

Renfro, Burke Honored In All-Coast Selections; Bob Berry Mentioned

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Southern California and Washington, still battling for the right to go to the Rose Bowl, placed three men on the first team of the United Press International All-Coast Stars announced today.

In an unusual year of selections, made tough by injuries and by the fact that so many men failed to live up to their past reputations, the University of Washington scored what must have been an all-time first when it had Junior Coffey named as the first-team fullback, and Charlie Brown as the second-team fullback.

"The problem was," said one coach who aided in the selections, "that they were just about the only fullbacks who did outstanding jobs this year among the major schools."

Craig Morton of California, who led the Big Six in passing and total offense, was named to the quarterback spot in a tight battle with Washington's ball-handling expert, Bill Douglas. Bob Berry of Oregon was a close third in the balloting, followed by Gordon Queen of Oregon State.

Repeaters on the squad are the two guards, Damon Hame of Southern California and Rick Redman of Washington, Junior Coffey of Washington and All-America Mel Renfro of Oregon. Renfro, however, was far from unanimous due to the fact he was injured so often.

There were three unanimous choices: end Vern Burke of Oregon State; center Marv Harris of Stanford; and halfback Mike Garrett of Southern California. Garrett is the only sophomore on the first team. He made such outstanding performances in every city in which he played that nobody forgot him.

Mel Profit of UCLA, the end; and tackle Gary Kiper of USC and Mike Briggs of Washington rounded out the squad—all with a solid following.

This is one of the smaller teams in recent years, with the biggest man the 217-pound Harris. However, it has a lot of speed and height.

It's the type of club that the professionals like and already the pros have drafted via the "redshirt" method, Burke and Profit.

Of the others eligible for the draft this year, Harris, Renfro and Kirner are expected to go high on the list of both the National and American Football Leagues.

Texas Maintains Lead; Sparts, Nebraska Gain

NEW YORK (UPI) — The seven-week reign of the Texas Longhorns atop the college football rankings has been rivaled only by the famed Oklahoma Sooners of the mid '50s.

Sporting a perfect 9-0 record, Texas today was ranked No. 1 for the second consecutive week by 32 of the 35 coaches comprising the United Press International rating board.

Michigan State and Nebraska made major advances in the ratings this week.

The Spartans forced Mississippi out of third place for the first time in a month by a single point, with Pittsburgh a very close fifth. Nebraska replaced Oklahoma in sixth after defeating the Sooners for the Big Eight championship and Orange Bowl invitation. Nebraska, ranked ninth last week, showed the Sooners to 10th.

Navy nailed down the runner-up position to Texas for the third week running, receiving two first-place ballots.

Alabama (No. 7) and Illinois (No. 8) remained stationary, and Auburn moved up a notch to ninth with its victory over Florida State.

Not since 1956, when Oklahoma held first-place for nine of the 10 weeks the ratings were conducted, has one team so dominated the scene as the current Longhorns.

Syracuse again led the second 10 in 11th place followed by Arizona State (No. 12), Penn State (No. 13) and Mississippi State (No. 14)—the same trio it headed last week although in inverted order.

Wisconsin gained a step to 15th, Southern California and Kansas rated 16-17, respectively, and Memphis State, North Carolina, Baylor and Utah State knotted for 18th.

First Cage Poll Puts Beavers 10th

NEW YORK (UPI) — Defending NCAA champion Loyola today was chosen the nation's top team in the annual pre-season balloting by the 35 members of the United Press International board of basketball coaches.

The Ramblers, who beat Cincinnati for the national title by a scant two points last season, again found themselves ahead of the Beavers by a slim margin in the coaches voting.

They received 22 first-place votes and a total of 323 points. Cincinnati, meanwhile, had only 10 first-place votes but 253 points. New York University, with three first-place votes, was third with 205 points.

Duke was fourth; Wichita fifth; Arizona State sixth; Ohio State seventh; Texas eighth; Michigan ninth; and Oregon State tenth.

Loyola, which opens its season Monday against North Dakota, will defend its championship with four of the five starters who brought the crown to the Chicago campus.

Loyola and Cincinnati were the only teams named on all 35 ballots and were the only teams receiving first place votes with the exception of NYU. Points are allotted on the basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for first through 10th places.

The "second 10" included, in order, Kansas State, Kentucky, UCLA, Providence, San Francisco, Illinois, Stanford, Oklahoma State, Villanova and West Virginia.

Football Classic Scheduled

MIAMI (UPI)—The Florida A&M Hatters will get a revenge crack at Morgan State College of Baltimore Dec. 14 in the annual Orange Blossom football classic here.

Dr. George W. Gore, president of the Tallahassee school, announced the match Monday. Florida A&M annually plays the role of host team in the classic in the Orange Bowl.

Morgan State handed the Florida school its worst beating in 20 years when the Northerners rolled over A&M 50-9 in 1943.

Burke, Redman West Choices On Coaches'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Roger Staubach of Navy today was named quarterback of the 1963 college All-America football team selected by the American Football Coaches Association.

The Midwest, however, dominated the first team with three selections. The Far West, Southwest and Midlands had two each; Staubach was the eastern representative and Duke halfback Jay Wilkinson, son of the Oklahoma coach, was the South's only choice.

Center Dick Butkus of Illinois, end Jim Kelly of Notre Dame and tackle Carl Eller of Minnesota were the Midwest choices.

