Color Him Gone - Or Yellow

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Why is society so merciless to the middle-aged husband who leaves his nagging, selfish, overweight wife to enjoy the company of some pleasant woman who has the sense to praise him occasionally and make him feel like a man?

How could his business colleagues honor him with a dinner when he leaves his socks on the floor, blows his nose too hard and forgets to pick up the dry cleaning? Such a man, of course, is not worthy of affection. A pat on the arm in public will help get across the idea to friends that they are a devoted couple. But if he wants more than a peek on the cheek when they get home she says, "At our age? You must be a sex maniac."

Millions of husbands would probably take a powder tomorrow if they didn't fear the label of "heel" for walking out and leaving "the poor thing" with the children, the house, the car, and the bank account. Me—I just left.—COLOR ME GONE

Dear Friend: There's no point in trying to reach you since you are already Gone. But to other husbands who feel as you do, I'd like to suggest that you spell out your feelings, frankly and promptly, not to me but to your wife—or should I color you yellow?

Dear Ann Landers: I've never written a letter to a newspaper in all my life, but I simply must comment on the letter from the woman who signed herself, "Top-Notch Secretary." In my opinion she is a Top-Notch Trouble-Maker who has, I suspect, something beyond a professional interest in her boss.

I, too, work for a "terrific guy" but he is married and has a family, which means he's off-limits so far as I am concerned. I don't care if his wife phones him 30 times a day. If the calls annoy him then he can tell her. Furthermore, her presence in the office is of no concern to me. She can pitch a tent in the reception room. I couldn't care less.

A Top-Notch secretary knows what to keep her nose out of. And at the head of that list is Family Matters.—PEACE IT'S WONDERFUL

Dear Wonderful: Thank you for an astute observation. You'd make an excellent member for my recently formed "Mind Your Own Business Club." Welcome to the fold.

Dear Ann Landers: You have dealt repeatedly with the problem of friends and relatives who insist on visiting the sick in hospitals—but one more time won't hurt. I'm a nurse who recently had surgery so I now understand this problem from all angles.

Some hospitalized folks enjoy visitors. It's good for their morale. These people are the aged, the handicapped, children who must be confined for long periods of time, and fracture cases on the mend. Unfortunately, they are not the ones who get the company.

Usually the woman who had a baby this morning or the man who had a coronary last night get the long line of visitors.

When I was a hospital patient I entertained more guests in my room than I ever entertained at home. I was happy to check out of the hospital so I could get some rest.

Please, Ann, say it again. Do your hospitalized friends and relatives a favor and leave them alone unless they send for you.—R.N. OF PA.

Dear R.N.: I am happy to say it again. "Do your hospitalized friends and relatives a favor and leave them alone unless they send for you."

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" ($2.95), is now available at your book store.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Guidance Meet Slated At Malin

MALIN — Students of Malin High School will hear representatives of the State System of Higher Education in a special guidance session to be held at the high school on Dec. 4 at 10:15 a.m.

The presentation is planned jointly by the State System of Higher Education and the high school to supplement the regular guidance program with first - hand information about colleges. The visitors will explain the academic offerings, specific requirements for admission, tuition and incidental fees, and scholarship opportunities at the various public institutions.

The state system representatives included on the visitation team are Dr. Alvin Fellers from Southern Oregon College, Mrs. Carol Foster from Oregon Technical Institute, and David Johnson from the High School-College Relations Committee.

PLAN CHURCHILL STATUE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Washington Branch of the English-speaking Union of the United States announced plans today for erection of a statue of Sir Winston Churchill with one foot on British soil, the other on American soil, to symbolize his close ties with this country.

This will be accomplished by placing the statue on the boundary line of the British Embassy on Massachusetts Ave., here.
