

Weekly Series Keeps Bob Hope At Home

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The word is Bob Hope's home. By his own estimate, he travels an average of 100,000 miles a year, and even in the jet age that means a lot of hours in the air.

"I get sick on the ground," he quipped.

This year, his television chores will restrict his travels somewhat. He hosts a weekly dramatic anthology "Bob Hope Presents" interspersed with five of his own one-hour comedy variety shows. He also will appear in two of the dramatic segments.

"With the series I'll be at home more," he said. "I don't have the time to travel that I did in the years before."

Huge House
Bob lives in a huge, rambling house on five acres in North

Hollywood, a suburban community in the San Fernando Valley. When the Hopes first bought the home years ago, it was fairly small. But it grew as Bob's success in show business did. The Hopes simply kept adding to it in all directions. The household staff includes a cook, a housekeeper and two maids.

In addition to the usual swimming pool, which is as standard for a star as a dressing room, Bob also has his own two-hole golf course.

Bob has found the perfect solution to the commuting problem—built his office near the door to his house. Its walls are lined with some of the more than 300 awards and citations he has received.

Three secretaries handle the myriad of details connected with Hope's entertainment and business ventures. The latter include an interest in the Cleveland Indians, a ranch in southern California, a dairy farm in Ohio and other real estate holdings.

Although he is away from home so much, he said his wife understands: "Dolores used to be a singer so she understands show business."

Met Wife
Bob met his wife, Dolores Reade, when he was appearing in "Roberta" on Broadway and they were married in 1934.

The eldest of the four Hope children, Linda, 24, attends college in Los Angeles, teaches school and studies dramatics at night. Son, Tony, 23, is now at Harvard, and the two younger children, Kelly and Nora, both 17, attend school in the San Fernando Valley.

"I've taken the children on trips with me, so they understand the feeling there is and why I go," Bob said.

A few years ago, when Bob returned from entertaining troops in the Far East at Christmas, he found a huge globe waiting for him, a present from his wife. On it was attached a note reading, "Dad, this is so you can do your traveling at home."

Impromptu Entertaining
Bob likes impromptu entertaining. He will often ask friends home for dinner on the spur of the moment. When Los Angeles Dodger stars Sandy Koufax, Tommy Davis and Don Drysdale finished a rehearsal for his show recently, he invited them home to dinner. He often will extend a similar invitation to the crew and cast of his Christmas tours when they return to Hollywood.

Bob has a second home in Palm Springs, where he goes when he wants to get away from it all.

"When I want to relax, I go off on fishing," he said. "I returned from a vacation about a month ago to British Columbia, where I went salmon fishing."

Despite his hectic schedule, he said he is not particularly organized. The only thing he is strict about is dates of forthcoming appearances.

"I have them plastered all over the house," he said. "Often they take preparation and I can't afford to let them creep up on me."

He believes the secret of his ability to keep going at such a fast pace is his attitude.

"The whole thing is mental," he said. "I used to let it kind of grab me, but it doesn't help to blow it up. It's the way you approach it."

'Hillbillies' Star Answers Critics

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Buddy Ebsen, top dog in television's top-rated series, defends "The Beverly Hillbillies" as good entertainment against critics who call the show lowbrow.

Ebsen, a low-pressure guy himself, turns away the barbs of self-appointed intellectuals with a slow grin and a wave of his hand.

"We've got a wholesome show," he said in his dressing room one day this week. "It's basic concept is to entertain. I don't believe charges that we appeal to the lowest intellectual strata. Our mail covers a wide spectrum of viewers, and now we're doing well in England, Australia and Japan, too."

"But I don't ignore the critics. In Hollywood it's necessary to operate on the principle that your friends are your enemies and vice-versa. That takes some explaining, I know, but it's like this:

"Your friends over encourage you and your enemies will tell you the truth if you're bad. You have to listen to both sides."

To critics that "The Beverly Hillbillies" (CBS-TV) is in bad taste, Ebsen answers: "Paul Henning (the show's originator and writer) is incapable of bad taste. The entire cast and crew were carefully selected to avoid offending anyone.

"I think the basic comment on our show is that the Clampetts are good people, overlooked by the sophisticated element in society. They believe in honesty, thrift, kindness and friendship.

"But in today's sophisticated world such virtues as thrift have become outmoded. I believe 'The Beverly Hillbillies' points out some of the things that are wrong with this country—and that hurts the critics."

A talk with Ebsen is almost like having a chat with Jed Clampett, the Hillbilly character he portrays on the show. Ebsen is relaxed to a fault.

