be welcome.

A musical group from Sacred Heart Academy entertained at the last meeting.

Husband Slays Wife

Klamath Falls police apprehended Eugene Anguss Beierle, 48, about 11:15 a.m. today in connection with the fatal shooting of his wife, Gloria Faye, 23, in a back room of their home at 1050 Kane Street, early this morning. Oregon State Police have disclosed.

Police said that Beierle had been booked at the county jail and indicated that a complaint was being prepared by the district attorney charging him with first degree murder.

A reliable source stated that Beierle admitted shooting his wife in the chest with a bullet discharged from a rifle about 9:30 a.m. and then fled in his station wagon.

A city policeman later observed the car parked on North Third Street and traced him to a nearby house. No other details were available as the Herald and News went to press.

The body of the victim has been transferred to Ward's Klamath Funeral Home.

The slaying delayed the Unsworth murder trial, in progress in the circuit court of Judge Donald A. W. Piper, for some 15 minutes as witnesses George Nicholson, pathologist, and deputy sheriff Del Summers were called to the scene of the shooting.

Young Thieves Handed To Juvenile Authorities

Two youths apprehended by Oregon State Police in connection with the Wednesday burglary of Sam's Corner Store, 3203 Midland Road, have been released to the custody of county juvenile authorities, the police disclosed Friday.

Police said that the burglars let themselves into the store after they shattered a window of the front door and then reached through the broken glass and opened the door from the inside.

The thieves escaped with two sleeping bags, shotgun and .22 caliber ammunition, butane cigarette lighters, and a number of hunting knives.

Police arrested the youths near Midland Thursday after they received a tip from a Falcon Heights school teacher who had observed the boys on bicycles with the sleeping bags.

The boys, 12 and 13 years old, admitted the thefts and told police they were running away from home at the time of their arrest.

NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER FOR SALE
HAYSTACK

Oral auction bids will be received by the Regional Forester, or his authorized representative, on the second floor of the Klamath County Library Building, 126 South Third Street, Klamath Falls, Oregon, beginning at 2:00 P.M., Pacific Standard Time, December 23, 1963 for all merchantable timber marked or designated for cutting on an area embracing 2,030 acres, more or less, within Sections 1, 2, 11, 12 and 13, T. 32 S., R. 10 E.; Sections 6 & 7, T. 32 S., R. 11 E., W.M., surveyed, in the Winema National Forest, Oregon. The estimated volumes are 12,700 M Board Feet of Ponderosa pine; 100 M Board Feet of Lodgepole pine and Other Species. The minimum acceptable bid per M Board Feet is as follows: Ponderosa pine, $25.10; Lodgepole pine and Other Species, $7.45. This includes the following rates per M Board Feet for stumpage including deposit for sale area betterment: $3.00 base rate plus an additional $21.00 for Ponderosa pine; $1.00 base rate plus an additional $5.35 for Lodgepole pine and Other Species and $1.10 for slash disposal for all species. The stumpage rates payable for each species will be increased by the amortization rate in effect for that species when the unamortized estimated cost of the main haul roads has been amortized by timber scaled. The unamortized estimated cost is $49,342.00. Amortization rates are: Ponderosa pine - $4.86 per M Board Feet; Lodgepole pine and Other Species - $0.00 per M Board Feet. Amortization of estimated main haul road costs is computed on 80 percent of the estimated timber volume. The prices bid for stumpage shall be considered as tentative rates subject to quarterly calendar adjustment upward or downward by 0.5 of the difference between the average of the Western Pine Association lumber price indices as calculated by the Forest Service at the end of each calendar quarter, and the following base indices: Ponderosa pine, $4.31; Lodgepole pine and Other Species, $4.21. Such adjustments in the price for stumpage shall be applicable to timber scales during the calendar quarter for which the adjustment is computed. In no event, however, shall the payment rates for each quarter be less than the base rates as stated above. When the adjusted rates by species are lower than the base rates, the difference between the total dollar value of timber cut at adjusted rates and at base rates will be recorded for each species. The stumpage rates for any species will not be increased above the base rate until the subsequent adjusted rates above base rates develop an accumulated total dollar value in excess of the recorded accumulated difference for all species. Sealed bids will be publicly opened and posted at Klamath County Library Building, Klamath Falls, Oregon at 2:00 P.M., Pacific Standard Time, December 23, 1963. All those who submitted a satisfactory sealed bid will be permitted immediately to continue auction bidding. A money order, bank draft, cashier's or certified check in the sum of $11,900.00 must accompany each bid, to be applied to the purchase price, refunded, or retained for application to any claim for damages, according to the conditions of sale. If requested by the purchaser, contract terms will permit felling of timber in advance of payment up to the value of the performance bond. If a draft bid is declared to be high at the closing of the auction, the bidder must immediately confirm the oral bid by submitting it in writing on a Forest Service bid form. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. WALL STREET

NEW YORK (UPI) — News of the assassination of President Kennedy brought the nation's market activity to a standstill Friday.

Traders, brokers, bankers, runners — all of the community of this great commercial center, were stunned by the news.

The major stock exchanges closed. The commodity exchanges suspended operations or closed. The Securities and Exchange Commission asked what probably already was a fact when its request was issued—that all broker - dealers stop trading over the counter.

The New York Stock Exchange, the nation's largest securities auction market, called a special session of its board of governors and closed trading at 2:07 p.m. EST. It was the first time that the market had closed during a session since Aug. 4, 1933, when the floor was pervaded by gas fumes, the exchange said.

President Keith Funston of the exchange said that the flood of orders to the floor necessitated the closing.

But traders in securities and financial issues far removed from the dealings on the exchanges likewise halted operations.