Vern Burke, an Oregon State end, and Rick Redman, a Washington guard, were the Far West representatives while tackle Scott Appleton of Texas and fullback Tommy Crutcher of Texas Christian represented the Southwest. Guard Bob Brown of Nebraska and halfback Gale Sayers of Kansas completed the first team.

Staubach also was named the back of the year and Appleton the lineman of the year. Brown was cited as the best college blocker of the season.

The 1963 team is composed of four juniors — Staubach, Redman, Butkus and Sayers—and seven seniors. There were no repeaters from 1962 with Hal Bedsole, the only first stringer on last season's team in action this season, dropped to the third team by the 567 members of the association who voted.

The coaches based their choices on field observations, scouting reports and analysis of more than 1,000 movies. The association's choices are picked for the Eastman Kodak Company.

SLATS HAS PROBLEMS . . .

ORVALLIS (UPI) — Oregon State basketball Coach Slats Gill admits he has problems—but "I also have Mel Counts."

And Counts, a 7-foot center with a knack of scoring points, figures to be enough to carry the Beavers to "another good season," according to the veteran coach.

The 235-pound senior pivot star led Oregon State to the NCAA Western regional championship and a 23-9 record last season.

"Mel is doing everything better this year—scoring, rebounding, defense," Gill said. "He's

NAIA Playoff Voting Writes Finis To Pioneer Grid Season

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics today announced selection of College of Emporia (Kan.) and Prairie View (Tex.) A&M as the third and fourth teams to compete in semifinal playoffs for the NAIA football championship.

Last week, St. John's (Minn.) and Kearney (Neb.) State were chosen for the playoffs.

A. O. Dier, NAIA executive secretary, said Kearney (9-0) and Prairie View (8-0) would meet Dec. 7 at Kearney, College of Emporia (10-0) and St. John's (8-0) will meet this Saturday at Metropolitan Stadium in Minneapolis.

Winners of the playoff games will collide Dec. 14 in the Camellia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif. Winner of that game is regarded as the nation's small college football champion.

Northern Illinois (9-0) ranked No. 1 in today's final NAIA football ratings, could not participate in the playoffs because conference rules prohibit the school from competing after November.

St. John's finished second in the balloting, followed by Kearney in the No. 3 spot and College of Emporia and Prairie View tied for fourth.

After that came Northeastern Oklahoma (10-0) in sixth place, Southwest Texas State (9-0-0) in seventh and Lewis & Clark (Ore.) (8-0) in the No. 8 spot.

Rounding out the top 10 are Central Washington State (9-0) and Florida A&M (7-1).

Top Honors To Kelso

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kelso, the mighty gelding who boosted his lifetime earnings to $1,581,702 in 1963 by winning 9 of 12 races, today was hailed "horse of the year" by Triangle Publications for the fourth consecutive season.

All 36 staff members of the Daily Racing Form and the Morning Telegraph agreed that the dark-skinned son of Your Host was the best thoroughbred in the country this season just as he was in 1960, 1961 and 1962.

Kelso, now a 6-year-old, had a brilliant season. After a shaky start in which he won only one of three races, Kelso ripped off eight straight victories only to finish second in his final race of the year, the $150,000 Washington, D.C., International.

PSC Vik Officials 'Explore' Big Sky

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — Expansion and greater recognition will come to the Infant Big Sky Athletic Conference in due time, Commissioner Jack Friel said today.

Friel told the league's athletic directors and faculty representatives meeting here that he was pleased with the progress made by the new league and "the future is bright."

Expansion was one of the major topics at Monday's opening session when representatives from Portland State College sat in on league meetings.

Friel said Portland State didn't make a formal application for membership and that the discussions were "exploratory."

"They wanted to see how our league operates and get information from the leaders of member schools," said Friel.

Friel said Portland State, one of the fastest growing institutions in the state of Oregon, was doing an extensive review of its educational and athletic program. He said Portland State representatives attended the sessions at the request of the conference.

Pro Draft Eyeing Prize Grid Plums

NEW YORK (UPI) — Five top quarterbacks are expected to be among the "prize plums" to be picked next Monday when the National Football League conducts its annual draft of college players.

The pros sometimes surprise the college football world with their first or second choices but then the pattern usually follows a fairly predictable line. The stars whose names have caught the headlines during the college season invariably wind up high in the pro draft.

The five quarterbacks expected to be chosen early are George Mia of Miami, Fla., Larry Rakestraw of Georgia, Pete Beathard of Southern California, Billy Lofbridge of Georgia Tech and Dick Shiner of Maryland.

The San Francisco Forty-Niners, with the poorest current record in the NFL, probably will have first choice and then the clubs will follow in inverse order of the two divisions' combined standings as of Dec. 1. A total of 280 collegians will be selected on the 20 rounds.

among the players he has coached?

"Well, I'd have to think a lot before I would put anybody ahead of him."

Quicker Team

"But I think we will have more quickness than last season and our outside shooting should be better. And we will try to run when we can because one of Counts' biggest assets is getting the ball off the defensive board."

Gill said he probably will open the season against Washington State at Pullman next Monday and Tuesday with Counts at center, 6-7 junior Jim Kraus and 6-3 sophomore Scott Eaton at forwards and 6-foot junior Jim Jarvis and 6-2 junior Frank Peters at guards.

"We're going to be at a disadvantage because our forwards are small," the Beavers' coach explained. "Kraus is tall but not really strong."

Top losses to graduation were football star Terry Baker, a 6-3 guard, and track standout Steve Pauls, a 6-4 forward. They ranked as their team's second