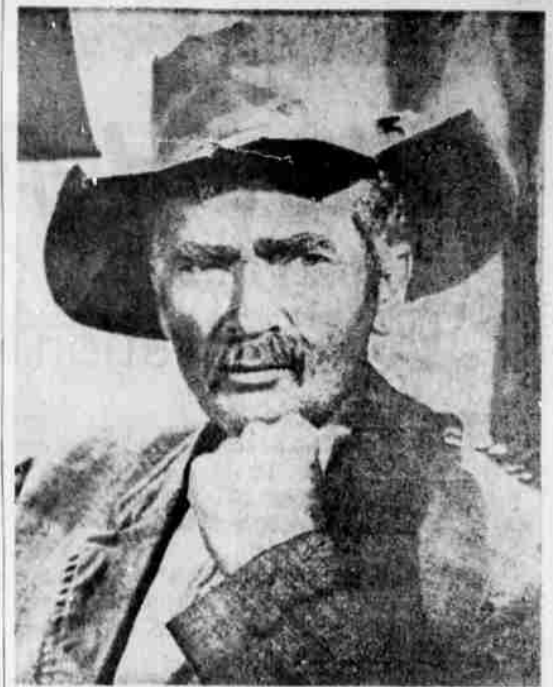

"I'll give you an example of how people have become attached to the Clampett family," he said. "Last summer I was off doing a movie (Mail Order Bride) up north in the mountains. It was a rough location where you had to climb the last mile up some steep countryside.

"Well, people would hike up that mountain to say hello to Jed Clampett. They'd shake hands and plead for me to see the show stays on the air. When a thing like that happens there must be something more to the show than even we see in it."

"Personally, I admire Jed. I knew a lot of his kind during my youth in Illinois, Florida, Virginia and North Carolina. They are fine, simple people, and it wouldn't hurt if there were more of 'em."

Ebsen stood up, stretched mightily in preparation for returning to the set, and concluded: "I'm delighted that the show is at the top of the heap again this season. It says more for the series than anything I could add."

Meredith MacRae Joins 'Three Sons'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Meredith MacRae, sweet faced daughter of Gordon and Sheila MacRae, has established a feminine beachhead in the all male household of "My Three Sons," and a welcome addition she is.

In the jet-set community filled with hard-eyed starlets, 19-year-old Meredith is a wonderfully fresh exception.

Despite growing up in a famous family the blonde newcomer is as naive as a teenage tourist from the Farm Belt. Maybe more so.

Her wholesomeness is a credit to her parents who, she ruefully admits, raised her strictly and away from the limelight of show biz. The result is that Meredith is the kind of girl most parents would like to have their daughters become.

One Son's Girl
Self-conscious in a black hat and neat plaid suit, she sat in the Brown Derby for lunch looking as if she should be starting in a college yearbook or rather than tackling the toughest dodge in the world—the acting profession.

For the balance of the television season Meredith will be seen as a young stenographer engaged to Mike Douglas (Tim Considine) on the "Three Sons" series (ABC-TV).

"When I tested for the role I was scared to death," Meredith admitted. "I'd never been in

"And I was frightened, too, because everyone else in the cast had worked together for four years. They were one big family, and I was the outsider."

Actor Considine helped relieve the tension by asking Meredith out to lunch a week before she reported for work.

"He was very kind," she said. "He thought if we got to know one another before we worked together it would help us relax and make our scenes more realistic."

Considine's thoughtfulness, it appears, was not altogether professional. Since then he has dated Meredith off and on as well as appearing as her swain on the show.

"We're just friends," Meredith hastens to add.

She's also a friend and classmate at Los Angeles City College of Don Grady, who plays the second of the three sons on the show.

"My parents neither encouraged nor discouraged me about becoming a performer," said Meredith. "Since I can remember I wanted to become a singer, but now I prefer acting. I asked if they'd let me quit high school a couple of times, but they wouldn't allow it."

"They are both good disciplinarians, and I'm glad of it. I'm going to be the same way with my children."

—Water only when the soil is on the dry side. Scratch the surface of the soil with your finger. If it is dry to the touch, water is needed.

—Water thoroughly until the water drains from the pot drainage hole. Don't water again until the soil begins to dry.

—Don't put your plants on a watering schedule. Conditions in the home vary with the seasons. Plants require different amounts of water, depending on the temperature and humidity of the home.

FINANCIAL START — Five-month-old Matthew David Smith, who "plays" the baby on "The Joey Bishop Show" and is the youngest regular in a TV series, opens his own bank account with the help of his mother, Abby Dalton, co-star of the series. Too Much Water Hurts Plants

CROWN POINT, Ind. (UPI) — Excessive watering of plants may make the leaves turn yellow or fall off.

Too much water affects plants because the water fills the air spaces in the soil and the roots suffer from lack of aeration, says Lawrence L. Hoyle, county extension agent.

Some plants, including cactus, jade, peperomia and snake plant, will die almost immediately if over-watered, says Hoyle.

He suggested these methods to keep plants healthy.
