

Congressional Leaders Vow To Speed Up Pace

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress continued today at a recess tempo because of the Kennedy assassination and the holiday weekend but its leaders quietly geared for a speedup of activity under President Johnson.

Facing the leadership with urgings by Johnson for quick decisions on tax cut and civil rights legislation.

The Senate met at 9 a.m. EST. and adjourned until Tuesday.

Johnson Urges Military Economy

'Dollar Value' Theme Pushed By President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson told the nation's military leaders today that he expects them to abide by his economy pledge to Congress that the government will get "a dollar's value for a dollar spent" under his regime.

Johnson's talks with aides after arrival at the White House at 9:36 a.m. EST, undoubtedly dealt with the possibility of new Communist pressures in such West Berlin trouble spots as West Berlin.

The White House said Johnson emphasized this point to the Joint Chiefs of Staff at his first formal meeting with them as President.

Acting Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said the leaders outlined their operating procedures to Johnson and that the new President did not contemplate calling for any change in this arrangement.

Johnson's meeting with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman, and the other joint chiefs who are the military heads of each armed service, began a busy round of conferences today by the President on international and domestic matters.

Allies Stage Test Alert In Germany
BERLIN (UPI)—The United States, Britain and France put 10,000 troops on a combat-readiness test alert today in another demonstration of their resolve to defend Berlin against any Communist action.

Briefed by Bundy
He began his day with an intelligence briefing from McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for national security affairs.

There was no sudden, new emergency. But it was the largest such exercise since the death of President Kennedy last Friday.

After sitting for his first formal portraits at his White House desk, Johnson met with the joint chiefs and then conferred with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, Bundy and Central International Agency Director John A. McCone.

Most of the troops today were alerted in barracks and drill areas with combat equipment and vehicles ready to take them to the strongpoints around the city they would guard in case of a Communist attack.

Then, he discussed pending legislative problems with special assistant Lawrence O'Brien, congressional liaison aide, and deputy special counsel Myer Feldman.

In another development, East German police today resumed evictions of residents along the East-West Berlin border to prevent the flight of refugees to the West.

Johnson discussed legislative matters by telephone with House Speaker John W. McCormack and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield. It was announced that these contacts would also be part of the President's daily routine.

Tenants in a five-story apartment house were moved to other flats in the interior of the city, West Berlin police reported.

Next on Johnson's schedule was a meeting with Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). This centered on the civil rights program on which Johnson called for action when he addressed a joint session of Congress Wednesday.

An armored car stood guard as the evictions were carried out. The exact number of persons evicted could not be determined.

"I will insist that the government get a dollar's value for a dollar spent. The government will set an example of prudence and economy. This does not mean we will not meet our unfilled needs or that we will not honor our commitments. We will do both."

Hatcher said it was this point that Johnson emphasized to the joint chiefs in connection with efforts to reaching the moon by 1970.

Meanwhile, moves already have begun in Washington to dedicate the proposed National Cultural Center to Kennedy's memory. It also has been suggested that the District of Columbia Stadium, opened a year ago, be named for the assassinated President who was active in sports.

Rep. Hugh L. Carey, D-N.Y., proposed that the Cape Cod National Seashore be renamed the John F. Kennedy National Seashore. The Massachusetts area "is identified with his happiest years and will serve as a splendid testament to the youth of the future," he said.

Johnson said that with the cooperation of Florida Gov. Farris Bryant he also had directed that Cape Canaveral be called Cape Kennedy.

2 Dead, 1 Missing As Reds Down Plane Over Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — The bodies of an American and a Vietnamese whose B25 bomber was downed by Communist ground fire have been found 160 miles southwest of Saigon. A second American crewman is missing.

A U.S. military spokesman said the two men bailed out of the stricken craft before it crashed, but their parachutes failed to open.

Search parties found the bodies of the two crewmen Wednesday in rice paddies near the town of Ca Mau at the southern tip of Viet Nam.

