

RANGER TELLS HOW TO SELECT CHRISTMAS TREES — Bud Twombly, supervisor of the Klamath Ranger District, is urging families intending to cut their own Christmas trees in the Winema Forest this year to observe a few simple practices in the selection of such trees. Twombly remarked that trees growing within 15 feet of each other are fair game for the woodsman's hatchet, while all others should be left to grow into marketable timber. Although symmetrical, trees growing in clearings generally are not good Christmas tree material because they have a more rapid rate of growth, and the branches, therefore, are usually too far apart to have a pleasing appearance. When selecting a Christmas tree from a cluster of pines or firs, Twombly requests that the tree cutter choose any but the tallest, hardiest one of the group. Smaller trees which grow beneath the branches of loftier ones may also be cut, because such specimens compete with their larger neighbors for soil nutrients. This competition results in slowing down the growth rate of the bigger trees. In photo at left, Twombly observes a tree less than 15 feet from a large stand of timber which, therefore, is suitable for cutting. In the other photo, Twombly extends his arms as a measuring aid and determines that the tree at left is farther than 15 feet from its nearest neighbor and should be left intact.

Bridge Players Slate Dinner Party, Election

The annual election party and dinner of the Klamath Falls Unit Committee of the American Contract Bridge League is slated for Sunday, Dec. 8, at the Winema Motor Hotel, the committee has announced. Entertainment and dinner will follow a masterpoint tournament scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. Non-playing spouses of participants in the tournament are invited to attend the dinner, set for 6:30.

Local duplicate bridge results follow: Klamath BC (Saturday, Nov. 23), NS, 1, Ethel Davis-Bonnie Vandenberg; 2, Dick and Anne Briggs; 3, John Lake-Dorothy Rogers. EW, 1, Jean Puckett, Katie Lake; 2, Christine Goble-Kathleen Thompson; 3, Dorothy Schupp-Gertrude Tolle. Results of the early bird tournament at the Lakeshore BC Tuesday are not available. The regularly scheduled Thursday tournament held at the same club was cancelled last week because that date fell on a holiday, Thanksgiving Day.

CHRISTMAS TREE CUTTING AREAS — Families desiring to tramp through the woods in search of their own Christmas tree this year may do so on Winema National Forest lands within 35 miles of Klamath Falls. Permits to cut trees within the boundaries noted above will go on sale for $1 each Monday, Dec. 2, at the headquarters of the Klamath Ranger District located in the Veterans Memorial Building and the Pelican Guard Station, near the Tomahawk Ski Bowl. Permits will also be sold during weekends at the scaling station north of the Lake of the Woods-Rocky Point-Lake of the Woods Road, near one of the tree-cutting sites. Similar permits for the Chiloquin and Chemult Ranger Districts will be available daily at the respective headquarters of those districts. Locations where trees may be cut in those areas will be disclosed as the permits are sold, according to Norm Gould, staff member of the Winema National Forest. In the Klamath District, trees may be cut in two areas. The first is located about two miles east of Lake of the Woods along a logging road, and the other, at a lower elevation, is situated nearly five and one-half miles east of the lake and adjacent to the Dead Indian Highway.

Christmas Tree 'Season' Starts Monday

Several thousand people will visit special areas in the Klamath National Forest during December to take advantage of the district's Christmas tree cutting program, District Ranger Bud Twombly has estimated. Beginning next Monday, Dec. 2, and continuing until Sunday, Dec. 22, the Klamath Ranger District will offer Christmas tree cutting permits to the public at $1 per permit. The permits will be sold during the hours of 8 a.m. through 5 p.m. daily in the district office at the Veterans Memorial Building and on weekends in the Scaling Station at the junction of the Woods-Rocky Point-Lake of the Woods Road, near one of the tree-cutting sites. Similar permits for the Chiloquin and Chemult Ranger Districts will be available daily at the respective headquarters of those districts. Locations where trees may be cut in those areas will be disclosed as the permits are sold, according to Norm Gould, staff member of the Winema National Forest. CD Test Planned Monday

Another test of the Klamath Falls nuclear defense warning system has been scheduled for noon, Monday, Dec. 2, County Civil Defense Director Jim Watson said Friday.

The test will be the second since Nov. 4 when Watson announced that the air raid sirens located at four points throughout the city would be sounded on the first Monday of every month.

The master siren is located at the Medical-Dental Building, Main and Ninth streets, while three smaller units are on power poles at Lakeview Avenue and Trinity Street, Eberlein Avenue and Washburn Way, and Patterson and South Sixth Streets.

Three signals will be sounded. First will come the "alert," a steady blast which will be sounded three minutes to prepare the community for any forthcoming emergency.

Next will come a five-minute pause, followed by the "Take cover" signal which will be sounded eight seconds on and four minutes off for a period of three minutes.

After the latter alarm there will be an "all clear" signal, a steady high pitch blast that will continue for a period of one minute.

BICYCLE CODE — A new section dealing entirely with bicycle riding has been added to the California Motor Vehicle Code.

rapidly and develop more quickly into marketable lumber, Twombly explained.

He also urged individuals to trim the branches from the stump left by the freshly cut tree. These branches continue to absorb food through the root system of the tree and deprive nearby trees of those nutrients.

Twombly also offered a tip to those persons who will cut their first Christmas tree this year. People have a tendency to over-estimate by one foot or more the height of trees in a timber stand. To determine if a tree is equal in height to your requirements, the best method is to stand next to it and gauge its height with your own. The next step is to cut down the tree. When possible, it is usually better to cut the trunk at a point about one foot below the lowest branch of the tree, Twombly observed.

Grand Jury Returns Session's Final Report

In its final report, the Klamath County Grand Jury returned one true bill, two secret indictments, and three not true bills to Circuit Judge Donald A. W. Piper, the district attorney's office reported Friday.

Another grand jury will be impaneled to serve for the regular six-month term next Monday and will go into session immediately to consider cases not completed by its predecessors.

Named on the true bill was Wilbur Harrington who was charged with the burglary of Karl's Shoe Store. Judge Piper continued Harrington's arraignment until next Monday.

On one of two secret indictments, Maurice Patrick Riley and Willa Claire were accused of obtaining money and property by false pretenses. Miss Claire is in custody at the county jail, while Riley was apprehended in Josephine County, where he first will be prosecuted on a similar charge, District Attorney Dale Crabtree said.

Released from custody on the not true bills were two people charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and one other accused of larceny by bailment. The latter was Mary Folger, Crescent, who was alleged to have illegally taken an automobile belonging to William Mayfield.

Exonerated of the assault charges were Gertrude Harvell, accused of attacking Lawyer Leo Williams with a knife, and Carl Franks, a Lakeview resident formerly of Klamath Falls, charged with having threatened Talmadge Rooks with a gun.

One of several matters to come before the new grand jury will be the case of wife-slayer Eugene Anguss Beierle, 48, who fatally shot his wife, Gloria Faye, 23, with a bullet fired from a rifle, Nov. 22. Following a preliminary hearing in district court last Friday, he was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of first degree murder.