Highway Death Pace Falls Behind Normal

Two Killed In Oregon

Oregon's Thanksgiving weekend traffic death count stood at two today when a mother of five children died when her car plunged into the Tualatin River in another accident.

The death pace on the nation's highways fell below the normal for a non-holiday weekend on the second day of the long Thanksgiving holiday today.

Monument Planned
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has asked California architect John Carl Warnecke to help design a monument to mark the grave of the late President.

The National Safety Council said the average death toll for a non-holiday period was approximately 4.6 an hour.

Warnecke said today that although he will design the monument, Mrs. Kennedy will exercise "very close direction."

The President's widow and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, took Warnecke to Arlington National Cemetery Wednesday evening to look over the site of the grave.

Mrs. Dorothy May Foster, 42, Sherwood, died when her car plunged off a wooden bridge Wednesday into the muddy Tualatin River near Tualatin.

Warnecke said that no design has been agreed upon yet. Whatever the monument is, he said, it will have to be appropriate both to its setting and to the spirit of the late President. The grave is situated on a broad hillside, below the Curtis-Lee Mansion and overlooking the Washington skyline.

Mrs. Greta I. Flint, 65, Portland, was killed Thursday afternoon in a two-car accident just east of the Portland city limits.

California led the auto death count with 12, followed by Illinois and Michigan with 11 each, Texas with 9 and North Carolina with 9.

Calvin William Wakefield, 29, of Hemlock, died Wednesday night when the car in which he was riding hit a slick spot on Highway 29 and left the road 3½ miles west of Philomath in Benton County.

Pro-Castro Hijackers Returned To Venezuela

CARACAS (UPI)—Six young Castro Communists who hijacked a Venezuelan airliner over Bolivar City Thursday were back in this country today, facing the prospect of a trial for their terrorist act.

Trinidad's Premier Eric Williams assured Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt that he will not allow Betancourt's foes to use Trinidad as a "trampoline against the Venezuelan government."

The six—five teenage boys and a girl who calls herself "Major Olga"—were brought back to Venezuela under military guard Thursday night from Trinidad. They were arrested barely 13 hours after they had forced the pilot of the hijacked plane at gunpoint to fly them to the former British colony.

The plane and its six non-Communist passengers were returned earlier.

Edwin Richards, a Pittsburgh businessman who was the only American on the plane, said the hijackers boasted of being members of the Communist terror group which kidnaped U.S. Col. James K. Chenault here Wednesday.

They were flown to Caracas and turned over to the political police to be questioned and prepared for trial.

Anti-Missile Missile Scores Successful Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nike Zeus anti-missile missile has scored another successful intercept of an Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, the Defense Department disclosed today. It was the 10th successful shot so far announced for the missile killer.

Officials refused to say when the latest test took place. The Pentagon never reveals the dates of a Nike Zeus shot from Kwajalein since the first one last year—nor has it ever said whether there had been any failures in the test program.

An Air Force Titan missile was launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., in a Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise, and the Army's Nike Zeus was fired at it from Kwajalein Island, 5,000 miles off in the western Pacific, the Pentagon said.

The Nike Zeus, is the closest development America has to a defense against Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles. There is no plan as yet to produce and deploy it. Instead, a new and more advanced research development effort is underway under the name Nike X.

Canaveral Renamed 'Cape Kennedy'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—When the first U.S. lunar mission is launched, it will take off from Cape Kennedy, named for the President who dedicated the nation's space efforts to reaching the moon.

President Johnson announced Thursday in his Thanksgiving address to the nation that Cape Canaveral's name would be changed to honor Kennedy and the "future of the works he started."

"I have today determined that station No. 1 of the Atlantic missile range and the NASA launch operation center in Florida shall hereafter be known as the John F. Kennedy Space Center."

Johnson said that with the cooperation of Florida Gov. Farris Bryant he also had directed that Cape Canaveral be called Cape Kennedy.

The idea for the change came from Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy who suggested that the Cape's new designation would be a fitting memorial to her husband who had dedicated U.S. space
